Commercal Club to Put on Membership Campaign

For the purpose of devising ways and means for increasing the membership and injecting new ife into the Salem Commercial club, the directors and officers met at a luncheon at the Marion hotel yesterday noon. A number of pertinent suggestions developed from the discussion of existing conditions, and as a result it was voted that President F. W. Steusloff and Manager R. S. Gill, together with Treasurer S. B. Elliott, should take some of the suggestions under advisement and map out a campaign for new members that would be as close and effective as a liberty loan drive. Bingham's Court Opens for Big Week's Work

The July term of the circuit court opened yesterday forenoon with Judge George G. Bingham presiding. A large part of the day was devoted to hearing of motions and demurrers and the assignment of cases, there being enough work in sight to keep the court busy throughout the week. Among other cases heard yesterday was the objections of heirs in the S. A. Matthieu case, which was appealed from the county court.

In the course of the week the court will give attention to petitions for final naturalization papers, there being about fifteen residents of this county whose applications for final papers have been posted the required period of ninety days. Among them are several Canadian subjects, for whom there is the barest possibility of an interception in formality of obtaining American citizenship By a recent treaty with Great Brittain, subjects of that country in America who have not attained to full citizenship are liable to be taken under draft for Canadian or British service.

Unless there is ample rainfall in restern Oregon within the next week said yesterday. If rainfall were to come within a week the governor thinks the crop as it stands at present, would be doubled with the result of about an average yield. If the dry spell continues more than a week or ten days the governor hinks the states crop will not yield more than one-third of a crop of first class straw.

Governor Withycombe was in his office yesterday after a vacation of a month spent on the state experiment farm in Union county. He reports that eastern Oregon had had more rain than western Oregon and says continued dry weather will work a hardship on western Oregon farm-
