Salem High School Will Play Eugene Saturday

Salem high school players will go to Eugene Saturday to meet the baseball team of the Eugene high school. With Captain Hulseby back again after an attack of tonsillitis and two victories already to their credit, the local boys are expecting to make a good showing. Two weeks ago they defeated Eugene 7 to 1. Rain is interfering to a large extent with practice and this may put a crimp in the prospect.

There are two and possibly three more games remaining in this season's program. Another will be played with Stayton and one with Chemawa. Efforts are being made to secure a date with one of the Portland schools.

ROAD IS ASKED TO HAUL GRAIN

Farmers Would Have Logging Railway Serve Them as Common Carrier

Farmers living in the vicinity covered by a logging railroad of the Enterprise Lumber company have informed the public service commission that they would be greatly benefited if the road would serve them as a common carrier, and through Commissioner Corey, the commission has sent a letter to Oscar A. Spear of Enterprise, general manager of the company, suggesting that this be done. Elimination of a forty-mile haul by team would be obtained for many farmers if the service were granted.

Delivery in carload lots only would be required and the company would not be asked to be a common carrier of passengers, nor would the construction of a depot be necessary. Opinion is expressed by the commission that the undertaking would be profitable for the logging company. As a basis on which the company can estimate earnings the commission quotes grain rates on the Great Southern railway of this state which have been established by the commission as follows:

For 10 miles, 6 cents a hundred pounds; minimum weight 35,000 pounds when car is of 40,000 pounds capacity.

Twenty miles, 8 cents a hundred; minimum weight 44,000 pounds when car is of 50,000 pounds capacity.

Thirty miles, 10 cents a hundred; minimum weight 55,000 pounds when car is of 60,000 pounds capacity, or 65,000 pounds when car is of 70,000 capacity, or 77,000 pounds when car is of 80,000 pounds capacity.

LUMBERMEN TO TESTIFY TODAY

Absence of One L. W. W. Defendant Causes Early Adjudgment in Trial

CHICAGO, May 14.—Counsel for the government in the trial of 112 leaders of the L. W. W. for violation of the espionage act stated tonight that a group of witnesses have been summoned from northern Minnesota lumber and iron mining regions to testify, probably Wednesday, regarding specific acts of violence against big industries.

This testimony, which will form a part of the government's chain of evidence intended to show a widespread conspiracy to disrupt America's war plans, will follow completion of testimony dealing with the organization's activities in the east where it is charged strikes and destruction were urged in industries necessary to prosecution of the war. Absence of one defendant who was ill caused an early adjournment of the trial today.

Newspapers Comment on Willamette Glee Club

"The Willamette University Glee club gave a rousing concert at the Sunnyside M. E. church to a good-sized audience last night. Dr. Frank Wilbur Chace is director of the club and has brought the singers to very excellent ensemble work. Miss Florence Scheurle, who acts as accompanist, is also an accomplished pianist, as she revealed Friday night. Among those giving special numbers are Gus Anderson, Archie H. Smith, Roswell Waltz and Herald Emmel."—Oregon Journal, of Portland.

"An audience that nearly filled the Pioneer Methodist church last night listened to an enjoyable concert given by the Willamette Glee club. The club was equally good with its ensemble and solo numbers. The selections were well chosen for student voices and had the snap and tunefulness which make glee club concerts a delight to all. Of special merit were two solos, one a vocal number, 'Pipes of Pan,' sung by Archie H. Smith, and the other a piano number by Miss Florence Scheurle, who played the 'Sextette from Lucia.' Roswell Waltz and Herald Emmel with their squirrel food were especially funny."—Walla Walla Union.

SECOND OSTEND RAID COMPLETE SURPRISE

surprise. The surprise, despite the German's watchfulness, seems to have been complete. The motor launches were doing their work magnificently. These perfect warships manned by officers and men of the royal naval volunteer reserve, are specialists at smoke production. They built to either hand of the Vindictive's course, the likeness of a dense sea mist, driving landward with the wind.

"There was tremendous uproar from the ponderous batteries. They register from six inches to monsters of 15-inch naval pieces in land turrets and the royal marine artillery fights a war long duel with them. These now opened fire into the smoke and over it the monitors and marines. And the monitors replied.

"Fog Conceals Surroundings. 'Meanwhile, the airplanes were bombing methodically anti-aircraft were searching the skies for them. The star shells spouted up and floated down, the light from the smoke banks spreading green fires and those strings of luminous green balls, which the airman call 'flaming onions,' soared up, to lose themselves in the clouds.

