WELLES A DEMOCRAT. -The Hon. Gideon Welles, ex Secretary J.R. RALSTON. of the Navy, has written a long and explicit card to the Hartford ISSTILL AT HIS OLD STAND. Courant defining his political sta-Dtus. He says: "If there is any one settled principle in our system of free government, it is that which asserts the right of the people of each State to form their own Constitutions. The right is inherent in the people. When the Repubolicans, having obtained power, assamed to dictate to Virginia and Dry Goods, Georgia, and other States, in regard to their Constitutions, to overrun their fundamental law, to set o aside their legislative enactments. to annul their Legislatures, to displace the Governors and Judges duly elected by the people, and appoint others in their stead, they committed a greater outrage, were guilty of a more flagrant violation of the Constitution than was ever inflicted upon bleeding Kansas. The laws of Congress giving the President authority to introduce the military at elections, and all schemes by which the central Government assumes to take cognizance of and to punish offenses by the Ku-Kiux organization, or by others in the States, are, like alreconstruction, unwarranted, unrevolutionary.

An Absurd Custom. -Shortly First, when Scotch gentlemen were SHADES SALOON. beginning to feel at home in London, Lord Harewood gave a dinner party, to which was invited a large number of courtiers, and officers both civil and military. After the bottle had circulated a few times, General S., an English troopand said - "Gentlemen, when I am in my caps, and the generous wine begins to warm my blood, I have an absurd custom of railing against STONE ALIC! the Scotch. Knowing my weakness, I hope no gentleman in the company will take it amiss." He sat down and a Highland Chief, Sir Robert Bleakie of Blair Atholl, presenting a front like an old battle worn tower, quietly arose and remarked—"Gentlemen, I, when in my cups, and the generous wine begins to warm my blood, if I hear a man raileagainst the Scotch, have a custom of kicking him out of the company. Knowing my weakness, I hope no gentleman in the company will take it amiss." It may be needless to add that Gen, S., did not allow himself to follow his usual absurd custom member of the Ku-Klux, who Awells in Memphis, whose name is Emma Reed, and who is 14 years of age, recently outraged a United States Marshal and a letter carrier. The letter carrier went to her house, when she and her friends, thinking HARDWARE AND BASKETS, WOODEN that he had ulterior designs, set upon and beat him in approved Ru-Kluz Tashion Then came to his assistance a Marshall, and him they set upon with sticks and vehemence he was as clay in the hands of the potter. Then came | 11:1y| three other Marshalls, and she fought them untill she was tied down in a dray and driven to a fitting home, where she lay a long time backthing vengeance and foul

A Contrast.—The day before President Van Buren called on him | Hotel, wid he cef ith conducted on the and said: "Is there anythin I can do for you?" "Yes," said " Is that all?" said the President, we intend keeping it as it ought to be and in two hours thereafter the commission was signed by Presi- Free Coach and Baggage Wagon dent Van Buren and sent to the young man. There were gentlemen in those days, and giants, too. of the Or gon and California WENDELL PHILLIPS ON GRANT.

-Loyal Wendell has a poor opinion of Grant and is furious at the removal of Samuer from the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Affairs. Whether Grant will consent to run on a Democratic ticket is of course VARNISHES, BRUSHES, PAINTERS uncertain.

Sad Affair.—A few weeks ago a dentist arrived in Warrenton, Virginia, and advertised that he would "remove all a person's teeth for $2, and insert a new set for $10, giving six months credit on the new set," so that the people might be satisfied with them before paying. He was busy for two weeks pulling teeth, and at the end of that time half the people of the town had empty gums. But while the people were waiting for the dentist to fit them with new sets, the abandoned scoundrel eloped with the hotel keeper's wife, and now there are two or three thousand people in Warrenton who caunot eat anything tougher than soup or farina.
