LIEUTENANTS TO ARRIVE TODAY

New Officers for Camp Lewis
Division Due—All From
The East

CAMP LEWIS, Tacoma, Wash., July 20.—One hundred and fifty second lieutenants will be assigned to the 12th division now in process of organization here, are due to arrive in camp tomorrow, according to camp executive officers. The new officers are said to be graduates of an eastern training camp.

Sergeant Albert L. Zacharias of the school for cooks and bakers, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the quartermaster's corps of the national army, according to a telegram received today from the war department. Lieutenant Zacharias has his home in Bend, Or. He is detailed for duty with a bakery company at the Presidio.

Biggest Flax Crop Is In Vicinity of Turner

Fruit Inspector Van Trump reports a very poor showing of flax in the county this season. The acreage is comparatively small and the crop in most cases shows the effects of the drought very seriously. Marion county has a big acreage of ideal land for flax growing and experiments at Turner and other localities have shown the most gratifying results. Logically it should be a most profitable crop, but he states that the great drawback in this country is the lack of cheap labor which has built up the industry in Belgium and other European countries.

The largest tract of flax land this season is in the vicinity of Turner, where the Oregon Flax fibre company has 217 acres. Theo. Roth, president of the company, estimates that the tract will yield about two-thirds of a crop this year. Sample stalks brought in here have a length of about thirty-six inches. The crop is now being pulled by a squad of boys from the State Training school, and they will probably assist in working out the fibre in the plant at Turner.

FIDDLE-DEE-DEE
HEAR 'EM PLAY

who knows how to entertain the little boys and girls. A "story lady" they call her. All about Mother Goose and fairies and Cinderella and Little Bo Peep and a dozen other heroes and heroines of childhood.

First at the afternoon session will be the Fenwick Newell Concert company. Newell himself is called a golden tenor. A cello player and pianist and an accompanist of rare gift are with the company, and all have had exceptional opportunities in training and have taken advantage of them.

Closing the afternoon session Dr. C. J. Bushnell will give his lecture on "The Meaning of the Great War." Dr. Bushnell puts his audience directly in touch with the bureau of information at Washington, D. C., under whose direction he works. He is presenting his lecture on war problems at the request of Uncle Sam himself. Dr. Bushnell is an instructor at Pennsylvania Military college and special instructor of the Officers' Reserve Training corps of the army.

Tomorrow night the Fenwick Newell company appears again and James A. Burns, known as "Burns of the Mountains," presents his address on "The Kentucky Mountaineers, Past, Present and Future." Burns is one of the most remarkable men who will appear during the week. He is a man full of stories that have not all been told for he it is who is credited with educating the feud out of the Kentucky mountains. He planted a university, cultivated it, watched it grow and is now president of Oneida institute.

IT STOPPED MY SUFFERING

Said Mrs. Jaynes, Speaking of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Anderson, S. C.—"I got into an awful condition with what the doctors said was an organic displacement. I would have pains so badly that they would have to put hot clothes on me and give me morphine. The doctor said I would never have any children without it. A neighbor who knew what your medicine would do advised me to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did so and it made me a well woman and the next September I gave birth to a healthy baby boy."
—Mrs. SALLIE JAYNES, 37 Lyon St., Anderson, S. C.

The letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WAR SUMMARY

(By The Associated Press)
Out of the news filtering through the clouds of battle hanging over the ensanguined field between the Marne and Soissons there have come two significant reports during the past day. The allies are thundering at the gates of Soissons and the Germans are retreating across the Marne between Fossy and Oeuilly. German reserves, rushed up to the western side of the Soissons-Chateau Thierry-Rheims salient, have slowed down the progress made by French and Americans, but have apparently been unable to do more than check it here and there along the front. The advance made by the allies in the first hours of the great counterstroke has not been maintained, but it is evident that hardly anywhere has the allied thrust been stopped. Reports from the front of battle indicate that the French and Americans have reached the edge of the plateau to the southwest of Soissons and only a scant mile and a half from the center of the city. Southward, along the line, the allies have almost reached the Soissons-Chateau Thierry road, a thoroughfare of great strategic importance, while further down toward the Marne they are steadily forging ahead, in spite of determined resistance. The reports of a German retreat across the Marne comes as confirmation of the success of the allied drive far to the north. German forces south of the stream must be extricated quickly if the German army is to escape from the encircling movement carried out by the French and Americans. French official reports state that the Germans are being driven back south of the Marne, but it is probable that the German retreat is a hurried retreat ordered by the German high command. From the Marne toward Rheims, the French and Italians have advanced their lines. Three days ago they were being forced back by the Germans and their present forward movement may indicate that the foe is also retiring from this field as rapidly as possible. The fire of battle is spreading slowly down the line towards Chateau Thierry. There have been reports that the Germans in this region have been removing their heavy guns preparatory to retreating should the allied drive toward Soissons go on. Military experts say that if the allied wedge south of Soissons goes much further it will force a German retreat at least as far as the Vesle river. Statements made by General March, American chief of staff, before the members of the senate miltary committee indicate that there are upwards of 275,000 American engaged in the fighting south of Soissons. There are six divisions of American troops—the first, second, third and fourth regulars, and 2nd (New England), and the 24th (Pennsylvania, a national guard.) General March told the newspapermen that the maximum penetration along the line was ten miles, while the average depth of the advance was seven miles. Italian troops in the Adamello regions to the north of Lake Garda, on the Austro-Italian front have broken out in a local action and taken two strong points in the mountainous region. This gain was made just south of where the Italians attacked late in May and broke the Austrian line.

Disloyalty Charges Not To Appear Unless Proven
BISMARCK, N. D., July 20.—The North Dakota council of defense which recently issued an order prohibiting the publication of charges of disloyalty or pro-Germanism that have not been based on authoritative information, announced today that this order will apply to all newspapers entering the state.

THE BRIGHT SIDE.
"Talk optimism, not pessimism. Preach confidence, not timidity. Preach reality, not penuriousness."
