

TOWN AND COUNTY.

GOOD INDIAN.—The cars knocked Indian Jim off the track last Wednesday evening, and came very near making a "good Indian" of him. He was drunk and was just about to cross the track at Canemah, when the arm of the engine struck him about the middle of the back and knocked him over. If he had been a sober or good Indian, he would have probably killed him, but as it was the Indian that has cost the people of this county more than almost all criminals combined, and for whom the citizens generally entertain a fear, it being said that the blood of several men is on his hands, it is spared a little longer to give the county more trouble and finally the expense of hanging him. He only was discharged last week from a three month's term in the county jail, and he ought to be in Salem making brick. He is a "certain" Indian, and the general regret is that the railroad did not make a "good Indian of him."

OLD LAND MARK GONE.—The Oregon House is no more. Mr. Logue commenced tearing it down last Monday, and the old landmark has passed away to take its place in history. The building was among the things which have been. The house was built in 1844, and was undoubtedly the oldest public building in the State, and there are few old Oregonians who have not at some time found shelter within its walls. The building was erected by S. W. Moss, Esq., now a resident of this city, and cost about $44,000. The building was built in 1844, and was undoubtedly the oldest public building in the State, and there are few old Oregonians who have not at some time found shelter within its walls. The building was erected by S. W. Moss, Esq., now a resident of this city, and cost about $44,000.

SHOT.—A boy named Asahel Savage, about 16 years of age, son of Albert Savage, residing on the Tualatin plains, about 20 miles from this city, was accidentally shot last Friday from the effects of which he died in about 12 hours after the occurrence. As we learn the circumstances, they are as follows: The boy and his uncle were preparing to go out hunting, and the latter was examining the gun, when he set it down on the floor, the trigger striking the door casing causing the gun to go off, the contents of it entering the boy's neck, causing death as above stated.

MAKE HIM DO IT.—We are informed that Mr. Holladay, in consideration of the lot purchased by our citizens for his depot, agreed to build and put in good order Fifth and Sixth streets which lead to the depot. It was near a year since this agreement was made, and we would suggest, in consideration that these two streets are impossible, that our city authorities require him to comply with the agreement forthwith. Both of these streets are in a horrible condition, and they ought to be fixed. Will our city authorities see that the agreement is fulfilled?

A RACE.—A race, for a nozzle, took place between the two hose companies of this city last Saturday evening. The company which threw the first water was to receive the prize. The running was exciting and the time between starting and throwing water was remarkably short. The distance run was about five hundred feet. The Canemah got the prize, but the fountain was so close that there was no time for delay. The race was interesting and evoked the fact that we have an active and energetic fire department. We don't think it was two minutes from the time of starting before a full stream of water was thrown. The Canemah's gear was three heavy chains for their competitors which was heavily returned by the fountain.

BOOT AND SHOE STORE.—By reference to another column our readers will find the advertisement of Prozman, Gillman & Co., which specifies the large variety of men's, ladies', misses' and boys' boots, shoes and booties kept at their fashionable emporium on the corner of First and Morrison streets, Portland. If persons cannot find what style and prices of leather wear they desire, at that establishment, and at as cheap rates as they can be purchased in New York, they cannot be satisfied in the United States.

GOOD LANDS.—While persons are looking for land, we would call their attention to this county. Lands are held at lower rates in this county than any other in the State, while the climate is as healthy, and all conveniences a person may desire. Persons wishing homes may find it to their advantage to make Clackamas county a visit before purchasing elsewhere.

DO YOU WANT TO SELL.—Persons wishing to sell their farms or other real property, will do well to place it in the hands of Messrs. Forbes & Wait, as these gentlemen will find purchasers for them. A man may want to sell for a life-time, and unless he advertises for it, the public has an opportunity to find it out, he will never find a purchaser.

HARDWARE.—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. John R. Foster. Mr. F. has just opened a first class hardware store, and his well known reputation for fair and honorable dealing should gain him a share of the public patronage. He has a fine new stock on hand which he will sell as cheap as any house in Portland.

