WOMEN DON'T AGREE

NO. 1 THREATENS TO THROW FAVORED NO. 2 DOWN STAIRS.

By L. R. Blanchard

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 14.—An unromantic landlord announced today that he would break up the Andrews love triangle immediately.

Either Mrs. Herbert Thornton Andrews, number one, aged 42, or Mrs. Herbert Thornton Andrews, number two, aged 25, must leave the apartment where they have been living with Herbert Thornton Andrews, 30, whom both call "husband," according to William Cahill, agent for the real estate firm which owns the place.

"I will have a showdown with Andrews today," said Cahill, who discovered the triangle last night while investigating rumors he had heard.

"I am inclined to believe that Mrs. Andrews number one is within her rights, but Andrews will be given an opportunity to present any evidence to the contrary he may have. At any rate, one of the women must leave the apartment today."

Andrews, a dapper young broker, besieged by reporters as he left the apartment early today for his office in New York, said he could not talk until he had seen his attorneys, but would "give you boys a cracking good story" later in the day.

"There is nothing to it," he added. "It is just the work of a business rival."

Andrews was met at the door of his apartment today and while he was speaking to the reporters a woman wearing a kimono and boudoir cap appeared in the rear of the dimly lighted room.

"What are you boys trying to do—make this a fiction center?" she asked with noticeable asperity in her voice. She disappeared into the rear of the apartment before her features could be distinguished. Andrews was asked if she were "Mrs. Andrews," but refused to answer. The general impression, however, was that she was Mrs. Andrews number one.

As Andrews disappeared down the walk, bound for the subway, eight-year-old John, the eldest of his two sons, waved at him from an upstairs window. Andrews did not turn around.

Describing incidents at the Andrews home last night, Cahill said that during his conversation with Mrs. Andrews number one, while Andrews and Mrs. Andrews number two were attending a theater party in New York, the former told him she would throw number two down the stairs

CLASS OF EIGHT NURSES GRADUATED

LOCAL HOSPITAL MAINTAINS HIGH STANDARD AS ITS GRADUATES PROVE.

Eight nurses, the largest class in the history of The Dalles hospital was graduated, from its training school recently. It numbers among its graduates the best trained and qualified nurses on the Pacific coast. A large number hold very responsible positions in other hospitals due to the fact that personal instruction and attention has been given them during their period of training. The training school prides itself on this particular advantage for the student nurse.

The curriculum is the same as in all hospitals which are members of the American Hospital association, consisting of all the larger and best administered hospitals in the United States. None are allowed to be members of this association unless they subscribe to its requirements. It is in the same class as medical schools and colleges. Personal instruction and attention is the motto of this school and there is not one graduate who need be afraid of competition for positions in any institution, for they are as well equipped for any service as one from any other institution. This has been shown by its graduates who hold important positions both in private and institutional nursing, during its 20 years of teaching.

The first class was graduated 17 years ago and from that on it has graduated each year nurses who proved to be most successful.

There is now a vacancy for students with proper credentials. None other will be accepted because the hospital desires to keep up its high grade of scholarship. Pamphlets showing requirements for entrance may be had by addressing the Superintendent of Nurses.

PARENT-TEACHERS' BODY IS REVIVED
By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Motor Service company, Frank E. Burden and Mrs. May Burden. The suit is a result of the sale of a motor truck by the Motor Service company to Mr. and Mrs. Burden. Burden made a part payment on the truck, giving the local garage his promissory note for $2840.91 as security for the remaining amount due on the purchase price, according to the complaint.

For valuable consideration, the Motor Service company then transferred this note to the Continental Guaranty corporation, at the same time endorsing it. Burden failing to make payment on the note, the guaranty company then proceeded to seize the truck, re-selling it for $750. From this sum $129.45, expense of seizure and sale, was deducted and the remainder, $620.55, applied on the original, leaving a balance of $2,236.95 still unpaid.

