OREGON'S POPULAR HEALTH AND PLEASURE RESORT

Enjoying Large Patronage from all over Pacific Northwest

The writer visited Wilhoit last Sunday and was one of the many hundreds who enjoyed the hospitality of F. W. McLeran, the genial manager who has conducted the resort for over thirty years. The trip was made from Salem by auto via Silverton and the road was found in very good condition for travel. The natural scenery en route made the trip enjoyable but when the auto topped the summit and Wilhoit was unfolded to view the reason why the resort has such a wide popularity was readily understood. Wilhoit nestles in a sheltered valley in the foothills, thirty-two miles from Salem. It is practically sur-

The New Wilhoit Hotel

Wilhoit is not a new resort. There has been a hotel there for forty years, and it has been nothing out of the ordinary for 5000 people to visit the resort in a single day. On the 22nd day of February, 1916, the hotel which had afforded accommodations for so many years was destroyed by fire. Though the destruction of the hotel was a heavy financial loss, Mr. McLeran lost no time in commencing the construction of a still more attractive hostelry to take its place. For several years Mr. McLeran had contemplated the construction of a new hotel and the fire simply hurried his work in doing so. His plans had always embraced the scheme of a massive building of rustic architecture, constructed wholly of the massive fir trees growing nearby. The new hotel is the realization of his plans. It is artistic in the true sense of the word and harmonizes with the surrounding scenery. It was completed early in July and opened to the public July 22. The new hotel is 68 by 74 feet, constructed of logs varying from fifteen to eighteen inches in diameter. Along the entire front is a porch 68 feet long and 12 feet wide, affording a lounging place where guests may enjoy the invigorating mountain breezes. A generous sized door leads into the lobby, surrounded on three sides by a balcony which is provided with a baby grand piano. The dining room is capacious, neat, clean and cheerful. The service is excellent and the meals are a revelation to the epicure—especially the Sunday dinner which is provided for the modest sum of $1.25. There is an air of refinement and refreshing ease about the entire place, due in a great measure to the courteous and attentive treatment afforded by Theodore McLeran and his charming wife, who are ever present to minister to the wants of guests.

The Mineral Springs

The product of Wilhoit Mineral springs, both water and salts, furnishes to people far and near what may correctly be called a curative luxury. Besides its curative property, it is excellent and the meals are a revelation to the epicure—especially the Sunday dinner which is provided for the modest sum of $1.25. There is an air of refinement and refreshing ease about the entire place, due in a great measure to the courteous and attentive treatment afforded by Theodore McLeran and his charming wife, who are ever present to minister to the wants of guests.

The best results will be obtained in chronic diseases of the exterior skin of the mucous membrane, and of the organs of respiration, in disturbance of digestion, nervous complaints, rheumatism, gout, scrofula, swelling of the mill, fever piles and obesity.

Thus did these springs attain a place in the international scientific world as among the most efficient in their class. How well they have maintained this distinction can be determined by the most superficial inquiry. Suffice it to say that Wilhoit mineral water has become a regular and indispensable beverage among tens of thousands, and it is bottled and shipped to thousands of others who prefer it to the water of other reputable springs.

Wilhoit water has proved its wonderful curative value for typhoid fever, dyspepsia in all its forms, liver, kidney and bladder trouble, biliousness, nervous prostration, nervousness and sleeplessness in all forms, catarrh of bladder and of nasal passages, rheumatism of all kinds, seasickness, flatulence, water brash or sour stomach, heartburn, nausea, green sickness, suppression and many female disturbances, jaundice and stricture.

Dyspepsia—A tumblerful before and after each meal. A single glass relieves flatulence, water brash, sour stomach or heartburn.

Nervous complaints—For nervous prostration, nervousness or sleeplessness the water should be drunk freely with a liberal drink on retiring. If possible it is better to go to the springs where regular bathing and drinking can best be made certain. In these cases marvelous results have followed a visit to the springs.

Kidney and Liver complaints, Biliousness, Catarrh of the Bladder—Drink freely to the exclusion of all other drinks as far as possible.

Nasal Catarrh—Snuff the water, lukewarm, up the nose, one nostril at a time. A nasal syringe or douche three times a day is better.

Rheumatism—For best results visit the springs where you can drink rounded by giant fir trees few of which are less than 350 feet in height. Beneath these trees is one of the most ideal camping grounds imaginable, made available to the public for the nominal sum of 50 cents per week for each adult person. Rock creek, a small mountain stream, ripples its course among the trees, affording opportunity for lovers of trout fishing to enjoy the sport. The air is clear and fresh—saturated with the fragrance of Oregon firs. It is an ideal place for children they can play to their heart's content and cannot get hurt or lost. Scattered through the grounds beneath the shade of the sheltering firs are many small cottages which are rented to visitors who prefer them to the pleasures of camp life. For those who desire hotel accommodations the new hotel offers a service par excellence.

BEST IN THE LONG RUN

When War Invaded The Air

THE eyes of the army were first set in the sky when the French Revolutionary forces, using the first war balloon, won the battle of Fleurus, 1794. It was a Montgolfier balloon, the type the Montgolfier brothers developed from Cavallo's crude experiments in 1766 with hydrogen-filled pig bladders. Goodrich follows the flag into the sky. One hundred and twenty-five years after the first war balloon, the battles of the air find not only Goodrich Dirigibles and Montgolfier balloons in the thick of it, but also—

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Women are replacing men as elevator operators in the government buildings at Washington. Women of Louisiana are jubilant over the prospect of securing full suffrage rights at an early date. Women employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to sort scrap iron are paid 22 cents an hour for their work. The Merchant's Association of Lafayette, Ind. has elected a woman as general secretary of their organization. Bryn Mawr college in connection with the Y. W. C. A., will open a school July 1, for training college women for industrial purposes. Mrs. Ida Sammis of Huntington, L. I., a prominent suffragist, is mentioned as a possible candidate for the New York general assembly this fall. Hundreds of young women clerks are soon to be seen behind the counters in the "chain" cigar stores throughout the United States and Canada. Measures to protect the interests of women workers occupy a prominent place in the after-the-war program formulated by the British Labor party.
