Picked Up On The Street
 AT THE Y. W. C. A.—The little woman at the desk expressed the hope that some day she would be able to give the reporter the news that she was going to join the army of America women in the hospitals and relief camps of France. "There is so much indifference here at home—so much complaint about the costs of war—the restrictions on food—that I feel as if I ought to get into the service and some way make up for it." The reporter expressed doubt as to her physical endurance, and also reminded her that the Huns made a practice of blowing up Red Cross hospitals. "Oh, I am plenty strong enough for that work; besides, if the Huns are going to blow up the hospital it won't matter whether I have a strong physique or not." A home-made sample of the matter-of-fact, uncompromising devotion that is being distilled out of this disaster.

FEDERAL LABOR AGENT COLEMAN, at the State street office, reports that the loganberry men have the situation pretty well in hand at this date, some of them paying the pickers 2 cents in order to make it interesting for them in the field during the balance of the season. The office has succeeded in filling all calls for wages paid is $3 a day and board.

A BERRY GROWER undertook to put a group in the supposition that the growers were rolling in wealth on account of the high prices paid for fruit this year. He stated that the advance in the contract price for loganberries would not begin to cover the additional cost of harvesting. The average man who contracted berries at 3½ cents will be very fortunate if he comes out even at the end of the season, according to his presentation of the case, and they are realizing that they were a little too precipitate in contracting. It is stated, also, that the cherry growers are not reaping so big a dividend as might be supposed. Generally they will make about the same net profits they had last year, the advanced price of 6 and 8 cents barely making up for the extra cost of picking. It is the pickers and handlers who are profiting by this season's crop.

A. A. LEE, commending The Statesman's report of the recent school meeting, recalled the ten-year period in which he served on the Salem school board, and in which he had to contend with an ossification of conservatism in the matter of extending the school equipment and business men on the board in those days who fought doggedly against the introduction of new branches of education, and in the name of economy opposed the building of the present high school building. It was held to be a reckless expenditure of public money in advance of the city's needs. The magnificent equipment of the present day was secured only by taking the fight out to the taxpayers of the district, and he expressed the opinion that the same element that opposed these improvements a decade ago were lined up at the last election against the proposed new mechanical department now provided for.

Australian Swimmer Beats Her Own World's Record
 SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Fanny Durack, Australia's champion swimmer, swam 200 yards in 2:37 in participating in an exhibition event for the benefit for the Red Cross held here tonight, beating her own world's record of 2:39 2-5.

The time will not be recognized officially or accepted, as amateur athletic rules require that records, to be accepted, must be made in competition.

WOULD REDUCE PAPERS.
 WASHINGTON, July 20.—Restrictions on the reading matter space in daily and Sunday editions of newspapers, a retail price of two cents or more and the elimination of all waste were recommended to the industries board today by the committee on conservation of news print paper appointed by the American Newspaper Publishers' association. The recommendations were taken under advisement by board officials.

Woolens Higher—Trimmings Scarcer

Save $10 to $15 On that New Suit

With the price of woolens climbing still higher and trimmings becoming still scarcer I am indeed fortunate in having a large stock on hand. You can profit by my foresight by ordering a suit now at a saving of $10 to $15. I have followed tailoring in Salem for nine years and am the only graduate cutter in the city. I started amidst the keenest of competition and now have more than twice as many tailors in my employ than all other shops in Salem combined. This is the result of the quality of my work and the reasonableness of my prices. Come and look over my line of suitings.

Try Chiropractic—
 Your doctors, whoever they have been, may have been conscientious in their care for you. Men as a rule are sincere in their convictions. There is a good rule to follow: Try all things and hold fast to that found to be good. The Chiropractor will grant as much and ask no more.
 When all kinds of "treatment" have been tried, no improvement is perceptible, and no hope seems to be held out, remember, Chiropractic is a preventative of chronic invalidism.
