TO PROTECT THE AMERICAN DYE INDUSTRY

How to hold their domestic and foreign markets against the onslaught of German commercial "shock" battalions after the war is being discussed at a two-day conference of American dye manufacturers which began at the Chemists club in New York yesterday.

Over 200 of the large dye manufacturers of the United States, representing more than $200,000,000 of invested capital, are represented at the conference.

One of the chief subjects of discussion will be a standardization of dyestuffs to be used as a basis for new tariff legislation. Without adequate protection along this line the American manufacturers feel that they will be unable, in the present unperfected state of the industry in this country, to successfully compete with the German dye manufacturers after the war.

As was said in The Statesman of yesterday morning, the American dye manufacturers have built up and speeded up their industry until they are now supplying the $10,000,000 annual supply that formerly came from Germany; and, more than this, they are exporting dyes made in this country amounting in value to a still larger annual sum.

There is just one way in which this may be guaranteed; and only one way. That is by putting the party of protection on guard at Washington.

Sensible persons have grown tired of the expression "doing one's bit," and happily it is fast falling into the "innocuous desuetude" Grover Cleveland told the country about. "Doing one's utmost" is the form approved by the Red Cross of Brooklyn, and that is sensible and soothing.

In reorganizing the ordnance bureau under Gen. Wheeler, the secretary of war has placed in important positions four civilians of notable standing in their private occupations in charge of the new procurement division will be Samuel McRoberts of New York, who has been the executive manager of the National City bank, the largest national banking institution in the United States.

Pravda, the most bitter of the Bolshevik newspapers, successfully disseminates its love for Russia's allies when it calls President Wilson "the head of a rapacious American militarism and the greatest hypocrite history has ever known."

Present time will be relieved of more than half their inmates, the insane asylums will be depleted and fewer children will come into the world with defective minds and bodies.

RUSSIAN DEVELOPMENTS. Military authorities are saying that a separate peace with Russia will release only three-quarters of a million Germans for service on the western front.

through the revolutionary travail, and must be swept by anarchy, with parties and politics rising and falling, until some man or some group of men shall come into the ascendancy and establish a firm constitution and meet international obligations.

ONE FOR ADVERTISERS.

Charles M. Schwab spoke at a recent meeting of business men. Schwab is not a mere talker. He knows the game, and though he started life without a cent, has made himself a millionaire.

"The business man who stops advertising because it's war time makes a great mistake," said Mr. Schwab. "War time or peace time, the story of the duck and the hen holds good."

"When a duck, you know, lays an egg, she just lays it and waddles off. That's all."

"But when a hen lays an egg she makes a racket over it fit to raise the dead."

"The hen, gentlemen, advertises. Hence the demand for hens' eggs instead of ducks' eggs."

A PRACTICAL PLAN.

Senator Hardings' proposal to put the soldiers who return from the war on farms is not a vote-catching device or a fantastic scheme. The chief aim is to improve an ideal opportunity to arrest the congestion of the population in cities, to better farming conditions and to care for the country's economic future.

HOW A ROMAN MOTHER FELT.

In these days when mothers are compelled to give up their sons for service in the great war, it is some consolation to know that centuries ago mothers were doing that very thing, and glorying in their ability to perform their bit by the surrender of their sons to the cause of the nation.

"To a cruel war I sent him, from whence he returned, his brows bound with oak. I tell thee, daughter, I sprang not more in joy at first hearing he was a man child than now in first seeing he had proved himself a man."

"Hear me profess sincerely, Had I a dozen sons, each in my love alike and nine less dear than thine and my good Marcus, I had rather had eleven die nobly for their country than one voluptuous surfeit out of action."

FATHER'S TRIBUTE TO SON. E. J. Goode, Oregon's youngest legislator, who attracted his majority in August in the Oregon legislature, has written the following verses to his son.

"The young man is a former Salem boy, and is a grandson of D. J. Goode of Salem. His mother is a French woman of the DeBoise family, and was born in Belgium near the famous battlefield of Waterloo."

All is not going well on the Austrian side of the Italian front. Going so badly, in fact, that they have substituted a big sneeze for another supreme command.

