

NEWS NOTES

Memorial Sermon at Calvary—The annual memorial sermon will be preached Sunday morning in the Baptist church by Rev. J. L. Bogue. Special music will be furnished by the choir.

Kruger Funeral Friday — Funeral services for William C. Kruger will be held Friday, May 27, at the cemetery. Kruger, who died several days ago at Mosier, was at one time a resident of The Dalles.

Boys' Club Outing — Elaborate plans are being made by nearly 40 members of the boys' club of the high school for an outing over Memorial Day. The crowd will leave Saturday for Cascade Locks taking with them individual camping outfits. They will be accompanied by at least two instructors.

Many Visitors Arriving — Many visitors are arriving in The Dalles today for the big celebration which will be staged here Friday. Hotels are filling with guests and in scores of homes there are out of town people, some of whom plan remaining until after Memorial Day. If conditions now indicate anything, the city will be crowded tomorrow.

Large Crowd See Film—Four hundred and fifty men saw the film of the Oregon Hygiene society which was exhibited at the court house Tuesday evening. Short explanatory talks were given by Mr. Waggoner and Dr. F. R. Brazeau. It was announced that a showing of another set of reels will be made in two weeks.

Sunday Afternoon Services Popular—The Sunday afternoon preaching services being held by city pastors in the rural schoolhouses are proving very popular. Last Sunday Rev. G. K. Hartman of the United Brethren church was speaker at Fairbanks and Rev. John L. Bogue at Three Mile. Good sized congregations were in attendance at both places.

Wild Animal Pictures Shown — The pupils of the West End school enjoyed a profitable half-hour Wednesday afternoon when nearly 50 lantern slides from the University of Oregon, picturing wild animals were shown by Rev. J. L. Bogue. Instead of a talk given by the operator of the lantern, assignments had been made to the different children and as the slides were shown short talks were made by the pupils.

Baptist Men's Club Outing — The first outdoor meeting of the Men's club of Calvary Baptist church was held Tuesday evening at Sunset park. Nearly 40 men attended. A game of baseball was played before the picnic supper was served. Led by Messrs. Roth and Cramer a number of old time songs were sung before the party broke up. The next meeting was announced for June 7, when the men will bring their families along for the evening.

To See Tacoma Pageant—Mrs. D. P. Ketchum, Emilie and DeLaney Schanno left this morning for Tacoma to see the Stadium day pageant of the public schools of the city. The feature of the day will be the formation of 15,000 public school children, to represent the Fied of Flanders. At a given signal the massed children will raise a green paper, with yellow and red poppies, producing the effect of a field of poppies.

Antelope Road Party Leaves — County Engineer P. W. Marx and an engineering crew left today for Antelope, where cross section stakes will be put down today and tomorrow on the Antelope grade. Contracts for the grading of this stretch of road will be awarded Saturday, according to Marx. He expects to have all preliminary engineering work done so that the firm securing the contract can start work at once.

Demented Man Arrested—Believed to be mentally unbalanced, a man giving the name of Tony Marheine was arrested yesterday by Patrolmen McClaskey and Dunsmore. At the county jail, where Marheine is held pending information from Eugene, his home town, the prisoner this morning attempted to sell Deputy Sheriff Guy Elton a block of oil stock, explaining that the stock would make Elton "at least $1,000,000." Needless to say, Elton declined the proffered opportunity.

Minors Barred From Court—Trial of Roy Curtiss, local taxi driver, upon an immorality charge, occupied all of yesterday afternoon and this morning in the circuit court. The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon. Curtiss is being tried upon the accusation of a local 16-year-old girl. Circuit Judge Fred W. Wilson this morning issued an order excluding all minors from the court room during the presentation of testimony in this and other trials of a similar nature which will come up during the next several weeks.

Thomas G. Hay Buried—Word has just been received in The Dalles, regarding the funeral of Thomas George Hay, a resident of this community for a number of years. Besides the widow and two daughters, the deceased man is survived by six brothers and two sisters, three of the brothers residing here. They are Charles, Lee and A. J. Hay. Thomas George Hay was born in Siskiyou county in 1881, moved with his parents to Linn county, 12 years later, and in 1901 the family moved to Wasco county, settling on a farm. He married Miss Zoa Campbell in 1905. Declining health forced him to abandon farming in 1915, and the family has since resided near Portland. He died last Friday. The funeral services were held at Lents, a suburb of Portland, and burial was in Mt. Scott cemetery. A number from The Dalles attended the funeral.

