NEW POLICY ON CASUALTY LISTS BRINGS PROTEST

Representatives Object to Printing of Names Without Addresses

PERSHING TO EXPLAIN

Montana and Illinois Men Cited, Whose Names Were Identical

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Protests against the war department's new policy of issuing casualty lists with addresses continue to reach members of congress, and the subject was debated today in the house.

President Wilson is understood to be giving personal consideration to the reasons for the change and it is known that the department has asked General Pershing, who suggested it at the instance of the French government, to forward a full statement of the military considerations involved so they may be laid before the American public. Members of the cabinet said after today's meeting that the matter was not discussed there.

In connection with the plan now being considered of issuing lists twice a month or once a week instead of daily, it has been suggested that under this scheme there might be no objection to giving addresses and names of relatives of the men. One of the chief objections to the old plan was the announcement of the date on which the men were killed or wounded, thus giving the enemy exact information as to the results of certain engagements.

In the house Representative McKenzie, of Illinois, Republican, cited the case of a Montana man whose name, appearing on a casualty list, was identical with that of a boy in the army from an Illinois town. He was joined by Representative Little of Kansas and Representative Graham of Illinois, Republicans, insisting that names should not be made public without addresses.

Representatives Glass of Virginia, Garrett of Tennessee, and Humphreys of Mississippi, Democrats, defended the action of the department, saying the decision had been reached by men who knew more about the question than members of congress. Representative Garrett said the newspapers had failed to impress upon the people the fact that the department promptly notifies the relatives of each man whose name appears on a list.

Warns Women Against Cutting Corns and Says They Lift Right Out.

Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heel footwear they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests which merely makes the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of a drug called freezone applied directly upon a sore corn gives quick relief and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain. Ask the drug store man for a quarter of an ounce of freezone, which costs very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

This drug is gummy but it dries in a moment and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Counties Do Not Have Power to Initiate Bills

An opinion of the supreme court yesterday in the case of L. A. Carriker and Lucy A. Carriker, against Lake county et al has the effect of establishing the fact that a county does not have the power of a city to initiate legislation, and that the only way such power can be acquired is by a legislative enactment.

The case passed upon involves the question as to whether or not the voters of Lake county can, in the exercise of the initiative and without an enabling act, enact a law authorizing the county court to levy taxes for the payment of bounties on jackrabbits. Such a measure was passed by the people of Lake county at the election of 1916. The county court made the tax levy and the sheriff attempted to collect it when the plaintiffs in the case refused to pay the rabbit bounty and brought suit to enjoin its collection. The trial court overruled a demurrer to the complaint.

Justice Harris, who writes the opinion, says: "No act has ever been passed by the legislative or by the people of the whole state granting unto the voters of a county the right to enact a jackrabbit bounty law for themselves."

In the lower court the case was before Judge L. F. Conn, whose overruling of the demurrer is affirmed.

Car Interchange May Be Forced Upon Railroads

The public service commission yesterday wired a complaint to Regional Director R. F. Aishton, at Chicago, that seventy Northern Pacific automobile cars, billed for San Francisco, are being held in the yards at Portland because the Northern Pacific refuses to allow its cars to go to San Francisco. Demurrage charges of approximately $1000 have accumulated. The Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific companies never have interchanged cars, but the commission believes the interchange may be forced in this case.

Practice of Increasing Interest Rates Disliked

WASHINGTON, March 12.—In a further effort to check the competitive movement among interior banks to obtain demand deposits by increasing interest rates, Governor W. P. G. Harding of the federal reserve board today telegraphed reserve banks to use their influence with banks to discourage this practice pending action by the New York Clearing House association to restrict higher interest rates which have drawn many deposits there.

Results will be harmful both to national financing and to the banking business, Governor Harding said, unless the tendency to lure new checking accounts by better rates is immediately eliminated.

Another step taken by the federal reserve board was the calling of a conference of governors of federal reserve banks here March 22 to discuss interest rates, plans for the third liberty loan and other questions.

U. S. NAVY MAKES GREAT RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

Difficulties and Problems Are Met With Rare Skill in Past Year

EFFICIENCY NOW HIGH

Committee Favors Increasing Marine Corps for Service in France

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The direction and activities of the navy in the war drew the highest praise today from the house committee which recently completed an investigation recently completed an investiwork for the twelve months past, it was declared, presents a record of remarkable achievement.

