

WORLD PROGRESSES IN SPITE OF JAZZ

NEW YORK BISHOP DISCOUNTS TEARS OF MOURNFUL PURISTS.

By Sidney B. Whipple (United News Staff Correspondent.) NEW YORK, May 18—The world is progressing in spite of short skirts and what some preachers are pleased to call the decadence of the stage and the unregenerate attitude of some people towards the eighteenth amendment.

New York's new Bishop, the Right Rev. William T. Manning, is altogether too scholarly a preacher, and perhaps too philosophic as well, to pay attention to the little absurdities of human nature and the peccadilloes which the more sensational clergymen magnify into symptoms of a world gone utterly mad. Dr. Manning merely waves them aside as inconsequential.

"As a matter of fact we are progressing," he declared convincingly in an interview Tuesday. "There are some bad spots. It is true. Evil still exists. But the tendency today is upward."

Dr. Manning argues from the abstract, not the concrete. Examples of sin or virtue do not appeal to him as arguments one way or the other. For instance, he asked him if he thought American literature and the arts were participating in the upward movement.

"It isn't noticeable," he said. "I cannot say that there is any distinctive tendency in our literature that makes for perfection of life—not a general tendency, at any rate. There is a good deal of good and a good deal of bad."

"But it is in the mass, in the general morals and philosophy of the people that I find a new awakening. People are turning back to religion, back to God. I sense that every day. I feel it continually. It is a vast movement, working everywhere."

"There are sore spots, but they have no influence on the people, except as they bring about the desire to wipe out the sore spots. Cities, even cities like New York and Chicago, are not any more wicked than great cities have always been. In fact with the general turning of people to better things, they are progressing all the time. These other phases of evil which appear on the surface are incidental. They have no bearing on the great question. They are not symptomatic of anything. The trivialities of the day are merely trivialities—nothing more."

"Mankind is steadily getting better, and I think the betterment has been particularly pronounced in recent years."

GERMAN POLISH

The Poles can prevent the Germans from attempting a big counter offensive," General Marinis, commander of the Italian plebiscite troops, declared in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

Marinis said he had heard the Germans had organized a self-defense league of 10,000 men at Kreuzeberg and elsewhere in Silesia.

"It is a question how long they can be held back," he declared.

The Italian general said his forces were interested in maintaining peace. "They have fought the Poles," he said, "but they have held the Germans back also."

"If the Poles do not withdraw now, though, you can expect a great storm with much blood spilled and terrific destruction of property."

"I advised the Germans to remain quiet, when I was in temporary charge of the allied commission. Now it is a question how long they can be held back."

"The Germans are not well-armed, but"—the general smiled knowingly—"probably they can get arms in plenty."

"I'm following a straight line here, looking neither to right nor left. We were here to see that justice and right were done when the Poles suddenly broke in on us. It was unwarranted."

The general stiffened when asked his opinion of the French course in Silesia.

"That is something I cannot talk about," he stated.

The Poles today held a well-defined line running north and south with most of Silesia on the Polish side. The Germans, however, controlling the region's railroads, exerted great pressure through an ironclad blockade on foodstuffs.

Much suffering already has resulted from this. Hot weather just beginning, and lack of milk was expected to result in great infant mortality.

Germans in the Polish regions suffered with their enemies but they held firm. "No food for the Poles if we die with them," was the watchword.

which were filed and docketed prior to April 18, 1921, but since said date a large number of applications docketed prior to June 6, 1921, it for decision on similar disputes have been filed and there are reasonable grounds to believe that still other such applications are about to be filed; and

"Whereas, the railroad board has this day, by formal resolution declared, that, in its judgment, based upon the evidence before it in the disputes already heard, prevailing conditions justify to some extent, yet to be determined, a readjustment downward of the wages of the employes of the carriers which are parties to the disputes already heard by the labor board.

"Therefore be it resolved:

"(1) That this board will on June 1, 1921 announce its decision, covering the disputes as to wages between carriers and their employes, which have been heretofore heard by the board, to become effective July 1, 1921.

"(2) That Monday, June 6, 1921, be set as date when this board will hear the representatives of the parties to dispute filed since April 18, 1921, or which may yet be filed and date a large number of applications docketed prior to June 6, 1921, it for decision on similar disputes being the purpose of the railroad labor board to make its decision upon classification of all railroad boards.

The classification gives all railroad positions and grades of labor uniform titles on all railroads. Each class and group and grade is given a standardized nomenclature and the work of the labor board and the I. C. C. will be simplified in settling disputes over wages, jurisdiction and duties of all employes, according to the announcement of the board.
