We elected our whole ticket with the exception of County Judge. School Superintendent, and one County Commissioner. Yambill was the Watertoo of the canvass. Every appliance known in political warfare was brought to bear against us, but we triumphed. Dave Logan, the man by whom I had stood through three canvasses, came into the county with Democratic money, but he accomplished nothing. The ingrate and traitor is branded for the future. Full returns are not received, but it is certain that Wilson is beaten by 350 votes, and that Palmer is behind about 500. We have in our mind's eye, as we write, half a dozen dition is almost entirely due to the energy and business enterprise of one or two individuals. Such men are the life and soul vestments, open up new industries, set on foot different kinds of business, and by liberal advertising make the outside world understand that their locality is moving. This, in turn, of course, attracts attention, brings other live men into the county, begets a generous spirit of rivalry, all classes are begefitted, and the town looms up in prosperity and importance. How many of our interior towns could take a lesson from this, having the essential resources within themselves and yet lying dormant? Why not spar up their business men-get | Isham, Wm, the people generally interested - start the ball of improvement rolling onward and Mann, George. see what good results will flow from it?
