A Suggestion.

General Grant has, ever since his inauguration as President of the United States, manifested an extraordinary willingness to go on electioneering tours in behalf of the legal party which boosted him into the Presidential chair. Now, inasmuch as Republicanism is in imminent danger of extinction, by reason whereof the members of that party are in such great agony that they resort to bare-faced colonization, and other frauds with the shadow of a hope that they may carry the legislative ticket of the State. We, therefore, respectfully and considerably suggest to the "Union Republican party" of this State, that it would certainly manifest energy in the party to have "the President" visit Oregon on behalf of the expiring party here. The "President" could easily be remunerated for the trip by a little appropriation of a hundred thousand dollars for "contingent expenses." A hint to the wise is sufficient.

The Ticket.

On last Wednesday the Democratic County Convention, for this county, met and nominated a ticket which appears in to-day's paper. Although the Convention was harmonious and agreeable, it is not to be supposed that every one got his first choice in all the candidates nominated, yet the ticket is a good one, and so far as we know, gives general satisfaction, and is a sure indication of success to the party in this county. All Democrats and all others who are opposed to Republican extravagance and injustice will support it and thereby secure a much needed reform.

MISREPRESENTATION.

The stock in trade of the Radical leaders and press, and the weapons with which they fight their political battles, appear to be exclusively, deceit, misrepresentations and fraud. As a case in point, our readers will remember what we said last week about the Republican colonization scheme on the Oregon Central Railroad. The Oregonian comes to the rescue of its colonizing party friends, but does not, dare not, attempt a direct denial of the charges we then made against Senator Williams, the Republican party and Ben. Holladay and his tools, but, by various squibs and misrepresentations, endeavors to divert attention from the rascally schemes of these parties. One of its idiosyncrasies is an endeavor to fix colonization upon the Democracy as an offset to the high-handed, dishonest and outrageous colonizing schemes of the Republican party, and in such attempt that paper, of last Saturday, says:

Last week the Democratic managers of Clackamas conceived the brilliant idea of importing enough votes into their county to override the Republican majority and elect their ticket. With this project in view they raised a few hundred dollars and sent messengers to this city to get men. They succeeded in finding thirty-two, whom they took in a body to Oregon City last Friday, the last day but one for colonization. These men were placed at the hotels, and their leader, paid their board from day to day in advance. Seventeen stopped with Mr. Barlow, of the Cliff House. It was the intention to obtain places for these men in different parts of the county, and keep them until after the election. But the managers of the rascally little scheme soon found their funds running low. Before they could get situations for their "imports" they had used up all their capital and could pay the daily board bills no longer. Most of the men therefore came back to Portland, though a few still remain at Oregon City. It is believed at Oregon City that the conductors of the ENTERPRISE had information as to these transactions. When those who have started this "fraud" against the Republicans have sufficiently cogitated on the above exposure of Democratic operations in Clackamas, we shall be ready to furnish them with some more pleasant reading of the same kind.

That there were some thirty, or more, men came from Portland to this place, at the time alleged by the Oregonian, is true. But why does not that paper give the whole truth and tell who these men were, and how it happened that they left Portland and came to Oregon City. This, however, would not suit its purposes, for it would destroy the deception it intended to practice upon its readers. Now, inasmuch as the Oregonian has not furnished its readers with all the facts in the case, we propose supplying the deficiency, for the benefit of whom it may concern.

These men whom that paper would have its dupes believe were imported by the Democracy, were not so imported; but they were men who had been at work in this county upon the Oregon Central Railroad for a long time—so long that they properly regarded this county as their home. But unfortunately for them, they were suspected of being Democrats, and some of them are of that political faith. Such being the supposition to keep them until after election would not be carrying out, in good faith, the contract made between Ben. Holladay and George H. Williams. Hence, the wages of these old, tried and efficient railroad men were purposely cut down so low that they would quit and make room for Frank Cooper's effeminate Republican recruits, in waiting to fill such vacancies. After quitting work on the road these men went to the office of the company in Portland and drew their pay, and after stopping there a few days without being able to secure work very naturally returned to this county in search of employment. Some of these men, the Republican portion of them we presume, have been re-employed, it is said, at the reduced wages that caused them to quit. But doubtless these men, in addition to their wages got a good round sum for their loyalty to the Republican party. Others of these men have obtained other employment, and others of them have left the county we understand—some of them going to Marion and others to Portland. These facts point very strongly to the conclusion that the Oregonian's story about Democratic importations into this county is a little piece of fiction, so plainly said, that it will not divert attention from radical colonization. We will further say for the benefit of the Oregonian and its coterie of corrupt political manipulators of the laboring men in their employ that, the soft-handed Republican recruits of Frank Cooper do not find the easy times they anticipated, and had rights to expect under the circumstances, and consequently, are daily leaving the political works of the Oregon Central Railroad. If this depletion of the Republican importations goes on, the whole of this week at the same rate at which these men have been leaving, the Democracy will carry this county by a handsome majority, and we can safely say that we have a pretty sure thing of it as it now stands.

There is another characteristic dodge in the Oregonian to which we wish to call attention. It is this: In our former article we said that "last Summer Chinamen were employed on this road to the exclusion of white men, but now not a single Chinaman can be found employed on the road, but white men are employed in loading the cars of the construction train with gravel for ballasting the road, and yet this very kind of work, is the work at which Chinese labor could be made most profitable. Now why are not the Chinese employed on the road as heretofore? It will not do to say that the Chinese are not to be had, for the city of Portland is swarming with loitering Chinamen. We do not wish to be understood as advocating the employment of Chinamen on the road, but merely call attention to the fact to show the unprincipled and rascally object of the coalition between George H. Williams and Ben. Holladay. Of this the Oregonian makes the following garbled and false extract, and ungenerous comments:

The Oregon City Enterprise, heretofore that persistent enemy of Chinese labor, don't like it because white men are now employed on the railroad. It says: "Last summer Chinamen were employed on this road to the exclusion of white men, but now not a single Chinaman can be found employed on the road, but white men are employed in loading the cars of the construction train with gravel for ballasting the road, and yet this very kind of work is the work at which Chinese labor could be made most profitable." Last year the Enterprise was in distress because some Chinese were employed; this year it seems as if it were even greater distress because Chinese are not employed altogether. Eternal principles, you know!

Now we ask in all candor, if it is not high time for the people to vote down the party in power, when it has to sustain its positions by misrepresentations and deceptions, and when it attempts to retain power by open and glaring frauds? Colonization for the purpose of carrying elections over the wish of the legitimate voters in a county, is an infamous fraud. Yet the Republican party is doing so in this campaign, and do not, and if they have any sense of decency left, dare not deny it, but endeavor to ward off the odium by falsely charging the same crime upon the Democracy.

The Way the Money Goes.

The telegraphic dispatches of the 11th inst., on the bill to reduce the number of officers in the army, furnish us the following information in regard to the manner in which the public funds are squandered on nominal army affairs, viz:

Bill reducing number of officers in the army was taken up. Logan addressed the House in explanation and advocacy of the bill. Logan characterized the present organization of the army as the "clerkship in the world." He denied that any ill feeling was entertained on the part of the committee towards army officers. Previous to last November there were 622 supernumerary officers in the army, of whom 231 had been reduced by assignment to duties, deaths, etc., to 508. The first section of the bill provides for a board to examine into the military record, qualifications, of all officers below the rank of Brigadier. It recommended those to be retained, and those to be discharged. The bill was passed by the House, and the Senate has since passed a similar bill, with amendments, to 508.
