SATURDAY, NOT SUNDAY SABBATH

So Says Evangelist Dickson-Defends His Position by Scripture

Saturday, not Sunday, is the Sabbath of the Bible, and is the day all people ought to keep, especially Christians, who profess to be following in the footsteps of Christ, according to Evangelist Dickson who spoke Sunday night in the big Hay-ward-Dickson tent, on Court street, on the subject, "Is All the World Wrong in Keeping Sunday?"

The Evangelist took for his text Mark 2:27,28 and said in part: "The Sabbath in the Bible is spoken of in respect to but one day, and all Bible students agree that the day referred to was the seventh day of the week commonly called Saturday. And when Jesus said that the Sabbath was made for man he did not mean the Jew any more than Paul meant the Jew man only when said that the woman was created for the man. (1 Cor. 11:9). But the word man in the text is given in the original in the generic sense meaning man-kind including every man and every ma and every woman in the earth.

The Making of the Sabbath.

"There would be no trouble on the part of Christians in finding the true Christian Sabbath if men would look carefully into the making of the Sabbath Institution," continued the speaker. For the Word very clearly tells us that Jesus Christ was the Creator with God in the beginning and that without Him was not any-thing made that was made. Jn. 1:1-3, Eph. 3:9, Col. 1:12-17. And inasmuch as Jesus clearly states in our text that the Sabbath was made we conclude that Jesus the Creator of things visible and invisible made it 2000 years before a Jew existed.

The Teaching and Example of Christ

"When we look into the teaching and example of Christ and His ap-ostles we find that they continually practised the keeping of the true Sab-bath, the seventh day of the week. For it is said of Jesus according to Lu. 4:16 that when He came to Nazareth where he had been raised He, as His manner was, went into the synagogue to preach on the Sab-bath day. Again by turning to the statement in the book of Acts (Acts 17:2) we find that this same habit of life was practised by the apostle Paul, not only once but all through his ministry as recorded in the book of Acts (Acts 18:4, 11; 13:42; 16:13) and that in all a total of over thirty definite meetings did he hold on the Christian Sabbath, the seventh day of the week.

"Again it is staid that because it is recorded in the 20th chapter of Acts that Paul preached to the be-lievers at the time of their evening meal at Troas just prior to his de-parture and gave them a farewell talk therefore Paul was teaching the observance of the first day of the week. In the first place according to Bible reckoning of time, the day began at sunset and ended the same, making Paul preach on the dark part of the first day of the week, for there were many lights in the upper chamber. This would be upon Sat-urday night, according to our reck-oning today. And beside all this damaging evidence, if he had actual-ly held a meeting every Sunday that would not change the Sabbath of the decalogue, or attach any sacredness to the first day of the week. It takes more than the action of a puny man even though he be as godly and as great as Paul, to change the works of the Creator. No, my friends, the Sabbath of the Bible was not changed or abrogated. There is no Scriptural evidence of Sunday sacredness. And when John, the prophet, in Rev. 1:10 spoke of the Lord's day he was speaking of the same day of which our text speaks when it says, "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath. Therefore, the Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath." Therefore, I conclude that the Lord's day is the Sabbath day, the seventh day of the week.

ODD AND INTERESTING.

England is saving $5,000,000 a year out of the refuse of the military camps.

In parts of Ireland silver is so scarce that change is given in post-age stamps.

The penny stamps on bank checks yielded the British treasury nearly $10,000,000 last year.

Australia has already assumed an annual liability of more than $15,000,000 for war pensions.

The shortest verse in the Old Testa-ment is 1 Chronicles 1. 25, which consists of three names only.

The skin of the female shark, which is smoother than that of the male, is used extensively for sword handles.

In Sumatra the horn of the rhinoceros is deemed to be an antidote for poison, and drinking-cups are made of it.

The state flag of Michigan was first unfurled at the laying of the cornerstone for the soldiers' monu-ment at Gettysburg, July 4, 1865.

A girl of Brighton, England, boasts that, since the war began, she has been engaged sixteen times, and has broken every engagement herself.

The bagpipe was known in England and Ireland as early as the twelfth century and is believed to have been in existence before the Christian era.

It has been proved that human bones will bear a pressure three times greater than oak, and almost as much as wrought iron, before being crushed.

M. Clemenceau, premier of France, has fought more duels than almost any other man in Europe and has come out of them with scarcely a scratch.

In an egg-laying competition in Australia a Black Orpington hen laid 325 eggs in twelve months, which is claimed to be a world's record for any breed.

Prayers are said daily in the British House of Commons, and it is a curious fact that all the members stand during prayers, not kneel, as is the usual custom.

In England the dried skin of the male shark, which is extraordinarily rough, is used extensively for clean-ing the hulls of ships and for engi-neering purposes in place of emery wheels.

The leaves of the aspen or trembling poplar are popularly believed to quiver even when there is no wind. It is supposed that the Savior's cross was made of this tree, and that hence its leaves cannot rest.

Until quite recently it was the cus-tom of the Royal Mint to color or tarnish the farthing before putting it into circulation, owing to the fact that the coin when new and bright bore too striking a resemblance to the gold half-sovereign.

G. ED. ROSS QUILTS POST

Secretary of Highway Com-mission May Take Posi-tion at Washington

G. Ed. Ross, secretary of the state highway commission will leave Wed-nesday for Washington, D. C., hav-ing been given three week's leave of absence to investigate a position ten-dered him by the construction divi-sion of the war department. Mr. Ross expects to accept the position. F. L. Klein, assistant state highway engineer, will temporarily become secretary of the commission.

