Federal Taxes.

Last week we stated that one of the great reasons why the wealth of Oregon had not increased more rapidly for the past ten years was, in consequence of the high taxes and the large amount annually collected by the Federal Government. To this declaration the Oregonian replies in a 'spirit of malignity which becomes only a self-conceited ass. He attempts to show figures where the Government spends annually more money in Oregon than the amount of the revenue which is collected. and concludes that the people cannot be impoverished so long as the Government repays it. On this basis of argument it would be a benefit for the people to be taxed still more, as the money would be returned to them by means of Government expenses. None but a fool would udvance such an argument. Concede that the Government does expend annually among the people of Oregon the full amount collected, do they not have to give the Government consideration for it ? They certainly do not get it back without a consideration. And besides, did it ever occur to the wise Solomon of the Oregonian that the Government spent as much for the benefit of Oregon from 1860 to President Grant. His usurpation, com- munity of Portland could not find one half million from our people. If it cost it come home :

Besides all this, we have probably over a million dollars in U.S. bonds in this State, which are free from the assessor as one of the luxuries of Radical rule. Add even this sam and we would show a better increase.

But it is a notorious fact, and the high-Federal tax is the indirect cause, that Oregon does not possess any more actual wealth than assessed in 1862. It is true that certain parts of the State have greatly increased, but other parts have decreased, and while we had the means to pay light faxes, property owners placed an assumed value on their land, but now it is returned at its actual value. In conclusion, we would state that no material prosperity can be felt by the people of Oregon until after we are relieved from the heavy burden of taxation which now afflicts us; when the larmer and revenue, and when the surplus products of the country shall be as that much cash. Then we shall see prosperity and increase not, makes no material difference. What we must give the Government for it, is products and labor of the State.
