Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right off. It doesn't hurt one bit. Yes, magic!

CAN RE-ASSESS COURT DECREES

City of La Grande Is Upheld in Action Brought by Disgruntled Persons

Holding that the city charter of La Grande is valid and that the ballot title to a charter amendment extending to the city commission authority to re-assess on street improvements is sufficient, the supreme court yesterday in an opinion by Justice McCaman affirmed the lower court for Union county in the case of George J. Wagoner et al against the city of La Grande. The court holds that the Oregon constitution as it applies to the subject has no application to measures for the amendment of city charters. It is pointed out that the amendment on the subject of re-assessment is in substantially identical with section 400 of the Portland charter. The opinion holds that the La Grande commission has ample authority to re-assess. Further it is held the evidence fails to show fraud and that the preponderance of testimony shows that the improvement was in accordance with plans and specifications. Suit was instituted to enjoin the city of La Grande from collecting re-assessments made to pay for the improvement of Fourth street and enforcing the re-assessment as a lien upon the property benefited by the improvement. In the complaint facts of a prior assessment and re-assessment were alleged which a former decree of the supreme court held void. After the former opinion the city amended its charter and extended to the city commission authority to re-assess for improvements already made. When, under the amendment, the city assessed for Fourth street, the city went as far as serving notice of the re-assessments, the suit was begun to enjoin the city from collecting the re-assessments. The court sustained the re-assessment and dismissed the case and the case was appealed.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh. Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervous wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere. An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons before putting more food into the stomach. Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation.

ANOTHER SCHOONER

steamship which arrived here today. It had every evidence of having been riddled by gunfire. It may have carried the passengers and sailors who still are missing. Baited Added To List. Another ship was added to the list of victims of the U-boats when the American schooner Edward R. Baird, Jr., was found in a sinking condition off the Maryland coast after having been bombed.

The navy department reported that a destroyer had gone into action against a submarine which was attacking a French steamer not far from where the Baird was found. It has been established that at least two submarines of a large type took part in the raid. It was the U-37 which sank the Carolina and the U-151 which sent several schooners to the bottom.

While all the resources of the navy were engaged in a determined search for the sea raiders, coast cities made preparations for any emergency. All display lights were ordered extinguished in New York City and in cities and towns along the Long Island and New Jersey coasts as a precaution not only against a possible attack on the coast, but also against air raids from airplanes which it is thought the submarines carry. Lending strength to the theory that the government may have some definite ground for a fear of raids. Police Commissioner Enright tonight announced the signals which will tell of the coming of enemy aircraft. At every aviation station along the coast, flocks of planes took the air today. In some cases they went out to sea in battle formation.

PLANNED TO STAY TILL AUGUST. NEW YORK, June 4.—A member of the crew of the U-151, the German submarine which destroyed the schooner Edna, told Enoch Roker, one of the Edna's crew, Roker said here today, that the U-boat fleet plan to remain in American waters until August. Roker, for eight days a prisoner on the submarine, was rescued after he and other prisoners had been placed in the open boats of another sunken ship, and arrived here last night.

TWENTY-EIGHT LANDED. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 4.—Twenty-eight survivors of the New York and Porto Rico liner Carolina, which was sunk by a German submarine Sunday evening, were covering in hotels and at the Soldiers and Sailors club here tonight after 40 hours in the battered boat from which they landed this afternoon.

Seven of the girls, in addition to their academic work, have finished the home economics course and are excellent cooks and dressmakers. They will exhibit some of their products today when the buildings will be thrown open for inspection by visitors. Gilbo is an expert tailor. Miss Reed has completed all of the work offered in the hospital at Chemawa and will probably continue similar pursuits. Sword for Captain. The principal event Thursday will be the graduation exercises. In the morning a competitive military drill and parade will be held on the campus, a handsome sword going to the captain of the winning company and a cup to the company itself. These and all other awards will be made at the "jolly up" Friday morning. Plans have been made to provide plenty of entertainment for visitors to the Indian school today. Picnic parties on the lawn are permissible and it is hoped to draw a crowd from Salem. Dress parade will take place at 2 p. m. and a physical culture exhibit will follow this. The band will give a concert at 6:45 and at 8 o'clock students from all except the "Cinderella."