The hungry and cold and weary Austrian people have been quieted for the moment by being told that the king and the government believe with the people in peace without annexations and indemnities.

There are some men in this country who have no sort of trouble figuring their income tax. Reference is made to those who have an income of less than $1000 a year.

If there is any red tape in the conduct of the war it should be backed up against the wall and shot to death. This is no time for bureaucracy and palavering.

In spite of the awful situation in Germany Berlin is reported as being gay and fox-trotting in the face of her enemies. But the town is like a redyed carpet, brilliant in spots with the worn and faded portions painfully visible at the seams and edges.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

More sunshine yesterday.

But weather man is looking for rain.

Note what General Pershing says of our soldier boys in France.

"There has never been a similar body of men to lead as clean lives as our American soldiers in France," cabled General Pershing yesterday.

In fact, our boys "over there" are living fully up to the expectations of the folks at home.

NUGENT CHOSEN IDAHO SENATOR

Prominent Democratic Leader to Succeed James H. Brady, Deceased

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 22.—The Democratic majority in the United States senate gained another member today when John F. Nugent of Boise was appointed by Governor Moses Alexander to succeed the late Senator James H. Brady.

Nugent has been a prominent Democratic leader in the state for years, having been chairman of the state central committee from 1908 until 1912. He will serve until a successor is elected at the coming November elections.

Nugent is 49 years old. He became well known through acting as attorney for the Western Federation of Miners at Silver City, Idaho, and when he associated with Clarence Darrow and other attorneys in the defense of officers of that organization who were charged with conspiracy in connection with the murder of Governor Frank Steunenberg in 1905.

Nugent was born at La Grande, Oregon, while his parents, Judge and Mrs. Edward Nugent, who resided in Silver City, Idaho, were on a visit there.

He received his early education in the public schools and was admitted to the bar when he was 30 years old. From 1895 until 1905 he was prosecuting attorney of Owyhee county, Idaho, the only public office he ever held before his appointment today.

The new senator is in Washington now, having gone there immediately after Senator Brady's death. It is expected that he will take the oath of office in a few days.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it.

This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the bloodcausing headache, billions attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can't get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

POLITICAL NEWS

LOUIS LACHMUND, one of the best known hop men in the northwest, has finally consented, after much urging on the part of his friends, to become a candidate on the republican ticket at the primary election for the nomination of State Senator from Marion county.

GEORGE CAMERON, the canny Scot who was formerly district attorney in Salem yesterday and told friends that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. He does not expect to make a formal announcement of his candidacy for several weeks.

ED. WEAVER, a farmer and pruned grower of Myrtle Creek, has announced himself as a republican candidate for county commissioner of Douglas county on the Republican ticket.

W. S. ROBERTS, who was one of the famous regiment known as Roosevelt's Rough Riders, expects to be a republican candidate for the lower house of the legislature from Lane county. His slogan is "Good roads and better schools for the rural districts." He lives near Engent and came to Lane county eight years ago from Kansas.

E. P. TRUSEDELL is a Republican aspirant for the office of county clerk of Grant county.

J. M. THOMAS, a deputy game warden in Coos county, is expected to announce soon his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff of that county.

WHY IS A GUINEA HEN?

Whoever designed the guinea hen and composed the music for her vocal organs must have used a rasp for a tuning fork. Guinea hens and their husbands are alike in appearance; when you've seen one you've seen the other. Their plumage is of one and the same piece of goods like the Quakers'. If ever you have indulged in filling the teeth of a cross cut saw, you've heard the synonym of her melody.

Nature did herself a dreadful injustice when she produced this variety of fowl and the farmer who gives her board and lodging is no good Christian. I say this because any man who sells you a Guinea hen as youthful and tender has designed to skin you. I have a dim recollection of tasting one many years ago, and I will say this—the gravy was quite tender.

A group of guineas running to keep out of harm's way resembles a streak of 10-cent calico of soubre hue with polkadots. The guinea hen lays a very small egg with spots on it similar to those we see at cheap grocery stores in fly time. The eggs have no rating in the commercial world. They are used exclusively for hatching more trouble.—Cartoons Magazine.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it; no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
