Draft Men To Be Re-Classified

Major A. A. Hiss has been appointed to sit upon the legal advisory board in the absence of Attorney Roy Shields. He states that the board is soon to enter upon the work of re-classifying the registrants of all in the war divisions as there are evidences of inaccuracies in many of the questionnaires, both as to physical qualifications and the matter of dependent relations. It is the belief of the federal authorities that this investigation will result in putting a large number of men into line for active service who have hitherto been considered exempt.

Sweetening Is Limited

There is another rude jolt in store for those who have been planning to lay in a liberal supply of sugar for canning purposes. According to a recent ruling of the food administration consumers are henceforth limited to the amount of 25 pounds of sugar for canning purposes at any one order. At the same time there is in force the ruling that no person can procure more than two pounds for ordinary domestic use at any one time. However, there is no restriction upon the amount of syrup, molasses and strained honey one may wish to purchase as a substitute.

GERMANS INFLECT LOSSES.

O'LEARY ADMITS

that he became thoroughly disorganized.

Public Mind Poisoned

Against the advice of his brother, the witness said, he left New York with Arthur L. Lyons, an employee of his law office, for St. Louis and there decided that he would not "return to be persecuted." The public mind has been so "poisoned" through "prejudiced" newspapers, that he declared his trial, had he returned would have been a "political hippodrome for the newspaper fiends."

Throughout a long cross-examination, O'Leary reiterated his statement that there had been no collusion between his brother and himself, his brother and Lyons relative to his flight. He declared John was given the impression that his brother had gone to Newburgh, N. Y., to fish, rest and recuperate and that he intended returning for trial.

Decision Quickly Made

An hour or so before trial time, O'Leary declared, he was persuaded by Lyons not to go Newburgh, but to accompany Lyons to Reno, Nev. instead.

He had arranged O'Leary testified, that Lyons should represent him in the trial or a divorce action at Reno and this was the object of his assistant's trip. Lyons "took the bull by the horns," O'Leary said, bought two tickets for St. Louis without consulting him and then prevailed upon him to go west.

The defense laid much emphasis on testimony tending to show that O'Leary since his return from Sara Wash. Tuesday in custody of federal officers, had had no opportunity of conferring with his brother, counsel or others interested in John's behalf, relative to the testimony he would give today. Then Earl B. Barnes, the assistant district attorney, prosecuting the case, elicited from the Sinn Feiner a statement that he had read in this morning's New York American an interview with T. B. Felder, attorney for John J. O'Leary, which gave Felder's version of the Testimony Jeremiah "was expected to give" at the trial today "if he told the truth."

"Carpet" Gave Information

This paper, O'Leary said, he had seen at the toms prison, where he had been confined. Papers spread upon the floor of his cell as a "makeshift carpet," and which were dated as far back as June 5, furnished him with information with information of his brother's trial, he admitted.

O'Leary maintained his composure throughout the day's questioning. A smile overspread his features most of the time, but once or twice he became nettled when questioned as to the "persecution" he claimed to have feared from the government.

Postmaster Murray of Boston has had the time of his life in taking an aerial mail route trip to New York city.

TRUSTY WALKS OUT OF PRISON

Joe Schurin, Hungarian Who Makes Friends Easily, Makes Escape.

Joe Schurin, who was convicted of burglary in Multnomah county in 1911, escaped from the state penitentiary last night by walking away at the dinner hour. He was a trusty.

After serving for some time Schurin was paroled. He got into trouble in Washington and did time in Walla Walla. When he finished his sentence there he was brought back to Salem and later paroled again. He went to California where he was arrested for carrying a gun and a mask and again returned to the Oregon prison where the latest leniency shown him was placing him in the trust class.

Schurin is not considered a dangerous man, but is a crook more than ordinarily clever. He has a smiling countenance and makes friends easily. He is a Hungarian and speaks English brokenly. When Schurin left the prison, he was dressed in a light gray suit, both a hat and a cane. He is 5 feet 3 inches tall, weight about 135 pounds, of medium complexion, has dark hair and is slight of stature. Among identification marks are tattoo designs on both forearms, a woman's head and flowers on the right arm and a dagger clasped in a hand on the left arm.

Mr. Meham, who is connected with the local fruit union, announced at the meeting that he had secured two crews of about twenty men each from the Spaulding Logging company who will go out on Sunday to pick Royal Ann cherries.

M. O. Evans, of Portland, farm manager for the United States Department of Agriculture in this part of the northwest, was in the city yesterday on the local labor office in regard to the situation in this locality. He states that very much the same conditions exist in the northern counties as are being faced here, but believes a large body of fruit pickers can be gathered in Portland to help out the Marion county growers.

Incoming berry pickers were very much in evidence in the city yesterday, arriving in squads over the Oregon Electric from different sections, and tons of equipment are being transported by truck to the yards.

Anaemia and Poor Blood

How Mrs. Burnell's Daughter Recovered

Drewsville, N. H.—"My daughter was anaemic, had poor blood and suffered from indigestion and bilious attacks. As Vinol had built up my son some time ago, I gave it to my daughter, she soon improved in health, and it has built her up and restored her health."—Mrs. N. Burnell.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Miss Burnell's case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength. Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

HARRY HOXIE HAPPY YANKEE

Health Is Good and He Thinks France Is Very Enjoyable Place.

