GOOD WEATHER LOWERS PRICE

Interest Entirely Professional—Is Concentrated on Few Issues.

CHICAGO, June 29—Lower prices for corn resulted from the improved weather. The market closed unsettled, 1/4 to 1/2c down, oats finished 1/4c off to 1/2c advance and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a gain of 25 cents.

Relief from excessive heat in the Southwest was shown and there were Kansas and Nebraska rain reports which induced considerable selling of corn. Besides, the indications pointed to generally normal conditions throughout the coming week. Buying support was limited from the outset. Even the usual week-end adjustment of trades failed to bring about any important reaction notwithstanding that primary receipts for the week were smaller than last year.

There was some belated covering in June oats and that option closed higher. Other deliveries of oats sympathized with the weakness of corn. Nothing was heard of export demand.

Liberal shipments of meats made provisions average higher. Declines in the value of hogs failed to act as an offset. Most of the pit business consisted of changing.

Every pastor in Salem is asked to make the following announcement to his congregation Sunday:
To Loyal American Women—Most Urgent Need for Workers at Postoffice.

All patriotic American women and girls are urged to devote some time each week to the making of surgical dressings. This is not vacation time for the soldiers in France. The boys in the trenches can't quit when the weather is hot or the fighting gets strenuous.

Every added day of fighting makes a demand for more sponges, compresses, pads, etc., etc.
It is your patriotic duty to help Willamette chapter fill its obligation to the nation.

See editorial in Oregonian of June 26. See Oregonian, page 5, June 27. Night workers—Monday of each week—only for those employed during the day.

Outfielder Wickland and Pitcher Filling, the Indianapolis stars of last season, have caught with the Braves and are performing in true big time fashion.

While the Cardinals are not yet in the championship class, the St. Louis crew does show quite an improvement over its pastime in the earlier part of the season.

RESOLUTIONS EXTEND TIME FOR CONTROL

Industrial or plant facility lines, or others which do not seek to remain under government control and over which no issue existed. Many of those relinquished may be taken back later, it was announced, and all will be given fair divisions of joint rates, insured a reasonable car supply and protected against undue disturbance in traffic routing. Special study will be given their problems by a new short line section of the railroad administration.

Short lines represent about 20,000 miles of track in the United States, or about one-seventh of the total railway mileage.

The legislation of congress was in the form of a resolution extending from July 1 to next January 1 the period in which the railroad administration could have been forced to decide its course affecting short lines with an amendment providing that the lines in competition or in physical connection with railways operated by the government should not be turned back to private management against their will.