REAL ESTATE OFFICE.—By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that Messrs. Forbes & Wait have established a real estate agency in this city. Mr. Forbes comes here highly recommended, and Judge Wait is too well known to need any recommendation at our hands. The public can rest assured that all business entrusted in the hands of these gentlemen will receive prompt attention and their instructions faithfully carried out.

ASCENSION.—By reference to our advertisements, it will be seen that Prof. De Clute will make a tight-rope ascension in this city on Saturday, June 3d, at 5 o'clock p. m. The performance is to take place in the vacant lot opposite Judge Canfield's store, and is to be free to all.

DELINQUENT TAXES.—Persons who have not paid their taxes for 1870 will find their names recorded under the head of delinquent this week, and their property advertised to be sold on the 24th of next month.

NEW SIDEWALK.—Geo. Pease, having the comfort of persons who are in the habit of going to the lower river boats in view, last week built a good sidewalk from the corner of Main street to the P. T. Company's warehouse. It has been needed for some time, and is a great convenience.

IN TOWNS.—Hon. H. H. Giltry arrived in town yesterday and will remain a few days, attending to land business for the State.

EMIGRANTS.—A number of emigrants went out on the county yesterday to look at some land, with a view of purchasing a home among us.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—Sale of land belonging to the estate of Thos. Rook, is to take place to-day, in front of the Court House at 1 o'clock. This is a good piece of property, and a good chance is offered for somebody to get a cheap piece of property.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—Sheriff Warner sold last Monday 100 acres of land belonging to Wm. Armstrong, for the sum of $395 in currency. This is a very cheap piece of property.

THE WHISTLE.—While the new whistle that has been put on the Alert may suit the Captain and the owners, we can't say that we look upon it as any improvement on the clear one which it supersedes. We don't like it. But don't change it on our account. Please don't.

SUPPER.—The supper given by the young ladies of this place last Thursday evening, was a splendid success, and the nice little sum of $70 was realized for the benefit of the needy widow.

ICE CREAM FESTIVAL.—There will be an Ice Cream Festival given at Myers' Hall, to-morrow evening, for the benefit of the M. E. Sunday School. The public are invited to attend.

PERSONAL.—We had a call last Monday from Rev. T. A. Hyland, of Astoria.

As the cars were passing Canemah a drunken Indian came staggering across the track, when at that moment he was struck by the engine and knocked over near the spine, besides other severe injuries. The railroad agent immediately procured the services of Dr. Barclay to attend to his case. The injured man was brought to town in a buggy too late to reach his camp, at the same time it was with much difficulty that Dr. Barclay could procure a place of shelter for the wounded man, and had it not been through the humane influence of Mr. George A. Harding of the Canemah Hose Company, in all probability the poor man would have lay in the street all night. We should like to know to whom the new Engine House belongs, as those Company's would not allow shelter to a wounded man for one night? At the best the house is merely an enclosed shed and certainly could not have received any harm.

We are pleased to learn that the sale of tickets in the Comopolitan Benevolent Fair, at the National City, has far exceeded the expectations of the Managers, up to this date, and would seriously advise our readers not to neglect buying a ticket while they have a chance. Only $2.50 for the highest prize is $25,000. All the Prizes are Gold Coins.

PERSONAL.—We were pleased to receive a card from the past week, from Dr. Barclay, who was in our town visiting his time and attention to the preparations of the great medicine man. This call has become a pleasant one to us, for the able and reliable business character of the accomplished gentleman whom this firm send out to treat our sick, has been known to our readers for some time. We are not conversant enough with the authority of County Courts to know whether the authority of that body will admit of them doing anything of the kind, but in our opinion they have no such right. If they can declare old orders cancelled without giving proper notice, they may in like manner cancel orders of a more recent date. We doubt whether the statute of limitations will apply to such indebtedness, and we further doubt the authority of the Court to pay off the county indebtedness in this way. We suppose it would be at least necessary to give the parties notice in some manner to call and get the orders on or before a specified time, or they will be declared null and void. We are not sure, but we think that the County Court is in favor of repudiation, but this act would indicate wholesale repudiation.

