

BERNARDI SHOWS BIG ATTRACTION

Doors of Salem Moose Celebration Will Be Thrown Open Monday Night

The Bernardi Greater shows who furnish the attractions for the Moose celebration next week put on several new features for the event. Every show and ride is a feature in itself and worth going miles to see.

The trained animal show where lions, tigers, dogs and ponies go through their various stunts and do everything but talk is the largest trained animal show with an organization of its kind. The motor-drome where two men race at break neck speed sends thrills through your system. The Honolulu show where dancers and musicians direct from the islands, dancing and playing as only the natives can will be a treat. The athletic show where Young Samson, the champion middle weight wrestler of the Pacific coast, will give any man a dollar a minute who can put his shoulders to the mat. The California cabaret where the jazz band and singers and dancers give you an idea of cabaret life in San Francisco.

The Tango Maze has any optical illusion show beat a thousand ways and where you can see the girls dancing as if a sixty foot well. The Crazy house is more fun than you think. You don't have to be crazy to ride "Over the Top". The Palace of Arts. Not so naughty as it sounds but where the most famous paintings are posed by living models and is art and art alone. These are only a few of the feature shows carried by The Bernardi Greater shows. Then there is the $20,000 Merry-go-

Round. The Giant Ferris Wheel and that great sensational eastern ride "The Whip" good for young and old. The Moose are more than pleased that they were able to contract with The Bernardi company and will have everything in readiness to throw open the doors of their celebration next Monday night.

Two Lists of Polling Places in Salem Given

Both the city recorder's office and the county clerk's office are in receipt of numerous inquiries from prospective voters with regard to polling places in the city, there being more or less confusion as to the separate ballots, the war polling places and the precinct polling places. The two lists are reprinted, and it should be noted that in several instances the same polling place is used for both the city and county tickets. The city ward polling places are:

First Ward—Garfield school; Second ward, city hall; Third ward, court house; Fourth ward, corner Twelfth and Mill streets; Fifth ward, Reddaway's store; Sixth ward, Cameron's paint shop; Seventh ward, Klender Building, Miller and Commercial streets.

The twenty precinct polling places within the city of Salem are as follows:

Salem No. 1—Gidding's hall, one door east of Prescott barber shop on Center street.

Salem No. 2—First floor of Bungalow Christian church, Court and Seventeenth street.

Salem No. 3—Cameron's paint shop, Twenty-first street, between Chemecketa and Center.

Salem No. 4—D. R. Rubble store building, 720 South Fourteenth street.

Salem No. 5—Richmond school.

Salem No. 6—Yew Park school.

Salem No. 7—Highland school.

Salem No. 8—Reddaway building, 1421 North Sixth street.

Salem No. 9—Capitol Street Garage, 415 N. Capitol street.

Salem No. 10—Garfield school.

Salem No. 11—County court house in Salem.

Salem No. 12—Second door south of Mill street on Twelfth street.

Salem No. 13—F. H. Reeves house, 945 South Twelfth street.

Salem No. 14—Wyant house, 246 River street.

Salem No. 15—Baptist church, Marion and Liberty street.

Salem No. 16—City hall in Salem.

Salem No. 17—Hotel Marion sample room.

Salem No. 18—Friends church, corner Washington and Commercial.

East Salem—Ricky school house.

Salem Heights—Salem Heights hall.

Another point that should be understood is that any person who for any reason failed to register in his precinct is enabled to vote on the sworn testimony of two freeholders.

POLICE TESTIFY IN I. W. W. TRIAL

Counsel for Defense Attempts to Prove Mine Companies Equipped Officers

CHICAGO, May 15.—Pennsylvania's fight to suppress the anti-war activities of Industrial Workers of the World was described today by witnesses called to substantiate the government's charges of seditious conspiracy against 112 leaders of the organization. Three witnesses, all officers of the law, told tales of lawlessness by members of the organization and named specifically three defendants, Albert Prashner, John Baldanza and Joseph Graber, as teachers of sedition in the antipractic regions of central Pennsylvania.

