TAKE AN INTEREST

Take an interest in your home town. Be interested in your neighbor's welfare. Be sympathetically inclined towards his children. Be selfish about it, if you will, but take an interest in everyone—everything here.

Perhaps you have seen a bowling tournament. You will remember that up at the far end of the shining alley a set of pins is set up in the form of a triangle, point forward.

The bowler takes up a ball and with a circular swing sends it speeding down the polished alley towards the set of pins. It hits the center one squarely. The center pin, impelled backward by the blow, falls against the other pins of the set. They all go down. Although the speeding ball hit only one, to all intents and purposes it hits each pin.

That is about the way things in any community work out. The acts of other men affect us. What other men think affects us. Their principles of right and wrong work upon us directly. What the other men approve of in dress for their womenfolk is mirrored in our own life. It becomes, so to speak, the code of the community. The way other families rear their children, bears upon our own family life.

Suppose the other fellow isn't making a go of his business. He hasn't any money. He can't pay his bills. He owes you, but he can't pay. The fact that his business is falling does directly affect you. But you argue that he doesn't owe you a cent. He can fall and it won't make any financial difference to you. But wait a minute. Think it over. He owed several other fellows who owe you. Those other fellows were counting upon the first man paying up to pay you. Yes, you're affected by the failure of the man down the street. If he succeeds he makes more money and needs must spend more money. You get your share. If he does a big business, his turnover is greater than he can sell for a smaller margin on each separate transaction. Your prices are reduced. His success affects you vitally.

If your neighbor has no morals, if his honesty is a minus quantity, you watch him. He can't hurt you. But are you sure he can't? He has power over you. He gets away with several shady deals. Other men are tempted to emulate him—good men and weak. They get away with their stunts perhaps. Thus actual harm is worked to the moral tone of the community.

On the other hand a man exemplifies honesty in all his dealings. His helpful fairness comes into many lives to make them better. He succeeds and men point to him as a type of the honest man. The community seeks to emulate him.

How can it make any difference, you ask, whether a man and woman rear their children properly or not, as it affects your family? They are not presiding over your children. But don't be too cock-sure. Suppose the little brood down the street is permitted to grow up like Topsy, without training, without real knowledge of just what is right or wrong. They swear and disobey and run away and commit all manner of little sins. But it's the other fellow's family. Sure it is. Your children playing out in the lot come in contact with these children for 15 minutes and they absorb all the bad traits of the untrained children who are playing there.

Take an interest in your home town. Be interested in your neighbor's welfare. Be sympathetically inclined towards his children. Only our community grows better can we hope as individuals to be as successful, as decent and as helpful as we wish to be.

LOOKING BACKWARD

(From The Chronicle, May 10, 1896.)
Mr. N. H. Gates has opened a law office in the Gates block, across Union street from the court house.

A rumor was current today that Hon. T. R. Coon will run independently for joint representative for Wasco and Sherman counties as a Mitchell republican. There is no petition yet filed at the clerk's office for his candidacy.

On Monday while Mr. A. Howle, accompanied by Miss Annie Heisler, was driving into The Dalles, when going down the Benson hill, the horses shied suddenly, throwing Miss Heisler out of the wagon. Fortunately no serious injuries resulted from the fall, but the lady was considerably frightened.—Dufur Dispatch.

The stores of A. S. Blowers & company and R. Rand & Son, were burglarized last Saturday night. Blowers' store was broken into by prying off the outside lock with a pick. Nothing was taken from this store, so far as could be noticed. The cash drawer was found to be empty, and it is presumed money was what they wanted. At Rand's store they carried off the cash register and taking it over to E. L. Smith's barn, bursted it open and secured $1.85. The tools used by the burglars were secured first by breaking into John R. Nickelsen's blacksmith shop.

Amt. charged on 1895 roll. $83,360.03
Amt. chgd. on sheriff's asst. 2,431.20

Total amount $85,791.23
Amount collected $46,518.05

Balance due, May 9, 1896. $39,273.18

WRESTLER KILLS BURGLAR WHO INVADERS HOUSE

By United News
SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—When a burglar entered the house of Louis E. Ardouin, nationally known amateur wrestler, early today he more than met his match. Ardouin's wife woke him up and he jumped out of bed, landing upon the burglar's back. A full Nelson rendered the marauder unconscious. When the police arrived they found that the burglar was dead, presumably from the effects of Ardouin's punishment. The dead man has been tentatively identified as William E. Anderson, Canadian ex-soldier.