DANDY.—We are informed that the sale of tickets in the Comopolitan Benevolent Fair, at the National City, has far exceeded the expectations of the Managers, up to this date, and would seriously advise our readers not to neglect buying a ticket while they have a chance. Only $2.50 for the highest prize is $25,000. All the Prizes are Gold Coins.

BY WHAT AUTHORITY?—We are informed that there are a number of old county orders in the hands of the County Clerk, some eight and ten years old, which have been cancelled, and that the County Court proposes to go into the repudiation business at its next term and declare these orders cancelled. We are not conversant enough with the authority of County Courts to know whether the authority of that body will admit of them doing anything of the kind, but in our opinion they have no such right. If they can declare old orders cancelled without giving proper notice, they may in like manner cancel orders of a more recent date. We are not sure, but we think that the County Court is in favor of repudiation, but this act would indicate wholesale repudiation.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.—We are informed that a few days ago, as Perry Farlow and his wife and child were crossing Thomas Creek near Seaside, in a small boat, the boat was overturned and was swept into swimming water, when the wagon was instantly capsized and all of its precious freight precipitated into the swift current. Mr. Farlow, on coming to the water's surface, saw with agony that his wife and child were fast floating down stream, the mother at first clasping the baby closely to her breast, and then, unnoticed but for the County Clerk, letting it float away from her. Mr. F. being a good swimmer with a few bold strokes, to which his paternal solicitude doubtless lent double power, reached the babe— which had already been some four feet below the water's surface—and holding it aloft, he almost immediately landed it upon a little island by, and started in pursuit of his wife, who had floated about a hundred yards lower down where the water was sufficiently shallow for her to touch bottom, and where she was making frantic efforts to stand until her brave husband could come to her assistance. But the swift current gained the mastery and was still sweeping her down when the strong arm of her noble protector caught her, fast floating in, and a few vigorous strokes safely landed her on the shore. Naught but the most remarkable self-possession and strong resolution upon the part of Mr. F. could have saved his wife and child from a watery grave. A trunk with valuable contents also floated some distance further down the stream, but was subsequently recovered with but little damage. The horses and wagon were also recovered. Albany Democrat.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—Yesterday this community was shocked by the announcement of a sad accident which resulted in the almost instant death of Newton Dawson, aged 18 years, youngest child of Mr. John Dawson, a respected farmer residing about five miles east of Albany. It appears that the young man, in company with two of his brothers, was engaged in chopping wood a couple of miles below the city, and finding a limb upon a tree which was chopping down was in his way, he cut it off when the limb fell upon his head, killing him instantly. The stricken parents and friends who the sympathy of this community in their sad bereavement. Democrat.

An answer to the "Hysterical Spasm" of the "Veritas."

In the last issue of your paper my attention was called to a bill of exceptions constructed by some literary genius of pretended literary taste, known as the "Veritas." A word beautifully and well chosen, if properly applied, but certainly not well considered when applied to a bill of exceptions which it was attached, entitled "Dramatic and Sensational." What's come over this distinguished theatrical critic that he should at once go into a fit and commence howling and shrieking so furiously about the degeneracy of the exhibition? Has he mistaken, through his disordered imagination, an entertainment, whose only object was to obtain revenue for a charitable purpose, for an intended theatrical performance, challenging criticism from every little "scribbler" who writes for "filthy lucre" or does he go it on the broad ground that "human life is a drama, the world a stage, and the actors, the 'Veritas' the licensed critics, or is the air in which 'Veritas' lives, tainted with the foul impurities of intellectual disease? At any rate it is a queer performance and one scarcely worth a thought of. Of course those persons whom 'Veritas' as critic, so summarily disposes of by hurling them headlong into dramatic oblivion, must feel, sharply felt, that like Hugo's 'Jean Valjean', the scrutinizing eye of the world is upon them.

