A curious circumstance connected with Robert Emmet, the celebrated Irish patriot, is that there is some doubt as to his burial place. He was interred near Millinham, but his remains are believed to have been afterwards removed to St. Michael's Church yard or to Glasnevin cemetery. In each of these places there is an uninscribed stone said to mark his grave.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE. Joseph C. Lincoln, the author, remarked at a social gathering that we are often too prone to complain about things that might be a whole lot worse, and told this anecdote as an example: During a heated political campaign one of the party leaders became emotional over some matter that was printed about his home town, and excitedly galloped into the sanctum of the editor. "Look here," he hoisterously exclaimed, with an accompanying dance, "what do you mean by printing all that stuff about me?" "What's the matter with it?" asked the editor, without showing any symptoms of tacking on his wings and flying for the door. "What's the matter with it?" shouted the perturbed politician. "Why, it is all lies, and you know it!" "Well, then, what are you kicking about?" was the smiling rejoinder of the editor. "Suppose we had told the truth about you?"-Philadelphia Telegraph.

AVIATORS SEE BIG BREAK IN SEA WALL (Continued from page 1) my lights were on us and the machine guns were firing from the shore. "Before we made 200 yards the submarine went up and there was a tremendous flash and roar." Rendall described how one after another the rowers were hit by enemy bullets but in the nick of time a rocket boat found the skiff and took the crew aboard. Lieutenant Stanford, who commanded the submarine, pays tribute to the gallantry of his crew, which numbered five, and speaks modestly of his achievement. He said: "There is no doubt about our getting there. I set the fuse myself, and I think it was done all right. The firing from the shore was severe and only the fact that the sea was rough and pumped us up and down saved us."

An officer of one of the motorboats claims he torpedoes a destroyer alongside the mole. He says that a second destroyer was torpedoes by another motorboat and that a third was rammed. "My boat," he said, "torpedoed and absolutely destroyed the old British railway steamer Brussels, which was lying just inside the mole. It had been used by the Germans as a torpedoing training ship."

It is recalled that the Brussels was the last vessel commanded by Captain Fryat, who was executed in July, 1916, after conviction by a German court martial for attempting to ram a submarine.

South of the Clarence river, four German companies which essayed an attack were repulsed. Trouble Long Brewed in the Somme sector for days, the enemy maintaining a bombardment of more or less intensity over a wide area. Throughout yesterday Villers-Bretonneux and surrounding places were heavily shelled and this morning the bombardment was greatly increased.

On the northern battle front, the German artillery pounded the entire allied positions yesterday, especially in the Robecq and Merville sector, and this morning an intense bombardment was put down in the British positions on both sides of the River Lawe. Thus a large section of the northern battle front was seething today.

Retirement Is Forced. An attack above Albert came after a half hour bombardment by the enemy. As the German infantry left their trenches the British defended them with rifle and machine gun fire and forced a hasty retreat.

A British operation yesterday over a 2000-yard front in the Riez du Vinage sector was a complete success and greatly improved the defending lines. A nasty salient about 1500 yards wide and about the same depth had bulged into British territory just north of Riez du Vinage. By their attack the British drove the enemy from this salient and straightened their line.

GERMANS IN WOODS. PARIS, April 24.-The battle on the whole front south of the Somme and on the Avre lasted all day and still continues, according to the war office announcement tonight. The Germans gained a footing in the woods to the northward of Hangard-en-Santerre, and also in the eastern outskirts of the village, which the French are desperately defending.

Several enemy assaults were shattered near Hallies, and attacks at Senecot wood and Hill 82 also failed.

Corn Market Shows Much Strength at Intervals CHICAGO, April 24.-Planting delays and a falling off in arrivals made the corn market today show considerable strength at times. bus, the newly acquired service flag of the council was dedicated and three new stars were affixed in the presence of the guests of honor. P. N. Smith was chairman of the meeting. John T. Bauman explained the service flag and dedicated it; Mayor R. L. Young spoke on "True Citizenship"; Dr. E. S. Donnelly in behalf of Mt. Angel council, Knights of Columbus; Joseph J. Keber on "Truthful Questionnaires"; Rev. Father Dominic spoke as spiritual director, and Rev. Father Hilbrand in behalf of the Mt. Angel college. The local orchestra of six pieces rendered "The Star Spangled Banner" during the program and volunteered its services at the dance which was held immediately afterwards. The Girls' Glee club sang "Somewhere in France," and the Knights of Columbus quartet "Keep the Home Fires Burning," adding much to the patriotic spirit manifest throughout. After the singing of "America" by the entire audience three rousing cheers were given the boys.
