

NEWS NOTES

To Advertise Pageant—The ladies of the local W. C. T. U. went to Mosier today to visit the Union there. Mrs. Lulu Crandall accompanied them and will advertise the historical pageant while there, inviting the people to attend.

Odell Lake Road Open—Fishermen of The Dalles who know the piscatorial possibilities of Odell lake will be interested in the report from Bend that the lake is now accessible. The road by Crescent is being used, as the snow on the Bend-Sparks rate road is still very deep.

Attending Regional Conference—Miss Anne M. Lang, secretary for The Dalles chapter of the American Red Cross, and Mrs. Frances Saul, her assistant, went to Baker Tuesday to attend the regional conference of Red Cross workers from 30 chapters of eastern Oregon and Washington. The meeting will last until Saturday.

Exhibit Oil Painting—An oil painting, depicting a rippling brook winding its way between moss-covered banks, with an old fashioned brick arch footbridge in the back ground, is being exhibited in the show window of the Corson music store. The picture is the work of Miss Daisy Williams, daughter of Postmaster R. E. Williams. The scene was copied from the front of a piece of sheet music.

Bunnell Funeral—Funeral services for Dennis Bunnell were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Crandall Undertaking company's chapel, Rev. G. K. Hartman officiating. Burial was in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. He is survived by one son, Ray, of Portland. Bunnell resided in Wasco county during the greater part of his life, moving to Baker several years ago, where he died Sunday at the age of 72 years.

Rehearses for Pageant—The Dalles community chorus rehearsed last night in the Vogt school auditorium, in preparation for the participation of the chorus in the pageant. Last night's rehearsal was the last which will be held indoors prior to the pageant. The final rehearsal, next Wednesday, is to be staged at the new city auto park, where the pageant will be held. The singers rehearsed with the Richards' 10-piece orchestra, which will handle the musical interpretation of the various scenes of the pageant.

Casino Theater Sold—Sale of the Casino theater to T. M. Hawkins of Portland, was announced this morning by Clyde Seitz, who has operated the motion picture house since last spring, when he purchased it from Lew Cullins. The new owner will take possession June 1, and will continue the high standard of pictures which has won for the Casino the title of "the little house with the big pictures." Seitz plans to take a short vacation after turning the theater over to the new owner, the "first in 14 years," as he expresses it. He expects to continue to make his home in The Dalles, however.

Three Indictments Returned—Three criminal indictments, involving statutory offenses, were returned yesterday afternoon by the grand jury. Roy Curtiss and Ed. Colby are accused of a statutory crime against a 15-year-old The Dalles girl. John McClaskey is accused of the same offense against a different girl, also 15 years old. A not true bill was returned by the grand jury against W. F. Gitchell, who was accused of killing a mule with a 22 rifle, the mule being the property of B. B. Gervais. It is interesting to note that all indictments thus far returned by the grand jury have either involved liquor cases or cases of a statutory nature. Further indictments are expected tonight.

Fine Possibilities Big—Fines totaling $1,200 could have been imposed upon Elwood Adkisson, arrested Tuesday afternoon upon a charge of speeding, if all of the city and state maximum fines had been enforced. City Recorder D. L. Cates explained this morning. Cates considered that a fine of $10 would just about satisfy the demands of the law, however. Adkisson was arrested by Motorcycle Patrolman Tom Crofton while driving his automobile considerably in excess of the speed limit, east on the Brewery grade. Adkisson's car has only one license plate fastened upon it. Asked where the other plate was, he is said to have replied that it was "home on a truck." To cap the climax of his misfortune, however, he could not produce an operator's license. The three charges; speeding, driving an automobile with one license plate and the other plate in use on another car and driving without an operator's license, each provide a maximum penalty of $400, for use in cases of flagrant violations, Cates explained.

LLOYD GEORGE

the French capitol.

During the peace conference, it will be recalled, the American president himself, angered by the continual propaganda of certain newspapers closely connected with the government, was backed by the British premier in a threat to remove the peace conference out of Paris unless the campaign ceased. And it was partly due to the same that Woodrow Wilson was forced to declare that he would quit the conference entirely.

News that Secretary Hughes has denied the request of Poland for action in the Silesian question is received here as confirming recent dispatches by the United News showing that the British and American governments are in hearty moral agreement on the greater problems. That the United States is distinctly opposed to the policy of France, and that Lloyd George has greeted America's entrance into European politics once more is well come assurance that he will have a strong partner in his controversy with Briand.

"I have never witnessed such unanimity on any question," said the premier. "All shades of opinion in the American, Italian and British press take the same view."

"Under these circumstances," he continued, "the treaty of Versailles is a document of infinite moment—especially to the nations of the entente. It binds us together when there is so much to divide us. Those who treat its provisions as if they were the sport of passion and prejudice may not have to live long to regret their hotheadedness."

The premier's denunciation of the French press is the boldest strike of open diplomacy since President Wilson made his dramatic, direct appeal to the Italian people on the Adriatic controversy during the framing of the treaty of Versailles. It is admitted on authority that the premier was really addressing the French government.

The shock of the controversy has jarred the very foundations of the entente and the full effects on the structure of international cooperations are yet to be surveyed.

Both Ambassador George Harvey and the Italian ambassador are understood to have anticipated the premier's course and to approve what he said. They were summoned to the foreign office Tuesday and held a conference with Earl Carson, foreign minister.

France and Poland are quite expected to register vigorous resentment of the premier's statements. Lloyd George certainly spoke of Poland when he said, "children of the treaty cannot be allowed to break crockery in Europe with impunity; somebody must raise a restraining hand. Otherwise there is bound to be continued trouble."

The premier's reference to dark mists ahead was regarded as a warning, and the seriousness of the situation may be judged from his allusion to possible dissolution of the entente and formation of a new balance of power.

FARMERS TO

try districts at the expense of the city, when conditions exist which should just reverse this situation.

So far, the country sentiment for the bond issue has been found largely favorable. With the election two weeks from next Tuesday, an intensive campaign of information will be started Monday, to continue right up to the last possible moment, and which, it is hoped, will carry the issue by a goodly majority.

Registering the sentiment which has been found to exist in so many rural districts, out of 120 voters who gathered at Nansene Farmers' Union hall Wednesday, only four voted against the bonds when called upon by Judge Adkisson to give a rising expression of their preference.

The Nansene meeting was one of the most enthusiastic thus far held. J. F. Hillman presided. Elliott Roberts, Herbert Egbert, F. A. Sikes, state secretary of the farmers' union, Judge Adkisson and Commissioner Hix were among the speakers on the bond issue.

HARDING HEADS PATRONS FOR ACTORS' BENEFIT SHOW

By United News
BOSTON, May 19.—President Harding will lead the list of honorary patrons of the actors' benefit fund show to be held here Friday.

The president telegraphed Wednesday to Miss Dorothy Forbes, chairman of the patronesses, advising that he would be glad to do so. This is believed to be the first time a president of the nation has so honored the cause of the players' charity.