In referring to the article entitled "Dramatic and Sensational" I have simply this to say, that the exhibition which caused 'Veritas' so much anxiety, and which in an article displaying such a peculiar theatrical taste and discrimination, bearing so plainly the earmarks of his author, was simply an intended theatrical performance, the benefit of the Congregational Sunday School, a charitable purpose, and as such was strictly conducted, with an eye single to consistency and propriety; being entirely devoid of all vulgar and low motives which would tend, in any manner, to clothe it with an air of an intended popular theatrical performance. Those persons who took part in the entertainment consented to do so from motives of honesty and charitable motives little dreaming of provoking, from any one, a criticism so much after the familiar style in the columns of many of the most popular journals of the day. And, of course, was composed of persons who, to a great extent, considered it no particular credit, in the social circle, to be paraded in the public prints as adept theatrical performers. Of course, in a course, can be readily understood without further comment.

'Veritas' commences his critical medium by stating that he gives them credit for just and give credit to whom credit is due!—and it is very true—Oh wise and upright judge how much more older art thou than thy looks. Inaccuracy and stupidity are not his strong points, but his power under the jurisdiction of a police magistrate; but how often through their meanness they are reminded and constrained to do so from motives of honesty and human judgment?

I think the friends of the exhibition will bear me out in saying that the editor's notice, which appeared in the next issue of the exhibition, was certainly a most satisfactory and most laudable one, and with it the subject should have been dropped. Those persons to whom 'Veritas' seems to have brought all his offerings, awarded so many laudations, of course, very justly deserve credit, but as yet, I am not aware that any of them feel flattered on account of the notice which 'Veritas' has seen fit to give them under the head of "Dramatic and Sensational," and especially in coupling their names with such a cant term as "their playing was a beat." The last word being in such connection is certainly one of questionable propriety. It is only a wonder that we have not heard of 'Veritas' before. I presume that he has been resting upon the late conception of the word "beat" and that "that man's a flower is born to blush unseen."

And waste its sweetness in the desert air." But in giving a diagnosis of the literary talent of 'Veritas' he is certainly a man who can pursue but one object at a time, and hence through life will probably run in the same rut, then upon this principle it is easily to account for the discrimination which 'Veritas' makes in his article—"Dramatic and Sensational"—for it is well understood that the pursuit of a single idea, for a number of years, cannot but produce an original and decided, while the most well regulated mind on earth, the most sincere the victim is the more fanatic he becomes, and hence the easier it is in the present instance to understand to which the mind is married to be reasoned into an untimeliness of purpose, and often approximate the climax of folly and nonsense, therefore, I am compelled to think that the inevitable consequence of the physiological principles above referred to which caused 'Veritas' to rush into print with a burdened consciousness of his prodigious wisdom, and a glib and decided, while he ironically exclaims "I think their playing was a beat."

Respectfully, G. A. H.

OMAHA LEGAL GIFT ENTERPRISE.—This enterprise is gotten up in aid of a Public City Library at Omaha. There are only 99,000 tickets in all, at $2.00 each. The day of distribution draws near. The Omaha papers speak of it as a great success, in which confidence can be placed. Those desiring to secure tickets, should do so before it is too late. See advertisement in another column.

TRAVELERS are always liable to sudden attacks of Dysentery and Cholera Morbus, and these occurring when absent from home, are very annoying. The FARR KILLER always bet lies upon in such cases. As soon as you feel the symptoms, take one teaspoonful in a glass of warm milk and molasses, and a glass of hot water, stir well together and drink it. Repeat the dose every hour until relieved. If the pains be severe, bathe the bowels and back, with the medicine.

In cases of Asthma and Phthisis, take a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water, sweetened with molasses; also bathe the throat and stomach faithfully with the medicine clear.

Dr. Sweet says it takes out the soreness in cases of bonesetting faster than anything he ever applied.

Phlebotomy is often exposed to hurts by having their skin pierced with hooks, and flies of fish, can be relieved by bathing with the Pain Killer as soon as the accident occurs; in this way the water is soon dried, and the pain is relieved.

The bites and scratches of dogs and cats are soon cured by bathing with the Pain Killer clear.
