NEWBERG LOSES TO SALEM TEAM

Local Quintet Smears It Over Visitors by Score of 39 to 20

The Salem high school basketball quintet added to its series of victories last night when it defeated the Newberg gang 39 to 20.

Gregg and Latham were high point men for the local aggregation while Chilen scooped the most baskets for the Quakers.

The first half was an exhibition of fast hard playing. Salem worked its four-man defense to perfection, while Hulsey, Salem guard proved an impregnable barrier to the visiting team.

Latham, center, dropped the sphere through the loop for the first score when Gill tipped it to him from behind the foul line. Then Newberg made a point on a free throw.

The first frame was noticeable for its many unsuccessful shots at the ring, while both teams were getting the range.

The Newberg team scored a couple of baskets in succession before Salem opened up again. Then Captain Ross shot one followed by Gregg and Latham respectively. At this juncture the Quakers got wild and tried long distance shooting without success. The half closed when Ross and Latham passed down the floor, the former ringing another two points. The score stood 13 to 8 on Salem side of the board.

Cullen initiated the second frame by a long basket before Salem opened up with a few contributed by Latham and Gregg. Ross scooped the ball off the ceiling and passed it to Latham who dropped it in the loop for two points.

Gill at forward played a strong defensive game and covered the floor like a varsity man, passing to his team mates in professional style. The local all-stars opened up with a series of basket tossing that put the visitors off their feet for the rest of the game.

The line-up was as follows: Salem—Gregg, Gill, forwards; Latham, center; Ross (capt.), Hulsey, guards. Newberg—W. Jones, Cullen, forwards; Jones, center; Young, C. Jones, guards.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Spring showers and sunshine. The candidates—still they come. Livelier on the western front.

Looks like big offensives are being prepared on both sides of the long line.

The Germans were unable to occupy the trenches wrecked by the Sammies. Too hot for them. So they are preparing new ones, further back, and it will be just like the Sammies to shoot them up also.

The air fighting on the western front is growing more and more intense. And this is only a start on what is coming, if the war lasts.

The Turks may take Sebastopol, the great Black sea port, from the Russians. But if they do they will not be allowed to keep it. The allies fighting for democracy will have something to say about this before long—and they may have all to say about it that there is to be said.

Some day, if not soon, the world will know what the delegates at the Berlin meeting, from Austria, Bulgaria, Turkey and Germany, think of the great war as it now stands. It surely was not a joyful meeting. All present must have thought of the ancient story of the handwriting on the wall.

Matlock Divorce Case Dismissed by Opinion

In an opinion written by Justice Bean, the supreme court yesterday dismissed the divorce suit filed by Mary Matlock against J. D. Matlock, appellant, of Eugene. The decision reverses Circuit Judge Gatens of Multnomah county, the supreme court holding that the circuit court had not acquired jurisdiction over the limitation. Previous to the institution of the divorce, the appellant had begun suit for divorce in Lane county and the supreme court took the stand that the Multnomah circuit court could not divest the Lane county circuit court of jurisdiction.

Other decisions yesterday were: Dr. M. Watson et al. vs. Sheriff Harburt of Multnomah county et al., appellant; from Multnomah; suit to restrain the sale of property under execution; opinion by Justice Bean; Circuit Judge Morrow affirmed.

Lottie E. Ward vs. Thomas A. Jensen, appellant; from Multnomah; action for damages for alleged fraudulent representation in relation to the exchange of land; opinion by Justice Harris; Circuit Judge Gatens reversed.

Otis E. Learned et al., appellant, vs. Merritt L. Holbrook; from Multnomah; involving an agreement of the parties of real property; opinion by Justice McCamant; Circuit Judge Davis reversed.

First National Bank of St. Johns, appellant, vs. Multnomah State Bank; from Multnomah; suit to enforce lien thereon; opinion by Justice Moore; Circuit Judge Davis reversed.

terday morning with the river still rising at a rapid pace.

In the meantime the rainfall since early Monday registered 1.14 inches, indicating the heaviest fall of rain in any twenty-four hours this winter, but one—that of December 19, when the high mark was 1.36 and the river reached 24.6 feet.

It is possible that there will be another high mark, but not probable without more rain during the next few days.

One year ago this month at Corvallis there were two distinct floods, the highest stage of the water reaching 25.6 in the earlier part of the month, and 23.2 when the second flood came later in the month. It will be remembered at that time Eugene streets were rivers of water more than three feet deep, and many families were rescued from their homes by the use of boats.

In Salem the water did not get that high, but was spread out over a wider territory so far as the streets of the city were concerned.

CONTROL OF COAST FISHING IS ASSUMED

sentative of the food administration to handle the fishing and canning industry. Mr. Warren is a member of the Oregon fish and game commission. Applications for new cannery locations are still being considered by the administrators of the states and Alaska, affected but no decisions have been given. The government takes the view that new canneries should not be established where the existing ones can handle the supply and that labor and supplies should not be used unless they would increase the output. W. H. James, vice-president of the Kenal Packing company in the Prince William sound district, asserted that the surplus salmon in the 1916 run would have kept several more canneries operating. A. P. Hanley of the Copper River Packing company, declared to the contrary, that the existing canneries could handle the run.

The food administrators of Oregon, Washington and California adopted a ruling authorizing the return to the old wholesale price of bread which was eight cents for the 16-ounce loaf and 12 cents for the 24-ounce loaf. Under an agreement recently made for a 60-day test, the wholesale price was set at 7 1/2 and 11 cents. The bakers now have the option of returning to the old prices. The ruling was made on the showing of the bakers that the tentative wholesale price was not sufficient. The retail price of bread was not considered, and retailers will be allowed to decide for themselves whether to absorb the difference or charge it to the public. "Relief for the bakers was imperative," said W. B. Ayer, food administrator for Oregon.

Save your Hands

It is good advice, especially at this time of year when we say: "Save your hands." For all household work you should wear a pair of our guaranteed household rubber gloves. Especially in washing dishes the alkali in the soap roughens the skin of the hands, and causes chapping in even mild weather. You can save yourself this discomfort, and can keep your hands white and soft by wearing rubber gloves.
