Hutchason's Insurance Story
Ninth Installment
James Kellier was an honest, conscientious clerk in a small grocery store. He had a nice family, a wife and 3 children. His salary was not large but he lived in his own home made from small savings. "Jim," as he was familiarly known, believed in preparedness. He could defend himself in a scrap, for he had learned the art of boxing. He carried a $5000 Mutual Life Policy. "Jim" enjoyed almost perfect health but was killed suddenly while crossing the railroad tracks—caught by a train as he stepped around the end of a box car. This happened ten years ago. The family still live in the little home and the children are almost grown. The good wife never married, she didn't need to marry for a home and the insurance policy provided enough income to tide over until the affairs could be adjusted. There are many thousands of "Jims" in the world. Are you one of them? Wise insurance counsel at the MUTUAL LIFE OFFICE 571 STATE ST. J. F. HUTCHASON, Dist. Mgr.
