BARELY MISSES FAMOUS ARTIST

Russell Brooks Writes Another Interesting Letter from France

How he barely missed meeting a very famous French artist is told by Sergeant Russell M. Brooks in a letter to his mother, Mrs. Mildred Robertson Brooks, in a recent letter from France. A French family with whom Sergeant Brooks is intimately associated stands very high socially. His letter follows:

"Right across the street from our hotel (a hotel that the U. S. took over bodily, installed beds, tables, and other necessities, their own cooks, etc.) is a wonderful old church, 'Notre Dame' (Our Lady). This is giving away no secret for every French town has its church of like name dating back from the twelfth century. A great stone edifice with a front portal that rises clear and up to the roof, no towers, to set it off, but many niches for old statues. I don't think the architecture is so very wonderful but its bulk makes it impressive. Good Friday evening I went with a good friend of mine to this church and I was so impressed that it has been continually in my mind to write some of my impressions which I have tried to do though my efforts remain far short of the effect the whole had upon my mind.

"Day before yesterday, the first day of May, was celebrated here by women selling flowers 'la premier jour male.' My French friends gave me yesterday a little piece of lily of the valley called by them 'muguet.' Our name is much more beautiful and appropriate though I think.

"Have you ever heard of J. O. B. the famous French artist whose designs are known throughout France and I hope throughout the world? He is a marquis who now devotes his time to assisting the wounded soldiers to make a living by designing toys, usually military figures which are sold at a nominal cost. I have seen many of his wonderful designs. He has designed a book on the life of Washington of which there is only one copy in France, the remainder are being printed in the United States. But what I started to say was that he was at the home of my French friends, the Lunges, the other day. As I have told you these people are very high socially and quite rich. By an unfortunate chance I had to work Sunday and missed seeing him by a short time. I have seen many of his books though and know how superb they are.

"By the way an uncle of my French soldier has a very famous wine cave (cellar) which is visited by all of the great people who come here notably the King of Spain and others. So far I have been denied the pleasure of visiting these cellars but will some day go a calling there.

"The great battle still progresses with little advantage to either. It is merely another example of the stalemate that has existed for the past four years of fighting. I am convinced that it will take our troops to turn the scale definitely, at what cost no one knows.

"Am sending you two small stamps, a sort of souvenir given me by my French friends. Literally the translation is No Germans, nothing German. One sees signs in the various stores, 'Pro Patria Rien d'Allemand.' Germany is hated with a deep hate. It was my good fortune to glance over a book that probably caused a quicker beginning of the war. The German is cartooned and lampooned without mercy. He is always pictured as wearing a green cap, spectacles, long necked, and red nosed with a clock under each arm. This latter because during the war of 1870 the Allemands (Bosches) stole all of these very fine pieces of mechanism and took them to Germany where they remain very highly prized by these looters. One can hardly wonder at the indignation common throughout France.

"This theoretical idea of punishing Germany for her own good is truly very nice philosophy but it hardly fills the requirement for the individual acts of many of these people. Perhaps collectively we do not hate the nation; we do hate the system; but more than either we despise the acts of many of the Germans who have more of the bestial in their nature than could be thought possible in a race we have known so long.

"I have been invited to go to the country place of my French family Sunday but can't get away. Besides I don't care to leave my work that long. Once get out of touch with things and you are blind for an equal length of time so far as your work is concerned."

Wright and Victor Are Called to Federal Court

Police Officer J. E. Wright and O. F. Victor of Salem have been summoned by federal authorities to appear in Portland as witnesses in a case involving the unlawful transportation of liquor into Oregon. Wright and Victor arrested Charles Cook and Charles M. Sorensen on November 30 last while they were in the act of transferring liquor from an early morning Southern Pacific train to an automobile. The arrest of Cook and Sorensen led to the apprehension of 37 other men alleged to be violating the prohibition law and the breaking up of one of the biggest bootlegging rings on the Pacific coast.

CHILDREN ARE REAL WARRIORS

Over $250,000 War Stamps
Sold by Pupils of Oregon Schools.

Five thousand Oregon school children have been enrolled in the five Junior Rainbow regiments organized by State School Superintendent Churchill for the selling of war savings stamps since the first of the year. The fifth regiment was completed yesterday. To qualify for membership in any one of the regiments it was necessary for a pupil to sell or purchase at least $50 worth of stamps.

On this basis the amount in war stamps represented by the 5000 students is $250,000, but hundreds of the children have sold far in excess of the required $50 worth, some of them making sales in excess of $1000. The amount actually represented by the five regiments cannot be computed with accuracy. Because the school year has closed enrollment in the regiments will be discontinued and Superintendent Churchill has not decided whether he will organize other regiments after the opening of the next school year.