The position offered Mr. Ross is that of auditor for the division and will require his traveling outside of Washington. Mr. Ross has been with the highway department three and one-half years and one of his achievements was the installation of the present accounting system, which is pronounced by Seth L. Rob-erts, of the firm of Crandall & Rob-erts, public accountants of Portland, to be one of the most perfect he has ever seen. Before his connection with the highway department Mr. Ross was with the Tamalo Irrigation project under the desert land board and prior to that was with the res-urvation department of the govern-ment. The books of the highway de-partment are to be audited before Mr. Ross leaves, and Mr. Roberts is now here for that purpose.

FEWER AT HEALTH RESORTS THIS YEAR

Increased expenses in traveling and at health resorts will keep many away from the mountains this year, according to a survey made by the American Red Cross. The survey shows that the cost of a week's stay at a health resort is now about $100, and that many people are unable to afford it. The survey also shows that the number of people who are staying at health resorts is down 25 per cent from last year.

WAR DOMINATES DAY'S TRADING

Resumption of Delayed Drive Causes Increased Weak-ness

NEW YORK, July 15.—The war situation was the dominant factor in today's stock market, prices re-acting one to 3 points soon after the opening, on news of a resumption of the long delayed German drive in France.

Increased weakness was manifest-ed before mid-day when additional foreign advices suggested fresh com-plexions in the Russian situation, but the list strengthened later, lead-ers rallying one to two points on fair support and short covering.

The professional character of the trading was again attested by the gyrations of certain specialties, of which Sumatra Tobacco and General Motors were shining examples. Su-matra fell 4 1/2 points and rallied six and General Motors recovered all but a point of its 7 1/2 point break.

United States Steel suffered three points decline during the morning but was first among the leaders to harden in the final hour.

Reactions of one to three points in Distillers, Industrial Alcohol, Marine Preferred, Beet Sugar, and Metals were irregularly retrieved.

Rails made less progress toward recovery than speculative issues, Reading, as an instance, making up only small part of its three point loss, while Union Pacific denoted pressure. Sales amounted to 475 shares.

Reports from Western railroad terminals were conflicting, showing a wide range from the correspond-ing period last year.

Bonds were irregular, speculative issues yielding slightly. Total sales, par value, aggregated $4,700,000.

U. S. 4 1/2's rose 1 1/2 per cent on call.

MARY ROBERT RINEHART TO GO TO FRANCE AS A RED CROSS NURSE

Writer To Resume Nurse's Garb

Mary Roberts Rinehart, one of America's foremost writers, re-sponding to the nation's call for 25,000 nurses, has enrolled with the department of nursing of the American Red Cross and will soon take her place with that valiant ar-my of women who are ministering to the sick and wounded in France.

Mrs. Rinehart is expecting a sum-mons to overseas service momentarily. She has closed her home in New York, has packed the nursing equipment provided by the Red Cross and has put her personal af-fairs in order in preparation for a protracted stay in France.

Mrs. Rinehart is a graduate nurse. She received her training in a hospi-tal in Pittsburg, retiring from nurs-ing service and devoting herself to writing after her marriage to the chief surgeon of the hospital.

She has no qualms, she says about the work that may be given her to do abroad. No matter what the task is, she cheerfully will perform it, she added.

"I am perfectly willing to scrub floors," she said when she applied for enrollment at headquarters of the nursing department of the Red Cross. "The time has come for Americans to work with their hands. I cannot, just now, think of anything I would not do."

"No longer," she continued, "can a woman of leisure—she who is not self-supporting and who has neither duties nor dependants—sit back with folded hands doing only the pleasant tasks which have to do with war service."

"She is needed in the hospitals, in the factories, and above all, if she is fitted to be a trained nurse or a nurse's aid, she is needed by the American Red Cross. If she does not answer that need she is not doing her full duty by her country and humanity."

The Long Pull Ahead

"The time has come for me to work with my hands. Since the very beginning of the war I have been watching and fighting the bat-tles of the enlisted man, letting his mother and his sister and his wife and his sweetheart know what he is doing and how he is being cared for."

"I have visited officers' training camps, have investigated hospitals and have reported on general camp conditions in many cantonments from the Atlantic to the Pacific at the request of the secretary of war.

"But the time for the onlooker has gone by. Nationally, we must recognize this. There is no use in including ourselves by the occasional small successes which begin to mark the turn of the scale. The big thing is still before us. We are merely in our period of preparation. There is a long pull ahead and to win will require the collective in-dividual effort of every man, woman and child with two strong hands and a brain to use them."

"I am going to nurse simply be-cause I should be ashamed not to do so. I have always been proud of my hospital training, but never as something to offer to my coun-try."

Has War Experience

Mrs. Rinehart has had consider-able war experience. During the first year of the war she went abroad for a weekly publication of national circulation and was fortu-nate, at a time when correspondents were forbidden, in spending five weeks with the Belgian army at the front.

She crossed No Man's Land, spent several days at General Foch's head-quarters and also visited French and British trenches. But she has no desire to repeat these experiences as such.

"I want work she resumed, "and believe that every trained woman in the country should work too. Not long ago a boy wrote me from a hospital in France. He had been wounded three times and was about to go back again to the trenches."

"I am just going to keep on," he wrote. "And perhaps out of all this wretchedness and struggle, I shall gain some honorable advancement for my soul." He was killed two weeks later. So it seems to me that the woman who can should give this honorable advancement for her soul. We cannot gain it through fighting. We must gain it through service."

In addition to enrolling nurses for assignment as needed to the Army and Navy Nurse Corps for military service, the American Red Cross through all its chapters is making a special effort to encourage every nurse who because of marriage or other reasons, has given up her pro-fession to enroll as a home defense nurse for part time service at least in public health nursing or in hos-pitals, clinics and dispensaries.
