

Chautauqua Week In Salem July 21 to 27

COMMUNITY RALLYING GROUNDS

Chautauqua week is coming—days filled with the delight of splendid music, fascinating entertainment, interesting and instructive lectures. For a week the world is brought to your door. The country's best lecturers, musical companies, entertainers, come to teach, to improve, to brighten and lighten.

Under the cool brown tents too, you will find more than instruction and entertainment. For a week you, your friends and your neighbors will laugh together, think, appreciate, cry, aspire, discuss and determine in common unity. This congenial neighborly association, unconsciously perhaps, welds together a community unit. For, be it known, the Chautauqua is America's greatest community builder.

There's a Chautauqua Near You

No matter where you live in the West, there is an Ellison-White Chautauqua near you. Every city or town in the thirteen Western states and four Western Canadian provinces will either have an assembly or be within easy access of one. Five great circuits cover every main line of travel and touch many places off the beaten paths. An inquiry sent to any of our offices will bring you information about the dates and program of your Chautauqua.

SUMMER SCHOOLS OF PATRIOTISM

President Wilson has said that the Chautauqua "is a patriotic institution that may be said to be an integral part of the national defense." The issue of this great struggle depends, to a large extent, on the way public opinion is stimulated and directed. A country of one mind is invincible. The Chautauqua is America's greatest forum and offers a manner of reaching the masses and effecting a solidarity of opinion rivaled only by the press.

Ellison-White Chautauquas are dedicated to national service. Upon every program this year will appear accredited-government lecturers speaking upon the vital war problems at home and abroad.

From the Gulf to Hudson Bay

From the cotton and cane fields of Louisiana to the wheat and flax fields of the far Canadian North stretches the brown-tented summer trail of the Ellison-White Chautauquas. During our winter months the big khaki tents will cross the equator and see service under the summer skies of the Australian Continent. In territory covered and communities served, the Ellison-White System is the largest in the country and in the history of the movement.

Miss Vivian Bretherton of Portland left last week for Berkeley where she will pass several months devoting her time to art study at the University of California summer school. She will be entertained by friends in both Berkeley and San Francisco while away. Miss Bretherton has been a frequent guest here of her sister, Mrs. Clifford Brown. Word has been received that their brother, Percy Bretherton, who also is well known here has been ordered east from Camp Lewis where he has been stationed and presumably is on his way to France. He is in the ambulance department.

House guests at the Joseph Albert home are Mrs. O. E. Krause and her daughter, Mrs. Glen Siegel (Helen Krause) of Portland. The Alberts, accompanied by their guests, Mrs. J. C. Griffith, and their daughters, Mary Jane and Josephine, are enjoying a week-end outing at Wilhoit springs. Later about the middle of the month, Mrs. Albert, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Krause and the Misses Albert will leave for Newport where they will pass the summer at the Albert cottage on Nye Beach.

Mrs. William McGilchrist Jr. and two children, Josephine and Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cornoyer and their daughter, Josephine, left yesterday for Newport, motoring over. They will remain for the summer, occupying the McGilchrist cottage at Nye Beach. Mr. McGilchrist will join them over the week-ends.

Guests at the J. A. Churchill home are Mr. and Mrs. James P. Elton (Florence Churchill) and small daughter, Jane, of Astoria, who will remain for the summer. Other guests to be entertained later will be Miss Iris Bluit of Eugene and Miss Olive Risley of Oregon City, sorority sisters of Miss Doris Churchill at the University of Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kay and Miss Marjorie Kay expect to leave on a two-weeks' motor trip to Ranier Park about the first of August. Previously Miss Kay will join a sorority sister, Miss Beulah Smith and her parents of Pendleton at Seaside where she will pass a fortnight.

Mrs. W. Connell Dyer has with her as her house guest for ten days Mrs. H. G. Large and her daughter, Harriett, of Los Angeles, California, who arrived Tuesday. Mrs. Large was a sorority sister of Mrs. Dyer during their years at the University of Oregon, and is remembered as Miss Hazel Bean.

Monday evening a group of folk motored to the beautiful J. C. Currie country place near Pratum where an informal musical evening was enjoyed. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rahn, Mrs. Lois Lucile Junk, Miss Dorothy Pearce, Ralph H. Zecher of New York City, Mrs. Clarence W. Keene and Miss Fielda McClaine of Silverton.

Another Salem young woman to win unusual recognition through her musical ability is Miss Ruth Field, who leaves in September for Calcutta, India, where she goes to take charge of the music department in the Methodist Girls' Boarding school. She will also have charge of the pipe organ in the First Methodist church of that place.

Miss Field goes under the Columbia river branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church, receiving her appointment last fall at the executive meeting in Detroit, Michigan. Her contract covers a period of five years. Miss Fields is the daughter of Mrs. Dexter Field, and the late Dexter Field, old and well known residents. She is a graduate of Willamette university of the college of liberal arts, of the class of '06.

She received her musical education at the Willamette college of music, under Dr. Heritage, later taking pipe organ work with Prof. T. S. Roberts. For two years she had charge of music in the public schools of Washington, later teaching privately in Salem.

Mrs. Frank Benson, who has been passing ten days in Salem as the guest of the Judge Henry L. Benson's and Arthur S. Benson, left Friday for Portland where she will be for a while with friends. She plans to visit her son, Clifford Benson, at his country home near Gardner during the summer.

Mrs. Benson claims Eugene as her residence during the winter, she being a house mother at one of the sorority houses there.

In these days of frenzied activities in war relief work we have become so familiar with the window hangers bearing the insignia of the Red Cross, the United States Food Administration and the flag of the liberty loan, telling of allegiance and loyalty that a new and different one makes us literally sit up and ask questions.

Perhaps you have already noticed this new emblem of the star, within a star. Perhaps you are one who has asked questions. If you are you know that it represents the Friends' War Relief service. Otherwise you probably know nothing about it because the groups of women who have been carrying on the effort have been working away right here in our own city, as well as in every city of size in the United States, for the relief of the people who have felt most keenly the ravages of war, and they have worked so devotedly that they have had little time to tell of their work, and it has all been done so quietly that we have not found out on our own account.

These women are members of the Friends' church, and others from outside who have become interested in the undertaking. They are segregated into clubs which are in turn a part of the American Friends' service committee of the Red Cross, a distinctive organization formed by the Friends in America, which is known in France in the reconstruction work as "the Friends' unit," a bureau of the department of civil affairs of the American Red Cross and has a different relation to the latter than any other unit or organization, for although a bureau of the Red Cross, it is maintained as a distinctive unit, under the name of the society of Friends, and is in consequence entirely financed by them, as an expression of their service.

Heading the list of officials in Oregon is President Pennington of Pacific College.

Mrs. F. A. Elliott not only supervises all local activities but is superintendent of the sewing department for the state. Rev. H. E. Pemberton is another state officer to be named from Salem.

In the two departments of the Red Cross in France that of the civil affairs most of the workers with the exception of the executive and official members are part of the Friends unit, and their work has been so