YOUTHS MUST APPEAR TODAY

All Who Have Come of Age in Last Year Must Sign as Subjects of Draft

The local war registration board will put in a long day today, the office opening an hour earlier than usual this morning and remaining open until a late hour tonight in order to accommodate all young men of the district who are compelled to register. All who have attained the age of 21 in the last year are affected by the law. The war board anticipates that the registrants will show the proper spirit by being prompt in presenting themselves before the board, as there is a great deal of clerical work connected with the registration. A large group of young men anticipated the draft call and came in a day or two beforehand to volunteer for military service. Those who were enrolled at the local recruiting office yesterday were as follows: Russell Clearwater, Salem, for cavalry; Herbert Webb, Salem, coast artillery; Frank Yprk, Shaw, coast artillery; Frank Strausbaugh, Salem, quartermaster's corps; Lloyd Nickelson, Jefferson, coast artillery; Joseph Casperson, Silverton, coast artillery; Ray Benegar, Corvallis, quartermaster's corps; Emil Elliott, Corvallis, quartermaster's corps; Dean Banting, Corvallis, quartermaster's corps; Glenn Beagle, Corvallis, infantry; James Hall, Turner, quartermaster's corps.

Less someone should forget or fail to be informed, the points of the regulations are presented below. WHO MUST REGISTER: All male persons (citizens or aliens) born between June 6, 1896 and June 5, 1917 inclusive, except officers and enlistees in the regular army, navy and marine corps, and the national guard and naval militia while in federal service, and officers in officer's reserve corps and enlisted men in reserve corps while in active service.

WHERE: At office of local board having jurisdiction where the person to be registered permanently resides, or other place designated by that local board.

HOW: Go in person June 5 to your registration place. If you expect to be absent from home June 5, go at once to the office of the local board where you happen to be. Have your registration card filled out and certified. Mail it to the local board having jurisdiction where you permanently reside. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your registration card for the return of your registration certificate. Failure to get this certificate may cause you serious inconvenience. You must mail your registration card in time to reach your home local board on June 5. If you are sick June 5 and unable to present yourself in person, send some competent friend. The clerk may deputize him to prepare your card. INFORMATION: If you are in doubt as to what to do or where to register, consult your local board. PENALTY FOR NOT REGISTERING: Failure to register is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for one year. It also results in loss of public rights and privileges, and immediate induction into military service.

NO TRICK TO LIFT A CORN RIGHT OUT

Says There is No Excuse for Cutting Corns and Injuring Lockjaw.

Soft corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority. It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection. This simple drug, while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

president with assisting in the work on his father's farm and attending the district school. Later he entered Ohio Wesleyan university which graduated him in 1872, when he was 29 years of age. While continuing the study of law after graduating from college, young Fairbanks served as agent for the Associated Press at Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Early in 1874 he was admitted to the bar.

Soon after establishing himself in the practice of law at Indianapolis, Mr. Fairbanks became an active factor in the welfare of the city and state. Although always an unwavering advocate of the doctrines of the Republican party and often solicited to enter politics, Mr. Fairbanks for many years shunned public life, preferring to devote his energies in a private way to the advancement of enterprises for public welfare and the improvement of conditions of general mankind. Chairman of Convention. Judge Walter Q. Crossan, later secretary of state, early took a liking to Mr. Fairbanks, and when the judge was a candidate for the presidential nomination in 1888, Mr. Fairbanks was in charge of his interests at the convention.

In 1892 he was chairman of the Indiana Republican convention and delivered the keynote address. The following year he was made the unanimous choice of his party for United States senator. Mr. Fairbanks was credited with much influence in bringing about the strong declaration for a gold standard at the Republican national convention in 1896, where he was temporary chairman and when William McKinley was first nominated. It was from that year that his national life dated, for he spoke for McKinley in most of the northern states during the campaign.

As a member of the senate Mr. Fairbanks was active in preparing the Dingley tariff bill, in establishing the gold standard, and in delaying the declaration of war against Spain in 1898. After the war he was a member of the American and British High Commission that settled various disputed questions. Elected to Office in 1914. In 1904 Mr. Fairbanks was elected vice president. Four years later he was presented by his friends for the Republican Presidential nomination, and although defeated, he was the only candidate who had behind him the solid support of his own state besides which he received votes from a large number of states than any other candidate, except the nominee of the convention.

