AERIAL MAIL SERVICE NOW ESTABLISHED

First Postal Cargo Sent on Way Yesterday in Presence of Wilson

NO TRIPS ON SUNDAYS One Machine Disabled on Initial Flight—Delivery to Be Speedy

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Aerial mail service in the United States today became an accomplished fact.

Plotted by army aviators, airplanes carried consignments of mail from New York and Philadelphia to Washington and from Philadelphia to New York.

With the exception of Sunday, daily trips from each end of the New York-Washington air mail route are planned by the postoffice department.

Three hours and twenty minutes after a machine piloted by Lieutenant Torey H. Webb, left the Belmont flying field near New York today, the mail it carried was landed in Washington and within 33 minutes boy scouts had completed delivery of the 735 parcels consigned to Washington, including 19 pieces for the White House, one for Vice President Marshall and a number for Postmaster General Burleson.

One of the letters was from Governor Whitman of New York, addressed to President Wilson and pledging New York to do its part in the American Red Cross drive for a $100,000,000 war fund which begins next Monday.

Besides the president and Mrs. Wilson, Postmaster General Burleson, Secretary Daniels, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, Assistant Postmaster Generals Praeger and Dockery and Postmaster General Kamara of Japan, witnessed the departure of the mail from Washington.

The president cancelled and autographed the aerial mail stamp on a letter from Postmaster General Burleson to Postmaster Patten of New York and the stamp will be auctioned off in New York for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Lieutenant George L. Boyle, formerly a Washington newspaper man, piloted the machine which carried 350 pounds of mail in a special compartment in the fuselage.

The mail planes are Curtiss military training machines and army aviators piloting them are assigned to the work for experience in cross-country flying.

Weeks Bases Candidacy On His Record of Past

George W. Weeks, candidate for nomination for representative from Marion county, is a pioneer of this district. He came to Salem in 1876 and has been a resident of Marion county continuously since that time.

For two years he was superintendent of the dairy department of the state fair. He claims to be the oldest member of the dairy association of Oregon.

Four years of my life was spent in Wallowa County, where I operated a large farm, and was elected from that district (Union and Wallowa Counties) as a member of the House of Representatives of the 1915 session by a good majority.

While my financial interests are virtually in the country, I am and always have been mindful of the citizens' interests. I also claim due credit for the passage of the bridge bill in the last session, which enabled Marion County to construct a bridge across the Willamette River at Salem.

I have been accused by different parties of fighting for or against certain candidates. I want it distinctly understood that I have had enough to do to look after my own candidacy. I am not fighting any one.

Take Your Choice

R. N. Stanfield.

STANFIELD HIS OPPONENT

Born in Oregon. Farm boy. On the range, supporting widowed mother and family. Trading in a few sheep. Studying sheep problem. Reorganizing sheep industry of Oregon.

"The Oregonian is able to say on information and knowledge that he (Robert N. Stanfield) is neither a profiteer nor a hoarder. It says it now, because it ought to be said now. It would not have him, nor any man, penalized through politics, or partisanship, or newspaper unfairness, for having performed to the state of Oregon and to the Northwest an invaluable service in creating here a great wool depot, and in helping lay the foundations for an important industry in the manufacture of wool products of all kinds.
