SHORT STATURE NOT OBSTACLE

Red-Haired Irishman Gets Into Army After Discharge Is Ordered

CAMP LEWIS, TACOMA, Wash., July 3.—Ordered discharged from the army because he was too short William E. O'Rourke, a red-haired and Irish, refused to sign the discharge papers and through his persistence his disqualification was waived and he is now a national army soldier in the 21st company, seventh battalion, 165th depot brigade. O'Rourke came to camp in the June draft from Heppner, Or., being captain of his local board's contingent. He has three brothers in Irish regiments and he wants to fight. But he is only five feet one inch tall. When he was ordered discharged, O'Rourke returned to his barracks and insisted on going with his company to drill. He was so insistent his case was laid before the mustering officer and special dispensation granted. O'Rourke was second highest of his company of 250 men in the psychological test and quick to learn. There isn't a happier man in camp tonight than O'Rourke. He is the only member of his family in the United States.

Private William C. Moodie, self-confessed member of the I. W. W. raiding party at Everett, Wash., in which several persons were killed, today is a prisoner at camp, awaiting the result of a court martial trial on a charge of disobedience of orders and refusing to sign his enlistment card.

STATE AID IS NOT NECESSARY

Marshall Tells Conditions on Which He Would Have It Dropped

On condition that provision be made for the state to stand administration expense of the industrial accident commission, the commission will favor action at next session dropping the state aid for accident insurance under the workmen's compensation act. This assertion was made by Commissioner W. A. Marshall yesterday following a conference of members of the commission with State Senator B. L. Eddy of Roseburg, chairman of the committee appointed by the last legislature to investigate the feasibility of withdrawing state aid and making the law compulsory in its application.

Mr. Marshall agrees with Senator Eddy that compulsory workmen's compensation is inevitable, and does not believe that the enactment of such a measure would cause any disturbance to industries not now under the act because of the large majority of firms that have elected to avail themselves of the law. Marshall believes that a compulsory clause should be part of any measure removing state aid.

"If the legislature should take action removing state aid," said Mr. Marshall and leave only an amount sufficient to take care of administration cost, the latter provision should be made a continuing appropriation. Limited to a certain figure.

Legislation giving the commission authority to regulate rates, Mr. Marshall believes would be highly desirable for the reason that changes might be imperative and should sudden changes in conditions occur such as might come following a cessation of the war.

PRISON ONLY TO BE TALKED

Probable Deficiencies in Other Institutions Not Up Until Later

Deficiencies likely to exist at state institutions aside from the penitentiary will not be discussed at the meeting of the state emergency board to be held here Friday. The board of control yesterday informed superintendents of institutions that any deficiency appropriations that may be necessary will be taken up at a meeting to be held later in the year. Dr. E. L. Steiner, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane, estimated that exclusive of any consideration for the commissary department, that institution would have to meet a deficiency of from $40,000 to $50,000, while if the commissary is kept up to the high standard ordinarily maintained, the amount needed will be about $120,000.

The hospital maintenance fund shows a balance of $98,376.83, and present prices on supplies show an approximate average increase of 40 per cent over prices at the first of the year.

The state board yesterday allowed salary increases for employees at the State Training school. Signing of a contract with the Portland Railway, Light and Power company for lighting state institutions will be helped until an engineer of the public service commission has investigated the company's rate schedule.

WAR SUMMARY

American troops standing at Vaux, northwest of Chateau Thierry, have completely smashed repeated and determined counter-attacks by the Germans who sought to oust the Americans from their new positions. That the Germans have tried desperately to reverse the decision in the battle is an indication that the occupation of Vaux is viewed as important by the enemy commanders.

Over the lines held by Pershing's men there has been bursting a storm of steel from the German cannon, high explosive and gas shells being intermingled in the projectiles hurled by the foe's cannon. The Americans, however, have not yielded a foot of ground, and when the enemy attacked, he was permitted to approach close to the American lines before a storm of bullets cut through his ranks and broke his attack.

As a result of these assaults the Germans have lost very heavily, the ground being covered with their dead and wounded. They have, in addition, lost many prisoners. The battle is still being fiercely waged. French units are said to be engaged in the region of Vaux, but it is probable that they are not very numerous.

The battle at Vaux has seemingly absorbed most of the activity on the western side of the salient running north from the Marne, but far up toward the Oise river, at Moulin sous Touvent, a little village east of the De Laigne forest, the French have struck the German line over a front of nearly two miles and have penetrated to a depth of approximately half a mile. Prisoners to the number of 457 have been reported captured.