Completes Inspection Trip—County Agricultural Agent E. R. Jackman returned yesterday from a trip of inspection of Oregon experiment stations at Hood River, Moro, Hermiston and Union. The purpose of the trip was to secure information as to the agricultural practices and new ideas in horticulture. Jackman believes that Wasco county is in better shape, financially, than any other eastern Oregon county. In large alfalfa raising districts, the ranchers are selling the crops for less than the actual cost of growing, while stock and sheep counties are hard hit, with wool, leather and meat quotations down to bedrock, he says. Jackman plans to arrange an excursion of Wasco county farmers to the Moro experiment station in the near future. He will also conduct an excursion of county fruit growers to the Hood River station.

STUDEBAKER LABOR TURNOVER LOWERED

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN OF 1919 BRINGS RESULTS IN EFFICIENCY.

SOUTH BEND, Indiana, May 14. — Labor turnover with the Studebaker corporation for the first three months of this year was 61.6 percent as against a percentage of 208.9 for the year of 1920, according to announcement now being made by the management. No small credit for this extraordinary reduction is believed to be due to the functioning of the company's unique and complete cooperative plans as instituted in all the plants during the summer of 1919.

The cooperative plans, which embody the payment of anniversary checks, vacation wages, life insurance and pensions, together with stock-purchasing rights, were formulated for the fundamental and primary purpose of securing prompt attendance, loyal application to duty, and continuous service, and the employees are so informed in plain statements. There is no savor of paternalism or any intention of giving something for nothing; the employees are assured that their prompt, loyal and continuous service, the only thing demanded in exchange for the right to participate under the provisions, increases the company's profits until it can well afford to pay the benefits.

Concrete evidence of the satisfactory working out of the system is furnished by the fact that Studebaker body painters and trimmers, working in the Detroit plants, refused to join a strike of their union in that city. They realized that continuity of service is the one thing essential to their sharing in the cooperative benefits and were unwilling to sacrifice their status on the records of the cooperative department.

Under the co-partnership provisions employees are permitted to buy stock in the concern to the amount of $300 annually, 10 percent of the amount being payable in cash at the time of purchase and 40 percent payable in equal quarterly payments over a period of four years. The remaining 50 percent is paid by the company in exchange for continuous service. Approximately 28 percent of the total number of employees now own stock under these provisions, the majority having purchased the maximum amount.

What is considered most remarkable in this connection is the fact that there was little effort on the part of the company to induce the employees to take advantage of the stock-purchasing rights, almost all of the sales being made at the voluntary request of the purchaser.

Anniversary checks are payable for a year of continuous service, certain definitely specified absence privileges being incorporated in connection. On his first anniversary date, an employee is paid a check equal in amount to five percent of his earnings with the company during the year. The percentage which determines the amount of the check remains the same for the first four years of service, but on the fifth and succeeding years it increases to ten percent. A close record is kept of each employee and any failure on his part to meet the attendance requirements serves at once to forfeit his right to participate under the plans.

During 1920, 8,063 employees were paid anniversary checks with a total cost to the company of approximately $800,000.

LITTLE CHANGE IN WOOL MARTS SHOWN

(Special to The Chronicle.)

BOSTON, Mass., May 26.—Another week of rather indifferent business in the seaboard wool markets has come and gone. The mills are buying wool now and again in the most liberal manner, and, in spite of the fact that fairly large requirements still to cover, they continue to buy in the most hands-to-mouth order, making the most of the indisputable fact that stocks of wool are heavy and that there is no need for haste in covering.

Say Business Quiet.

Spinners and topmakers say business has been quiet with them during the last week, as well as with the weavers of cloth, no new business of moment having been put on the books. For the time being, most of the mills have a considerable volume of orders still to run off the books, enough, in fact, to keep the majority of them fairly well occupied until the first of July, at least, by which time it is hoped that further business will be in sight.

For the moment, however, trade is in the doldrums. This is reflected more or less in the fact that shipments of wool by rail and sea from Boston, which rose recently to about 5,000,000 pounds of wool per week, have lately dropped to slightly over 2,000,000 pounds per week.

Values Steady.

In spite of the lessened activity, values have remained fairly steady; a fact which is attributed largely to the passage of the emergency tariff bill.

If the permanent tariff could be enacted sufficiently soon this might be desirable, in view of the admitted imperfections in the emergency measure. Sales during the week have shown little change from those of a week ago, either in quantity, descriptions or prices. Fine and fine medium territory wools of fair staple in the original bags have been in request again at about 65 to 70 cents, while Australian 64-70s fair combing wools have been sold at 85 to 95 cents, depending upon the condition of the wool.

Medium territories have been in request again also, at about the range of values noted last week, or 50 to 55 cents, clean basis for three-eighths combing wools and 40 to 45 cents, clean for quarter blood combing grade. There has been a fairly good line—about a half million pounds or more—of 56s Montevideo combing wools (three-eighths grade) sold at 28 cents or about 45 cents, clean basis. Scoured and pulled wools have been quiet but steady. Pulled wools, especially, are fairly well cleaned up, so far as good wools are concerned in B supers and finer.
