HUMAN SALVAGE

He accosts you on the street. Sometimes he tells you the old, old story of a wife at home and 14 children, of his inability to secure work. He must have the price of a meal.

You know at once that he's a panhandler. You know that he makes his living telling this story convincingly.
Indeed should you pass the same corner at the same time the following evening, he may halt you again with his tale of woe and his appeal for cash.

But there's another type of man just now to be found on the street begging, if you wish to use so harsh a term. Unemployment has reached a serious stage. Yes, it's the proper thing to hold the optimistic thought.
But thinking things are howling prosperous won't release Oregon's wealth from the wheat warehouses where it is stored and put it into circulation in the form of money again.
Thoughts won't still the pangs of hunger which tonight are gnawing—gnawing—gnawing.

Some men are seeking work and not finding it. Some men with callouses on their hands are asking you as you pass on the street for the price of a feed.

What are you going to do about it?
Suppose you turn them down? They are hungry. Perhaps they are so undernourished that they are sick. They want work. They do not want charity.
Yet they cannot get either. It is just barely possible that some men's brains will take fire and they will turn to violence to secure the food which their work and their appeal cannot place before them.

Suppose you give the man who asks you half a dollar. He is fed. His faith in humanity is restored. He goes on a self respecting and law abiding man. Your half dollar has been devoted to human salvage.

Some men boast that they have never fed a bum. But what do they mean by a bum? Because a man can't find work and because a man is hungry are not indications that a man is a parasite upon society.

When a clean, fairly well dressed man approaches you and looks you in the eye and shows you calloused hands or is palpably ill, and asks you for enough money to fill his empty stomach, if you're interested at all in the other fellow, if you're interested at all in human salvage, you'll dig down in your pocket and see to it that the man's hunger is appeased.

MAKES FOR HARMONY

Winging its way at terrific pace through the air, a plane carrying Governor Ben Olcott beat army pigeons in a race from Portland, Ore., to San Francisco, Cal. The great airplane made the dash in five hours and a half.

The bare announcement, perhaps, makes little impression. A plane traveling at speed no bird ever maintained passed above fields and valleys and mountain ranges, overcame wind conditions and leveled distance.

This flight indicates, however, that the world is growing smaller rapidly.
The process has been going on since the oxcart held sway. Then came the stage coach drawn by many horses.

This passed away to make place for the panting engine that drew little cars on a steel track. On the ocean, ships of sail and hand-propelled boats went into second place at the advent of steam power.

The automobile, too, sprang into being to reduce distance.

Electricity was harnessed to cut down distance.

Now the airplane has eclipsed all other means of locomotion so far as great speed is concerned. It has flown from Portland, Ore., to San Francisco, Cal., in five and one-half hours.

Seaplanes have crossed the Atlantic. It is but a question of time when venturesome aviators will conquer the distance across the Pacific ocean.

Communication is becoming more rapid. Persons in distant states whom you felt were almost another race of people, holding different ideas and ideals from those you espouse, through the miraculous power of rapid transportation, have become neighbors.

Truly we cannot live to ourselves alone in this age. California is no further away now than outlying sections close to The Dalles would have been 50 years ago.

Out of it all is likely to come better understanding among the peoples of the earth. People who live as neighbors know much of each other.

Intelligence and knowledge is likely to be furthered by distance annihilation. It is safe to assume that we in Oregon will have better understanding of their problems, will have more sympathy with their strivings.

After all there is nothing which makes for friendship as does understanding. And if understanding comes through annihilation of distance, it must follow that friendliness will also be a result of rapid transportation.

It is evident, then, that the rapid transportation furthered by airplanes and seaplanes is ushering in an age of understanding and harmony which may bring the millennium a bit nearer.

LOOKING BACKWARD

(From The Chronicle, April 14, 1896.) Mr. J. H. Sherar has a force of men and teams at work on the road between Antelope and Bakeoven. They will soon have the road in good shape for wool hauling.

John Cradelbaugh's party is 14 days over due, and yesterday a party was dispatched to the mining camp to find out what was the matter. Arriving at White Salmon he found they had provisioned up for two months longer and he returned, well knowing that Mr. Cradelbaugh would not come until the commissary department was reduced more than that.

Mr. Leslie Butler's team, attached to a carriage, ran away this afternoon.
In the carriage was seated Mr.
Charles Bascom and Mr. Butler. When reaching the corner by the Joles residence, the buggy was overturned, throwing both gentlemen out in the street. Both sustained severe bruises, but no serious injuries. The horses were stopped by one of the lines tangling on a wheel, and were caught. The top was taken off the buggy.

Judge Fulton of Sherman county paid The Chronicle a pleasant call today. He says that Rattlesnake road is in fine condition and a great help to the people of his county. He says the grade on this side ought to have some work and we trust our county court will not lose sight of the fact that work ought to be done during the wet season and should not be delayed.

Mr. T. A. Hudson returned last night from Portland.

Miss E. S. Brooks, who has been visiting relatives here for about three months, returned to her home in Toledo, Oregon, this morning. She was accompanied by Mrs. S. L. Brooks, who goes to Portland.

The Mother Provincial, located at Portland, has been up for several days visiting the Sisters of St. Mary's academy and examining points of interest in and around The Dalles. She is accompanied by her niece. This morning both returned to Portland on the Regulator.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy.
Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 15c.