One of the happiest American soldiers in France is Harry E. Hoxie, who before he enlisted was one of the force in the office of State Insurance Commissioner Harvey Wells. Hoxie's impressions of France are given in a breezy letter to Mr. Wells and his former associates at the office in the state capital. He has a word of praise for the Y. M. C. A. and says the soldiers appreciate the efforts of the but directors to keep the Americans happy. Hoxie says he enjoyed the trip across the ocean and has been feeling fine all the time. However, he had just been given his first pass to town and was doubtful if he would feel as well when he returned to camp. Doubtless he will tell the results in a letter later. He writes:

"It has been some time since I wrote to you so now I'll drop you a line from France. After a dandy trip across the old Atlantic we arrived at this place in France. We were glad to get off the boat for there were so many of us we couldn't move around very well. The trip was very uneventful and we boys were first saw France we were sure were a happy lot. It was a beautiful day when we arrived and along the shore everything looked so pretty and green. The flowers sure put color into the scene which made it ideal. France is truly a very pretty place and so different from any place I ever saw before."

"Our camp is a dandy one. There are some living in tents and others in barracks. We at present are in barracks which are of the knock down type. I presume before long we will be on our way again. After leaving camp Johnston we have been on the go all the time."

"As yet I haven't been to town but expect to go today, as I have my first pass. The town is a queer place. We passed through it when we marched out to camp. Women are all dressed in black which, of course, is mourning. They are to be seen in the fields working all day long. Men are quite scarce and it can be noticed. Around camp the women tied. Every day they come for our camp and go with enough clothes to do for a laundry. There are a few men who have seen service and have been wounded and can not go back to the front, who sell figs, cakes and chocolate to us boys. The Y. M. C. A. huts are busy places whenever the canteen is open. They sell cigarettes, candy, gum, cookies, milk, soap, shaving articles and materials and countless other things which soldiers crave or use. They provide moving pictures and other entertainment for us every evening. I don't know what our boys would do without them. We all appreciate the efforts of the Y. secretaries to make and keep us happy."

"Yesterday afternoon the boys from the remount squadron played the French motor boys and beat them 18 to 0, in a six-inning game. Some time next week they are going to play the sailors and I hope a crowd was as well again. A great crowd was present at the game and it was real interesting."

"The French money got me mixed up at first but now I get along fairly well. It is fun to hear some of the fellows argue as to how much they have. The French know our money and make change easily and quickly."

"Nearly every day you see a couple of airplanes flying over camp. Then there is an observation dirigible or 'sausage' on duty in the sky most of the time. Don't think I would like the job being up there for very long at a time."

"I think are going fine and dandy here with me. I eat and sleep well and have not felt bum for some time. Maybe the trip to town today will have some bad effects on me but I hope not."

HUNDRED THOUSAND OUT

It impossible for the present to remove the restrictions on the bread rations.

The Hungarian government also had promised to send foodstuffs, especially considerable quantities of new potatoes.

"The readiness of Germany and Hungary," said the premier, "will alleviate in a short time the hardship to be suffered before the new harvest. The people who have displayed wonderful patriotism during the war will certainly endure this last transitory restriction in a spirit of sacrifice and thereby contribute to the successful termination of the conflict forced upon us."

RATION NOT WANTED.

LONDON, June 20.—The workmen's council of Vienna, in an all-night session ending Thursday morning, adopted a resolution demanding that the bread ration be raised immediately and that until it reached normal size greater quantities of other victuals be given the population, according to reports reaching Copenhagen and transmitted by the Exchange Telegraph Company.

The council protested against the adoption of a policy of not summoning parliament and demanded that wages be raised and night work in the factories limited as the men and women are unable to do hard work owing to the lack of food. Finally the council requested the working people to prevent riots in the streets.

NOMINATION OF OFFICERS SOON

Many Needed to Fill Vacancies—Number to Be Created Not Known.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Nomination of a long list of officers to fill vacancies in the expanding army is expected at any early date.

In a previous list, General March, the chief of staff, showed a tendency to apply the selective system without any regard whatever to seniority. He apparently picked out officers from his knowledge of their fitness for the position to which he wished to assign them.

It is probable that General Pershing, in making his selections for the overseas forces, has ignored the seniority rule also. When the last list came out the fact that the war department had applied selection absolutely while General Pershing had followed another policy, is understood to have caused some correspondence.

The number of new generals to be created is not known. It is understood, preparations are under way for twenty new divisions to go into training on this side as rapidly as quarters become available. That would mean at least 100 new general officers of the line, with a corresponding increase in the staff. The present list, however, is believed to contain 30 names, which would indicate that only a few of the officers for the new divisions are being selected now.

Dallas Box Factory Is Doing Rushing Business

DALLAS, June 20.—(Special to Statesman)—The Dallas Box Factory located just west of the public school building and operated by Barham & Friesen is doing a rushing business and receiving orders for box shooks that will keep them working night and day for some time to come.

Robert Ewing, salesman for the company, has sold several carloads of box materials to concerns in Marion county and to other parts of the Willamette valley. The company has just unloaded eight carloads of spruce box materials from Tillamook county and this will all be made into boxes for Willamette valley firms. The factory promises to be one of the large paying concerns in the city in the near future.
