INCOME STOPS

under an assumed name and lived there for a few days.

As soon as newspapermen learned of the incident and published rumors hinting that a divorce was imminent, Cudahy again disappeared.

That he was back in his home and that a family reconciliation had been established did not become known until the tragedy today. His wife and three children, Marie, 18, Anne, 17, and Michael, 13, were all at home.

According to reports Cudahy's annual income from the trust fund created by his father amounted to $100,000 a year and was payable in two installments, in May and November. In recent years two persons had sued Cudahy for large sums.

Cudahy was about 42 years old and had been in the limelight since childhood when he was kidnapped by the notorious Pat Crowe gang and held for an immediate ransom. The ransom was paid but Pat Crowe, ring leader of the gang, was finally captured and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary.

Another episode in his lurid career was the mutilation of Jere Lillis in his home in Kansas City after finding Lillis in his wife's company.

Mrs. Cudahy refused to see reporters tonight.

Dr. V. Bernard Herbst, neurologist under whose care Cudahy had been placed, expressed great surprise when told that his patient had committed suicide.

"I hadn't seen Cudahy in several days," said Dr. Herbst, "but I thought that he was well on the road to recovery. When I last saw him he was in excellent spirits. He was under a continual nervous strain and since January had suffered several attacks of nervous prostration and suffered from insomnia.

"I warned him several times that he must have absolute quiet, must see no one and receive no mail.

"There is no doubt that his mind was in an unstable state and that unfavorable news in the telegram he was reported to have received unbalanced his mind and caused him to end his life."

CHICAGO, April 21.—It could not have been bad news received from members of his family that caused John P. Cudahy, scion of the multi-millionaire packing family, to commit suicide, it was stated by Edward I. Cudahy, his brother, here Wednesday night.

Los Angeles dispatches stated that the young clubman killed himself after receiving a telegram from members of his family in Chicago.

"My brother did not receive any telegrams from myself or any other members of the family," his brother said. "We were upon the best of terms and he was in Chicago a short time ago for a visit which we enjoyed very much."

Edward Cudahy said that he had heard nothing of any separation between John P. Cudahy and his wife, but he did say that he knew he had been under a doctor's care recently.

The younger brother was disinclined to believe the news when informed by the United News.

"This is the first I knew of it," he said. "It cannot be. What time did it happen?"

Joseph M. Cudahy, another brother, was expected to arrive in Chicago Thursday from a vacation in the south.

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Lying in bed with a shotgun braced between his knees, John P. (Jack) Cudahy, son of the late Michael Cudahy, the multi-millionaire packer, committed suicide late Wednesday. The slugs from the shotgun entered his head, causing instant death, according to reports to police.

Cudahy committed the act in his palatial Hollywood residence. He had been under the care of specialists for some time, following a nervous breakdown and it is reported had been acting strangely for weeks.

He killed himself, it is declared, following receipt of a telegram from his family. Cudahy recently separated from his wife, Mrs. Cudahy left the Hollywood residence, taking their three children with her.

In 1910 the marital affairs of the Cudahys attracted wide attention.

The young millionaire and his chauffeur, bound and tied Jere Lillis, a wealthy young Kansas City man and mutilated him when the husband is alleged to have found Lillis in Mrs. Cudahy's company in her home. A reconciliation was effected several years later and it was only recently that it was reported that Mrs. Cudahy was planning divorce proceedings.

During the past three weeks, Cudahy has been under the care of Dr. V. B. Herbst, neurologist specialist. Herbst said the young millionaire was suffering from a nervous breakdown.

U. S. WON'T MEDIATE GERMAN-ALLIED MATTERS

By John Graudenz

(United News Staff Correspondent.)
 BERLIN, April 21.—America's reply to the German feeler refusing to act as mediator between Germany and the allies has been received and it apparently leaves the way open for further approaches by Germany. This opportunity is expected to be improved by the German government with important conciliatory steps. Details of the next German communications in this campaign are secret so far, however.

The cabinet was in session when the American refusal arrived. After the message had been transmitted the members voted in favor of availing the nation of the opportunity which they discerned, in the state department phrasing. It is understood that the communication was forwarded through the American mission.
