Patients From Salem to Be Sent to Pendleton

Fifty patients from the State Hospital for the Insane are to be transferred to the hospital at Pendleton and will leave Salem next Tuesday morning. It is believed they can reach Pendleton the same day. The transfer is to be made in accordance with action taken by the state board of control which decided at its last meeting to commit patients from Multnomah county to the Pendleton institution for some time to come, but later at the suggestion of Superintendent W. D. McNary of the Pendleton institution, decided to transfer instead. The removal of patients from the Salem institution is necessary to relieve congestion.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

Doc Johnston got away to a good start on his recent tour into the big show as first sacker for the Cleveland Indians.
In both the playing and the financial ends of the game the St. Louis Cardinals certainly have been up against it this season.
"Happy" Folsch of the White Sox hasn't been breaking the fences this season as he was in the habit of doing last year.

Opinions for Schulderman

If three Wallowa county farmers, who have organized an Irrigation company, known as the Grouse Creek Mutual Ditch company, wish to file their articles of incorporation in their present form, they must file them with the state superintendent of banks and put up securities of $50,000, although the capitalization of the company is only $300. This is the ruling of Assistant Attorney General Van Winkle in an opinion that he has organized a trust instead of a general corporation and must comply with the trust law. Inquiry was made of the attorney general's office by Corporation Commissioner Schulderman who asked if the articles could be filed in his department. The firm's place of business is Inna, Wallowa county.

Hearings on Revenue Bill Brought to End

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The house ways and means committee today closed hearings on the new $3,000,000,000 revenue bill after re-examination of Charles Johnson, representing magazine and periodical publishers, and Jesse M. Neale, spokesman for publishers of trade papers, who presented final arguments for repeal of the zone system of rates for second class mail. Both witnesses urged the adoption of a flat rate of two cents a pound or any other flat rate that would apply equally to all publications, and not discriminate against those of national wide circulation. The committee will bring executive sessions Monday on framing the revenue bill, although the treasury will not have ready a great deal of essential data regarding incomes and excess profits until early in August.

by the allied governments and affecting practically the entire world.
The house is expected to pass the bill tomorrow with the price-fixing amendment eliminated, leaving the guaranteed price at $2.20 a bushel. Some senators from wheat-growing states were disposed tonight to urge the senate to pass the bill over the president's veto while others suggested that the wheat price amendment might be added to the $11,000,000 emergency agricultural bill to which is attached the prohibition amendment.

DEBATE CONTINUES

VAUDEVILLE TODAY

Everything breaks "bad" for Charlie Lynn in the new Paramount-Sennett comedy, "Two Tough Tenderfeet," which will be shown at the Oregon theater today. He always draws the gritty end of the steak. Everything is soft for Ben, on the other hand. Ben just falls into everything, including love.
In one of the funniest scenes of the comedy, Charlie comes crawling into a tough little desert town, frayed and tired and half starved. He sneaks humbly into a frontier boarding house and the first thing he sees is Ben, whom he had given up as lost in the stomach of an unfriendly lion.
Ben is all slicked up and polished. He is just finishing a turkey for dinner. Poor, tough Charlie slides hungrily into a chair with watering chops. But Ben feels his pulse and decides that Charlie isn't feeling well enough to eat turkey; so the feast fades away. Charlie was just born to rotten luck.

wheat in the United States would force a corresponding increase in the price of Canadian wheat. The allied governments would, of course, be obliged to make all of their purchases at the increased figure, and the whole scale of their financial operations in this country, in which the government of the United States is directly assisting, would be thereby correspondingly enlarged. The increase also would add very materially to the cost of living, and there would inevitably ensue an increase in the wages paid in practically every industry in the world. These added financial and economic difficulties, affecting practically the whole world can not, I assume, have been in contemplation by the congress in passing this legislation.
