God help the South! Thine arm alone Can loose the chains that bind her -Degrading bonds that have too long Most rathlessly entwined her: Lift up the heads now bowed in grief. Give joy instead of sorrow. And for these weary hours of gloom A calm and glorious morrow.

Their father's God, and now their own, On whom their hearts still rested. When darkest days of grief and woe Their happy homes invested: Then was Thine all-sufficient arm That power that oft sustained them. And from more bitter draughts of grief Thy pitying hand restrained them.

Still do they turn to Thee, O God! Give rest from all their sadness, And pour upon their strife-sick hearts The precious oil of gladness! Give them Thy firm enduring peace-A peace that will not leave them; Then bitter words shall cease to sting And broken faith to grieve them.

Men call this peace—this wretched thing-O. falsehood, basely spoken! Because their banners trail in dust, Because their swords are broken; Because—ah, bitterest of all— Their warrior's heads are lying On battle fields too dearly won. When victory crowned the dying.

Ah! who shall know the mighty hopes Relentless death has shattered-A nation's hope, all swept away. Like leaves in autumn scattered! They hope no more. They turned to Thee For only Thou caus't aid them. To rise, renewed and vigorous still, From the rain we have made them.