Counsel for the defense made futile efforts to bring into the records admissions that the big mining companies owned the barracks occupied by the Pennsylvania state police, furnished the uniforms of its members, and also issued instructions to county authorities relative to dispersing big labor meetings.

George F. Buss, Wilkesbarre, Pa., sheriff of Luzerne county, asserted that "the past activities of the I. W. W. made it necessary last summer to break up their seditious meetings before they got well under way. We had seen their blowing up of houses and other acts of violence."

Buss told of breaking up of an I. W. W. meeting at Hilldale on June 17 and arresting Prashner, Baldanza and Graber, all of whom he declared were preaching opposition to the war.

Under cross-examination he admitted that he had no specific orders for breaking up the meeting, but was operating under general orders from the court.

SHE GOT GOOD RESULTS.

Missing Woodburn Man May Have Taken Life

Search is being made for the body of Alexander Boyle in the Pudding river at the Seelye bridge, near Woodburn, but not much progress has been made on account of the many snags. Boyle has been missing since Monday, and had acted queerly. Tracks made by him were found leading to the river, and it is thought he has committed suicide. The actions of his faithful dog, that never before left his side, indicating this, Boyle's nephew arrived from Kalama this morning, and further efforts will be made to account for the man's disappearance. He was a bachelor, wealthy, and seemed to fear that his money would be taken from him by the government.

OPINION GIVEN FOR SECRETARY

Brown Tells How Genuineness of Names on Petitions Is Determined

How a county clerk may arrive at his belief as to the genuineness or lack of genuineness of signatures on initiative or referendum petitions is explained in an opinion written by Attorney General Brown in response to inquiry made by Secretary of State Olcott. The attorney general was asked to construe provisions contained in section 3473, Lord's Oregon Laws, as amended by chapter 178, Laws of 1917. The form of certificate prepared by the secretary of state for the clerk is approved as being in accord with chapter 176.

The opinion applies mainly to the provision of law requiring county clerks to compare the signature of electors signing petitions with the names on the registration cards, books and blanks and further, to the provision that the county clerk shall not retain in his possession any petition for a longer period than two days for the first 200 names and one additional day for each 200 additional signatures or fraction thereof.

Absurdities Are Avoided.

In his opinion the attorney general cites the following rule of statutory construction:

"It is presumed that the legislature does not intend an absurdity, or that absurd consequences shall flow from its enactments. Such a result will therefore be avoided, if by the terms of the act admit of it, by a reasonable construction of the statute."

The opinion throws further light on the subject in the following language:

"It also should be kept in mind that in construing new legislation, it is a familiar rule that the evil to be remedied is first to be ascertained, and then give the law such construction as will remedy the evil."

"The purpose of the legislature in enacting chapter 176 was not to prevent laws from being initiated by the people, nor to prohibit acts from being referred, whereby people may, by themselves, propose and enact laws, but to protect these wholesome rights from the abuse of irresponsible persons by placing spurious names upon petitions."

"It would be a physical impossibility for the clerk to compare two hundred signatures in one day, or two days, and be absolutely certain that they were genuine; the law does not require certainty; the certificate prescribed by the act does not require proof beyond a reasonable doubt. The certificate does not require certainty, but it does require that the clerk shall inform himself concerning the signature so he can express his belief in the certificate. That such signatures are either genuine or not genuine as the case may be."

LOCAL BOARD SENDS 48 MEN

Quota of Call for Fifteen Hundred Is Announced by Government

It is now definitely known that under the recent draft call from the provost marshal general, Marion county, district No. 1, will be called upon to furnish forty-eight men from Class 1. The telegram received by the local exemption board from Portland late yesterday afternoon is in substance as follows:

"Induction call number 562 is announced by the provost marshal general as follows: 'During the five-day period beginning May 29, complete the entrainment for Fort McDowell, California, of 1500 men from the state of Oregon. Only white men, physically qualified for general military service are to be furnished under this call. It must be filled from within Class 1 in sequence of order numbers. If practicable the telegram relating to men assiduously engaged in the planting and cultivation of crops should be complied with. But if your local board is unable to fill its allotment from within Class 1, due to compliance with this provision, you will proceed to select such farmers as in your judgment can be best spared. This call is based upon the number of men left within Class 1. After deducting therefrom the allotment under subsequent calls your allotment under this call is forty-eight men. This call must be filled but not exceeded, and the men must be produced in exactly the manner specified, and it is necessary that the period of entrainment as announced in these routings should be strictly complied with.'