The hundred children completing the fifth regiment are:
Helen Laugaard, Kathleen Walker, Vera Anderson, Portland; Mabel Harding, Agatha Harding, Troutdale; Robert O. Battey, Portland; Oren Primm, Oswego; Paul Johnson, Roseburg; Robert Metchan, Grants Pass; Thelma Bennett, Edward Winter, Marion Neer, Louis Ballard, Kenneth Stout, Miller Nicholson, Paul Newton, Martin Wright, Irwin Fulop, George Friede, Marian Fried, Arthur Petrie, John Anderson, Alice Schultz, George Moorad, Robert Hohmann, Elhu Jones, Lucile Moore, Lillian Projan, Robert McCormick, Berice Henry, Christine Holt, Thomas Barnard, Ruth Ballard, Frances Dick, Arnold Sanden, Mabel Johnson, Sheridan Everett, Gresham; Alma Larsen, Boring; Kenneth Scott, Maurice Buehler, Ella Lockerby, Reginald Wyld, Eva Normandin, Gladys Hoffman, Kathryn Pickard, Lillian Handt, Portland; Bert Newman, Pearl Erickson, Virginia Craig, John Larsen, Portland; Viola Stratton, Sepeca; Agnes Thelen, Salem; Elizabeth Ball, Portland; Clifford Poter, Wayne Drapper, Lena Poter, Elmira; Milas Hrbacek, Gerald Johnson, Shaniko; Pete Loftus, Enterprise; Clifford E. ### DECISIONS ARE WATER TIGHT

Appeals from Findings of Accident Board Less Than one in 1500.

Since the workmen's compensation act became operative in 1914, appeals from decisions of the industrial accident commission in settlement of claims have averaged less than one to every 1500. This assertion is made in a statement made public by the commission yesterday. Since the law became effective a total of 42,459 accidents occurring under the law have been reported to the commission, and of this number 41,181 have been settled by the board. From decisions of the commission in this number of cases only twenty-six appeals have been made.

The commission's statement says in part:
"During the year ending May 31, 1917, there were reported to the commission a total of 11,761 accidents, of which 83 were fatal, while during the past year 20,769 accidents were reported, 169 of these being fatal. The total number of work days during which workmen were exposed to the hazards of employment was equivalent to the respective years to 40,923 and 55,472 full-time workmen employed 300 days a year.

"Big Jump Shown.
"Employers contributed to the insurance fund during the past year $1,573,590.32, while in the preceding year the total was only $832,175.59. The payments made by the workmen during the same periods were $106,400.44 and $145,561.89, respectively.

"There was paid out in compensation benefits during the past year $1,266,642.74 and for the preceding year the total was $884,942.22.
"Although the compensation law is an optional one, its actual operation has resulted in a very large proportion of the industrial operations of the state subject to its provisions coming under its protection. In 1914 there were 4483 different employers operating under it, but since that time the number has steadily increased until at the present time the number of 9773 different individual employers, firms and corporations are under its protection. During the last three months out of a total of 61114 accidents reported to the commission 94.59 per cent were of accidents to workmen employed by employers under the compensation law and 5.41 per cent were of accidents to workmen employed by firms having rejected the law.

"Ratio is Lowered.
"During the year ending May 31, 1917, the cost of administration was equal to 7.68 of the total receipts, while for the past twelve months the ratio was lowered to 5.17 per cent. Out of all monies spent by the commission for every purpose since the law became effective, injured work-

Many People Enjoying Dennison's Bathing Resort

It is really a pleasure to visit Dennison's Bathing Resort at the foot of Court street and watch the enthusiastic bathers. Everything is provided that could in any way add to the enjoyment of swimmers and it is a surprise to note how many are availing themselves of the pleasures of bathing and boating. Mr. Dennison, himself an expert swimmer and instructor, is always on hand guarding and assisting beginners in the art of swimming. It is surprising to note how quickly the art of swimming is grasped under his mode of instruction.

His bath house is provided with many private dressing rooms and each bathing suit and towel is readily disinfected after being used. The water is fine the temperature being much pleasanter than usual at this time of the year. In fact, Mr. Dennison says the bathing season has commenced about a month earlier than usual.

Deschutes County People Apply for Water Rights

Settlers in Millican valley, Deschutes county, have filed an application with State Engineer Lewis for a permit to appropriate the surplus waters of East lake for the irrigation of 25,000 or 30,000 acres. East lake is in the crater of an extinct volcano in Paulina mountains about twenty-five miles south of Bend. Its waters now flow westward down Paulina creek to the Deschutes river. The proposed project is on the opposite side of the mountains and if feasible will involve heavy construction work.

CHAIN LETTER HITS PRO-HUNS

State Officials Receive Missive and Are Asked to Pass It on

Some state officials here have received chain letters designed to kill the work of German propagandists who are circulating false rumors concerning high officials, the Red Cross, conditions at cantonments, etc. The letter declares the rumors are accepted as news and are given the widest publicity by innocent persons. The chain letter follows:
"To false rumors and malicious stories constantly being circulated as facts, discrediting our high officials, the Red Cross, the care and conduct of our troops, the conditions of cantonments, etc., are German propaganda intended to create distrust and discontent among our people and to discourage those working for our country.
"These stories are accepted as news and unfortunately are given the widest circulation by patriotic Americans who do not realize that they are aiding our enemies. "The 'espionage act' provides punishment for those who convey or false reports or statements concerning our government.

"Those who are fighting for us to all such stories, and to discourage their circulation. Will you do same?
"Every loyal citizen should aid in stopping these malignant lies, enlist your friends by mailing today five or more copies of this letter. "Please do not break the chain."

The study of German has been forbidden in the public schools of many American cities; but in St. Louis, one of the strongest German municipalities in the United States it was prohibited thirty years ago. The point then made was that parents desiring their children educated in a foreign language should bear the expense and not load it on the public.