"Through all this stridency and blaze of conflict, the Vindictive, still unhurrying, was walking the lighted waters toward the entrance. It was then that those on the destroyers became aware that what seemed to be merely smoke was wet and cold; that the rigging was beginning to drip, and that there were no longer any stars. A sea fog had come on. 'The destroyers had to turn on their high search lights, their sirens kept in touch with each other. The air attack was suspended and the Vindictive, with some distance yet to go, found herself in gross darkness. There were motorboats on either side of her escorting her to the entrance. These were supplied with what are called Dover flares, enormous lights capable of illuminating square miles of sea. At once every pistol was fired as a signal to light these, but the fog and smoke together were too dense for even the flares.

"Ships Reach Location. The Vindictive then put her helm over and started to cruise to find the entrance. Twice she must have washed across, and at the third turn, upon reaching the position at which she first lost her way, there came a rift in the mist and she saw the entrance and the piers on either side, and opening dead ahead.

"The motorboat U. P. No. 22, commanded by Acting Lieutenant Guy L. Cockburn, reached on into the opening under heavy and momentarily growing fire, and planted a flare on the water between the piers. The Vindictive steamed over it and on. She was in. 'The guns found her at once. She was hit every few seconds after she entered, her scarred hull broken afresh in a score of places, her decks and upper works swept by machine guns. The machine gun at the end of the western pier had been put out of action by a motorboat's torpedo, but from other machine guns at the in-shore end of the pier, from a position on the front and from a position on the front and from machine guns apparently firing over the eastern pier, there converged upon her a hail of lead.

Explosion Sinks Vessel. 'Immediately after passing the breach in the pier, Commander Godsal left the conning tower and went on deck, the better to watch the ship's movements. He chose a position and called in through the slit of the conning tower his order to starboard the helm. The Vindictive responded and laid her battered nose to the eastern pier and prepared to swing her 320 feet of length across the channel.

"It was at that moment that a shell from the shore batteries struck the conning tower. Lieutenant Sir John Alleyne and Lieutenant V. A. C. Crutchley were still within. Commander Godsal was close to the tower outside. Lieutenant Alleyne was stunned by the shock. Lieutenant Crutchley shouted through the slit to the commander and receiving no answer rang for the port engine full speed astern, to help the swinging ship. By this time she was lying at an angle of about 45 degrees to the pier and seemed hard fast; so it was impossible to bring her farther around.

"After working the engines some minutes to no effect, Lieutenant Crutchley gave the order to clear the engine room and abandon ship, according to the program previously laid down. Engineer Lieutenant Commander William A. Bury, who was the last to leave the engine room, blew the main charge by a switch installed aft. Lieutenant Crutchley blew the auxiliary charges in the forward six-inch magazine from the conning tower.

"Those on board felt the old ship shrug, as the explosive tore the bottom plates and bulkheads from her. She sank about six feet and lay upon the bottom of the channel. Her work was done.

It is predicted that before the war ends precedent will be shattered by the bestowal of the Victoria Cross on a woman.

VOTE 48 X

W. AL. JONES
REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR NOMINATION FOR STATE SENATOR.

W. Al. Jones has been a citizen of Oregon for forty years, having been born and raised in Marion county. Attended the public schools of Mission Bottom, graduating therefrom at 17 years of age. Attended and graduated from the Portland Business College. I live on a farm two miles west of Warona station, Gervais Rural Route No. 2, with my wife and two children, and have followed farming and stockraising all of my life, with the exception of two years, part of which time I was Secretary of the Oregon State Fair Board.

Four years of my life was spent in Wallawa County, where I operated a large farm, and was elected from that district (Union and Wallawa Counties) as a member of the House of Representatives of the 1915 session by a good majority. I was also elected as a member of the same body from Marion County in the 1917 session by a large majority. I now desire to be elected as one of the two senators to represent Marion County, believing my legislative experience of the past fully qualifies me for the honor I seek. While my financial interests are virtually in the country, I am and always have been mindful of the credit's interests. I also claim due credit for the passage of the bridge bill in the last session, which enabled Marion County to construct a bridge across the Willamette River at Salem. This is not only a financial but a public benefit to every resident of Salem and surrounding territory. I have been accused by different parties of fighting for or against certain candidates. I want it distinctly understood that I have had enough to do to look after my own candidacy. I am not fighting any one. (Paid Advertisement.)

Death Revokes a Check

A bank has authority to pay a depositor's outstanding checks only so long as he is alive. If payment IS made without knowledge of a depositor being dead, the bank is protected. This is yet another reason why a check should not be held too long before presentation.
