THE DRUNKARD'S WIFE.

How many crushed hearts have experienced the unutterable sorrows and anguish which are well but faintly pictured in the following lines:

He comes not! I have watched the moon Sink slowly in the dusky West, And, like the fading of her light, Hath hope died out in my sad breast.

'Tis midnight, but he comes not yet; All vainly still I watch and weep— How long, O Father! O, how long Must I these lonely vigils keep?

O! for one hour of happiness Such as I felt when love's deep spell Was woven first around my heart, Ere from shrine my idol fell; But now, alas! a fearful doom Of wretchedness, and woe, and fear, Is mine the fate to watch and pray,

With aching heart and bitter tears. I listen to the ceaseless stroke Which marks the weary hours go by, And start and tremble at the sound Of e'en the night wind's gentle sigh, Lgaze upon my children fair.

And listen to their low, soft breath, Till, in my broken heart's despair. I almost wish their sleep were death.

A blight upon the drunkard's child Rests ever, from life's opening morn; O! must my loved ones feel the sting Of the world's cold, unfeeling scorn? Dear Saviour! thou whose soul hath felt

Which is confidently recommended as the best prepartion now before the public. This valuable preparation, centaining in a highly concentrated form all the properties of Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and

As a tonic, it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever or otherwise; for while it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it is entirely free from the reactionary effects that follow the use of spirits of any kind. It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruction, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.

It gives immediate relief to Nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea sickness, or other causes. It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neu-