It has been generally assumed that this county would be exempt from the May draft on account of the large number already contributed to the service, but the call for additional men from this section and others who have contributed largely is evidence of the policy of the government to push the shipment of troops to France to the utmost. The board is now busily at work upon the sifting out of the Marion county contingent—a task that becomes more and more difficult on account of the large proportion of young men who are engaged in necessary industries.

300 WARRANTS SENT IN MAIL

Regular Pensioners Draw About $10,000 Monthly From Commission

Exactly 300 regular pensioners were on the rolls of the state industrial accident commission for April and their warrants were mailed Tuesday. The pensioners are a few of men who have lost their limbs under the compensation act; fathers and mothers who were dependent on men who lost their lives, or, some cases, they are men who lost arms or legs while engaged in such industrial activity.

The warrants range from $5 to $50 a month and are mailed on the 14th day of each month so they can reach the persons to whom they are issued on the following day. About $10,000 is represented in the warrants mailed Tuesday. Last month the amount was $991,811.

Recent injuries resulting in claims that have not yet been adjusted are not included in the warrants for the month. Workers who lose limbs are placed on the lists as soon as they reach the stage technically known as surgically healed, and requires from three to six months after an injury.

Warrants for regular pensioners are issued from the segregated accident fund, and for this fund a style of blank warrant, of substantial color, has been printed.

CHURCH SHOWS ITS PATRIOTISM

Resolutions Adopted at Annual Session of Evangelical Association

Resolutions showing the patriotic attitude of the Evangelical association were adopted at the Oregon conference of the church held at Milwaukie, Or., May 9 to 12. The convention was the thirty-fifth annual session. The resolutions follow:

"We, the Oregon conference of the Evangelical association, a body which from the beginning of its existence as a denomination has been distinctly American in its origin and is American in its genius and polity, and whose founder, Rev. Jacob Albright, was a soldier in the Revolutionary war, hereby express and declare our whole-hearted devotion to our government and country in this great hour of stress and trial. We are in hearty accord with the sentiments expressed officially by President Woodrow Wilson as to the reasons for our entering into the present world war, and the objectives and ideals for which we contend. Especially are we pleased because our government has declared itself free from any design of territorial or other aggrandizement, but as contending for the highest interests of humanity, and to make the world safe for democracy by the overthrow of all tyrannous and militaristic governments.

"We further pledge our loyal support to the government of the United States in its determination to prosecute the war to success and victory, and earnestly pray for our president and his advisors that they may be divinely sustained under their heavy burden of care and responsibility. We further pray that our country may be purified and strengthened in all righteousness by the experiences and sacrifices incident to the great war.

"We pray God's blessing upon our army and navy and upon our brave and noble boys who have gone into training camps and trenches to enforce the will of the nation. May they be kept pure and upright, and worthy representatives of this enlightened nation, and come back victorious to take up again the vocations of peace and progress."

Two churches of the Evangelical association are located in Salem. The church at Seventeenth and Chemecketa streets is served by Jacob Stocker, a graduate of Willamette university, and Rev. G. F. Lening, Sr., is following Rev. H. E. Abel as the pastor of the Liberty street Evangelical church.

RAIN IS BOON, FARMERS ASSERT

Cultivation More Effective in Bethel Neighborhood Since Downpour

BETHEL, Or., May 15.—The recent rain has been a great benefit to farmers in this vicinity. The ground was beginning to be too dry for efficient cultivation and clods were becoming numerous. Corn planting is under way, and on many of the farms is over. The potato crop of the neighborhood is now being planted. Grain, both wheat and oats, is looking thrifty, and for this section of the county, is occupying more than its usual acreage.

Vera Roth, small daughter of G. Roth, is very ill at the family home with pneumonia. She has been sick for more than a week, and for a time fear was felt for her life. She is under the care of three doctors, and at present seems slightly better.