Upon retirement from the vice president in 1909, Mr. Fairbanks, accompanied by his wife, made a tour of the world. On his return to his home town of Indianapolis in 1910 he was greeted by a tremendous popular ovation. In the several years following Mr. Fairbanks took comparatively little part in politics or public affairs, until nominated by Mr. Hughes on the Republican ticket in 1916. With his defeat at the polls in November of that year his public career virtually closed.

Five children, one daughter and four sons, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks. Mrs. Fairbanks, who died in 1913, was for some years president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution an influential factor in the affairs of the National Federation of Women's clubs.

"It is resolved, that in Justice McCaman this court has found an able and industrious associate and counsellor, a fearless and upright jurist, and a valued friend, from whom we part with regret. Better Service Ordered for Brownsville People

F. L. Burkhalter, superintendent of the Southern Pacific lines in Oregon, informed the public service commission yesterday that the company has restored service at Brownsville, Linn county, by which that place will have two trains in each direction daily instead of the one train service which has prevailed since the company arranged a better service at Lebanon some time ago. Several petitions were filed with the commission asking that the service be restored at Brownsville and a complaint was filed by the city of Brownsville and a complaint was filed by the city of Brownsville. This was withdrawn, however, and the commission allowed to handle the case informally. The commission took the question up with the Southern Pacific company.

Industrial School Girls Will Help Pick Berries

At the suggestion of State Treasurer Kay, Mrs. Margaret L. Mann, superintendent of the state industrial school for girls, was granted permission by the state board of control yesterday to allow the girls of the institution to pick berries during the loganberry harvest season. Some trustworthy person will be in charge of the girls. They were allowed to go into the berry yards last year and did their work in a creditable manner. Superintendent Gilbert of the state training school for boys reported that a crew of boys from the institution had finished a job satisfactory to the man who employed them.

There must be a final triumph of right or might in this war. That is the issue. No one thinks otherwise.

Poultry Breeders' Association Completes Campaign for More Producers

The Oregon Poultry Breeders' Association has just completed a campaign for the purpose of placing more poultry breeders within the state. Poultrymen of the Pacific coast donated the eggs for hatching purposes and all the people had to send in order to secure a setting of these free eggs was 30 cents for the carton and parcel post charges. Some poultrymen gave as many as 200 eggs. Two large milling companies gave $50 worth each to the cause. C. P. Williams, president of the state association and reports that it was a much greater success than was anticipated and that next year it is planned to extend the campaign over the entire five coast states and thus produce thousands and thousands of chickens which would otherwise never see the light of day. The present campaign is closed, so do not apply for hatching eggs, or advise breeders contributing free hatching eggs to this cause were: Best Run Poultry Farm, Etnacadero, Calif.; E. J. Norway Plans To Open Airplane Communication

LONDON, April 30.—A big step forward in commercial airplane communication is proposed from Norway in a plan to inaugurate at once a regular air mail service between Stavanger and Aberdeen. The submarine warfare has made the sea mails irregular across the North Sea, and the scheme for an airplane service is being energetically pushed forward by a Norwegian company with the backing of the Norwegian government. The journey across the North has already been made in five hours, and it is estimated that, in a regular service, the ordinary average time would be under four hours and a half. The British government, while it has no airplanes to spare for such purposes in war time, is prepared to give the Norwegian company every facility. The belief is general here that the British Isles should be the most important center for airplane communication between nations after the war.

FAIR PLAY IS BOARD'S RULE

Extortion by Concessioners Will Not Be Tolerated at State Fair

Rigid rules striking at extortion by concessioners and questionable enterprises have been adopted by the state fair board for the Fifty-Seventh Oregon state fair, to be held here September 22-28, A. H. Lea, secretary of the board, announces. Extortion in any form will forfeit the contract of a concessioner, the money paid under it, and also result in expulsion from the grounds. In addition all concessioners must post in a conspicuous manner at the front or entrance of their place of business a sign giving the price charged for meals, lunches, drinks, or other commodities or articles offered for sale. The rules absolutely forbid any but legitimate enterprises, and no privileges will be granted to enterprises of a questionable nature or demoralizing tendency; nor will any such enterprises be tolerated upon the grounds or in any of the buildings. Finland has been absorbed by Germany. But it will be observed that the absorbing power of the Kaiser is confined strictly to tit-bit nations.