Handicapped at the start of war by a limited personnel and material, the navy, the report said, "was suddenly called on to face many difficulties and untried problems, and has met the situation with rare skill, ingenuity, dispatch and a high degree of success."

The investigating committee was made up of members of the house naval affairs committee, with Representative Oliver of Alabama, as its chairman. During its hearings testimony was given by Secretary Daniels, head of all the navy offices and bureaus and other officials and witnesses.

In its report the committee took occasion to laud marine corps and declared there are today no better trained or more effective fighting forces in France. In recommending that the number of marines abroad be increased, declaring both officers and men are thoroughly equipped and splendidly trained.

The readiness of the Atlantic fleet for action at the outbreak of war, the report says, due largely to the efficiency of the bureau of operations under Admiral Benson. The bureau, it is declared, has done exceptional work because of the excellency of its staff.

Another recommendation of the committee was that the navy's great three-year building program of capital ships as well as auxiliaries, temporarily delayed because of the immediate need of destroyers and smaller craft to fight the submarine, be resumed and that both scout and battle cruisers be provided. Without such cruisers, the committe said, the dreadnaught fleet looses a large part of its fighting potentiality.

Praising the navy's bureau of supplies, the report said that under its chief, Rear-Admiral Samuel McGowan the bureau "has established a nation-wide reputation for business efficiency." The bureau is responsible for feeding, clothing and paying the entire personnel of the navy, and the report said that 300,000 men and 110 ships now are just as promptly and well provided for as 55,000 men and 300 ships had been before the war.

NEW BUILDING SOON COMPLETED

New Structure for Dental Work at Camp Lewis to Be Well Equipped

CAMP LEWIS, Tacoma, Wash., March 12.—With the completion of the new dental building on Oregon street, near the 44th infantry quarters, about the first of April, army dentists at amp Lewis will be quartered together with good equipment and sanitary quarters. The building itself is nearing completion, but the plumbing and inside work remains to be done.

The new building is but a part of the original plans for Camp Lewis which are being carried out as rapidly as possible, Lieutenant Colonel P. C. Field,, division surgeon, said today. As soon as the appropriations can be obtained, it is planned to build another dental building across the parade grounds from the present building and all dental work in camp will be don at these two buildings.

At present the dentists are quartered in the regimental infirmaries which are more or less crowded. With the crowded condition of the base hospital, it has been found necessary, Colonel Field said, to carry out specialized work of the hospital in the regimental infirmaries and this has added to the inconvenience for dental work.

The new buildings will have plenty of light, a big advantage in dental work. There also will be the advantage of having a number of dentists together for consultation in difficult cases.

Whether or not the new arrangement will result in retaining fewer dentists here, Colonel Field could not say. Under army regulations, the rating of dentists to the men of the command is one to every thousand. The arrangement, however, is expected to bring greater efficiency in dental work.

A special ruling from the adjutant general's office regarding the war risk insurance of men fraudently enlisted into service was made public today in a bulletin from division headquarters. The adjutant general decided that the government has the right to refuse to such men the privilege of obtaining such insurance.

The 346th, 347th and 348th machine gun battalions have arranged for a military ball to be given at Murray Thursday evening, March 21.

Transportation will be provided enlisted men.

Weekly services for men of Mormon faith are a new part of the religious activities at Camp Lewis. Sunday school will be held at 10:30 every Sunday morning and an evening service at 7 o'clock every Sunday night in the assembly hall of the 346th machine gun battalion. Notice of the meetings was contained in a bulletin issued at division headquarters today and ordered posted in all barracks.

Ground is being cleared for the addition to the base hospital, recently authorized to relieve the crowded condition of the hospital. The cost of the work is to be about $500,000 and will increase the capacity of the hospital from 1000 beds to 1800. It also will mean that the patients who have been quartered in firmaries temporarily attached to the base hospital can be accomodated in the hospital proper. Although the hospital has accommodations for only 1000, 1500 have been cared for at a time with the present equipment.

New quarters for the negro troops at Camp Lewis have been constructed and are occupied by these men.