Inasmuch as the Motor Service company had endorsed the promissory note before turning it over to the guaranty company, the suit makes the local automobile firm co-defendants with Mr. and Mrs. Burden.

Attorney Carlton L. Pepper is handling the case for the plaintiff corporation.

All churches in the town, three cotton gins, every business house except a bank, the postoffice and the Houston and Texas Central railway station were wrecked by the twister, which formed near Franklin, lashed farm houses about Roland and Chambersville and then gave vent to its full force as it reached Melissa.

Five of the known dead are negroes. The other three are children. Scores of business men, citizens and physicians were made into relief parties and rushed to Melissa when word of the storm first reached here.

SOVIET WILLING TO RELEASE AMERICANS

INDICATES WILLINGNESS TO CONFER ON MUTUAL REPATRIATION PLANS.

By Ralph H. Turner

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Russian soviet government has indicated its willingness to negotiate with the United States for the release of Americans now held in Russia.

This turn in American-Russian relations developed Wednesday, in connection with news reaching the state department that the soviet had issued an order which would prevent the entry into soviet territory of Russians transported from the United States.

Coinciding with this announcement, the soviet government has let it be known, through Scandinavian channels, that negotiations to relieve the present situation might be conducted between the American agents at Revel, Libau or other border points and Nativnoff, the soviet representative in Estonia. GREAT CROWDS SEE OPENING GAMES

NATIONAL PASTIME SUPPORTED BETTER THAN EVER BY ROOTING FANS.

By Henry L. Farrell
NEW YORK, April 14.—If the pulse of the opening day means anything, baseball is back with a stronger heartbeat than ever.

The attendance at every major league park yesterday showed there is nothing wrong with the old game. The only trouble is in the parks—there isn't room enough.

There must have been 40,000 crammed and jammed into the Polo grounds and a good 5000 were two blocks away frothing and fuming at the reserve cops who wouldn't let anyone through the lines except tick et holders. Cincinnati, famous for opening day crowds, went over the top for a new record when 36,500 piled through the gates.

Chicago welcomed Johnny Evers back to the old Cub fair with an outpouring of 25,000.

In almost every baseball city, the casualties among grandmothers were proportionately about the same.

The crowds saw some great baseball for such an early day. With the exception of the Cleveland Indians and the Pittsburgh Pirates, all the contenders lived up to the advance notices from the south.

The Yankees, with a slaughtering attack at the bat and a good defense, looked like a million dollars against the Athletics. But, barring a tendency to go up in the air, a falling of young ball clubs, the Athletics did not look a bit bad.

The Brooklyn Robins didn't despair

SIX SKELETONS UNEARTHED, GIVE HINT OF TRAGEDY

BONES WHICH DISINTEGRATE BELIEVED THOSE OF INDIAN WARRIORS.

EACH SKULL CRUSHED

THEORY IS THAT MEN WERE KILLED IN SKIRMISH WITH TROOPERS.

Mute evidence of a long forgotten tragedy, probably enacted in the days of the early settlement of The Dalles, six skeletons were unearthed yesterday by highway workers engaged in the construction of the Columbia River highway near the Deschutes river. The bones crumbled to dust upon being exposed to the air.

It is thought probable that the bones are those of Indian warriors killed in battle, as each skull was crushed, as from a hard blow. The bodies were then buried in a shallow grave scooped out in the sand, the position of the skeletons would seem to indicate.

With the bones were found a large quantity of stone and shell Indian beads, an old-fashioned gold watch chain, such as worn by white settlers in the early days, a rotted McClellan army saddle, such as used by cavalrymen stationed at old Fort Dalles, and a small copper campaign kettle.

Because of the rapidity in which the bones disintegrated upon being exposed to air, it is not known whether all of the skeletons were those of Indians. One theory advanced by highway workers is that the bodies were buried following a skirmish between Indians and white troops, in which a number of both soldiers and Indians were killed.

The skeletons were found a short distance from the highway, where workmen were excavating fine sand for use in surfacing the road under construction. No further excavation is contemplated.