The British were unable to retain the positions they seized on Sunday near Bouaincourt, north of Albert. After a terrific bombardment, the Germans succeeded in recapturing the ground. On the north side of the Picardy sector at Boyelles and Moyenneville, in the Lys sector, at Merris, the British have taken prisoners in raiding operations.

The Italians have again shifted their attack and this time have chosen the Piave front for a demonstration of their strength. After a bombardment which reached drum fire intensity, the Italians crossed the Piave northeast of Capo Sile. In spite of the flooded areas before them, they made some progress, which is admitted by Vienna; and captured 1000 prisoners, as well as taking valuable war material. Austrian counter-attacks in the Grappa region have been repulsed.

American airmen have participated in combats during the fighting at Vaux and are credited unofficially with destroying seven German machines. In the fighting on Tuesday, the British destroyed thirteen enemy airplanes and forced nine more to descend out of control.

The Ukraine government, which was set up by the German military authorities there, is tottering to its fall, it is reported.

Snyder Is Commissioned as Artillery Captain

DALLAS, Or., July 3.—Will Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. R. Snyder, of this city, has been commissioned a captain of artillery in the officers' training camp at Camp Lewis, according to information received by his parents here, and has been sent to Camp Taylor, Ky., to take an advanced course in training. Captain Snyder was a student at the University of Oregon and when the war broke out he immediately quit school and enlisted with Uncle Sam's forces. He was a member of the famous football team of Oregon that played against an Eastern team in Los Angeles about two years ago. He is a brother of First Lieutenant G. L. Snyder, of the Salem company of the state police.

Kelly Butte Population Will Not Be Received at State Hospital

Until further notice all insane commitments from Multnomah county will be to the Eastern Oregon Branch Hospital for the Insane instead of to the Salem institution. This action of the board of control was taken yesterday because of a marked increase in the population of the state hospital here which has crowded the institution almost to capacity.

Superintendent Steiner told the board that he has to keep a careful watch on the Multnomah county commitments to commit to the state hospital women held at Kelly Butte, many of whom are drug fiends and moral degenerates, but who properly do not belong in a hospital for the insane. This tendency of the Multnomah court has added somewhat to the population of the Salem institution. The board will take care that commitments of this character are not made to the Pendleton hospital.

The month of June, Dr. Steiner reported, showed a greater influx of population to the hospital than ever before in a like period. He does not know the explanation, but believes the cause is the stress of war which has a tendency to drive extremely nervous persons to the insane state. Dr. Steiner and Secretary Goodin said the Pendleton hospital has accommodations for a large number of additional patients. Dr. Steiner suggested that the next fifty commitments from Multnomah county be sent there, a number which would be exhausted in five or six weeks, but the board voted to make the order until further notice.

Many Inquiries About Stamps Is Over $13,000

MOUNT ANGEL, Or., July 2.—The results of the war savings stamps campaign in Mt. Angel to date is total stamps sold and subscriptions received, $13,440. At the mass meeting held in city hall Friday night it was voted that present chairman and committees remain on duty the balance of the year.

RETAIN 533 SHORT LINES

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The railroad administration announced tonight that 533 short line railroads have been retained under government control. All employees of these lines will receive the wage awards made to employees of steam roads and owners will be compensated under the general district.

A. P. Howe Returns to Salem From Battlefields

Honorably discharged from service after recovering from serious wounds received in battle, A. P. Howe Jr., formerly of this city, arrived in Salem recently for a visit with friends and relatives previous to going to his home in Brownsville. Three years ago he enlisted with the Canadian regiment at Vancouver, B. C., and has served for a large part of the time as a dispatch bearer in various parts of the war zone and participated in numerous engagements, among others the battle of Arras. In course of one of the battles during the past year he was caught under a shower of shrapnel and was severely wounded. As a result of this he spent several months in an English hospital, and after being returned to this country was interned at a hospital in Vancouver. He left yesterday for a brief visit in Portland.

Dr. Roberts Sentenced to Year of Correction

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 3.—Dr. David Roberts, veterinarian of Waukesha, Wis., today in district court was sentenced to one year in the Milwaukee house of correction after pleading guilty to statutory charges while in the company of Grace Lusk at a Milwaukee hotel on April 4 and 27, 1917.

Grace Lusk is now serving a 19-year sentence in state's prison for the murder of Mrs. Mary Newman Roberts, wife of the doctor.
