Payallup Concern May Have Silverton Cannery

SILVERTON, Aug. 11.—(Special to The Statesman.)—C. R. Greisen, a representative of the Payallup Summer Fruit Growers' association of Seattle, is in Silverton looking over the possibilities for a cannery. Mr. Greisen says there is absolutely no reason why this locality should not become just as famous a fruit growing section as the Payallup district. As an inducement to raise strawberries the company, if it establishes a cannery here, will guarantee growers 6 cents a pound for their fruit for the life of the acreage.

Crop Reports Pessimistic From Corn Belt Make Rise

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Pessimistic crop reports from Nebraska and Missouri together with complaints of excessive heat in the southwest had much to do today with bringing corn. The market closed strong, 3 to 3 1/2c net higher, with September $1.62 1/2@1 1/2c and September 1 1/2@1 1/2c. The finish in provisions ranged from 15c decline to a rise of 12c.
Except just at the outset and during another brief interval an hour later, the corn market showed a decided tendency throughout the day. The temporary setbacks were ascribable to reports of scattered showers, but opinion became general that the moisture thus supplied was in adequate. Then a leading expert went on record with a statement that owing to irreparable injury by heat and drought the government estimate of yield for Nebraska and Missouri would prove 100,000,000 bushels too large.
Large receipts depressed oats but later the strength of corn gave the prices an upward swing.
In provisions the fact that hogs had touched $20.15, the topmost point on record, was a strengthening factor. Demand for pork, however, was lacking.

market, moving up to best prices of several months, presumably in anticipation of a speedy settlement of the question of stabilizing earnings and dividends.

Granges and transcontinentals were most active, St. Paul, common and preferred, advancing two and a quarter and three and a quarter, respectively. Canadian Pacific caused a scramble of short covering on its extreme gain of three points. Union Pacific rose two, Great Northern one and a half, and Northern and Southern Pacific one each.

Foreign news yielded none of its hopeful character but war issues rested on their laurels of last week. United States Steel made a trivial gain at the outset but retested abruptly later, closing at a loss of one and a half points.

St. Paulings and oils also failed to fulfill last Saturday's promise of improvement and coppers were again inclined to sag on very moderate offerings. Total sales amounted to 425,000 shares.

Investment bonds and international were firm, Anglo-French 5c leading the latter group. Liberty 3 3/4's were at the new high of 100.6 for the year. Sales by value, aggregated $5,450,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

antagonist when the man climbed out of his machine and held up his hands in token of surrender.

"So I didn't kill him," the British pilot said. "But on my way home I met a group of enemy machines and got a bullet in me, but managed to land inside our lines."

The report of this incident ends with the statement that the pilot died in a hospital shortly after relating his experiences.

A British two-seater shot down two enemy machines. The pilot was badly wounded and fell across his controls. The observer secured his comrade's body and managed to get in control of the machine. He then brought it to earth where it crashed but both the occupants escaped death.

Another pilot started for home wounded. When ten feet above the ground, inside his own lines, he collapsed from loss of blood.

There are dozens of thrilling tales of how machine after machine, in skimming close to the ground, fired point blank into bodies of enemy troops, killing a great many, despite the fire from the ground, and how they wiped out the crews of enemy machine guns holding up the allied advance. They also effectively attacked the poorly constructed German tanks before they ever had a chance to get into action.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

By GENE BYRNES

Major Sibley and his adjutant, Lieutenant Bellamy, reorganized it under fire, and charged a machine gun nest at the most critical time in all the fighting.

"I wonder if ever an outfit," the letter says, "went up against a more desperate job, stuck to it so gamely without sleep, at times on short rations, with men and officers going off like flies, and I wonder if in our long list of gallant deeds there were ever two better stunts than the work of Sibley and Holcomb."

Combined Harvester Makes Advent Into This Valley

The Stayton Mail claims for that locality the first combined harvester in the Willamette valley. The machine was tried out the other day with success, according to the following statement:

"Frank Seigmund who owns a large wheat ranch near Fern Ridge, has purchased a combine harvester, and the machine which is almost human, has created no little excitement among the people of that section as well as those of this neighborhood, who have never seen one in operation. Sunday there were a number of our citizens there to watch the thing cut the grain and thresh it at the same time. The machine is drawn by eight horses and a gas engine does the rest of the work. John Sigmund, of Salem, and Andy Louis of Gervais were present Sunday and dedicated the machine—decorating it with the stars and stripes and a short speech was made."

AMAZING ACTS OF HEROISM REPORTED

ly and use their sights and adjust their range," he says, "was beyond their experience. It must have had a telling effect on the morale of the boche, for it was something they had not counted on. As a matter of fact after pushing back the weakened French and then running up against a stone wall defense, they were literally 'up in the air' and more than stopped. We found out later from prisoners, for the Germans never knew we were in the front line when they made that attack. They were absolutely mystified at the manner in which the defense stiffened up until they found that our troops were in line."

The letter describes a daylight charge against a machine gun nest and of scouting raids up to June 6, when the whole brigade swung forward to straighten out the line. This action resulted in the capture of Belleau wood.

Major Sibley's battalion of the sixth Marine regiment led the way here with Holcomb in support. The woods were alive with enemy machine guns. That night word came back that Robertson, with twenty men of the 96th company, had taken Bourreches, breaking through a heavy machine gun barrage to enter the town. Robertson, fighting with an automatic in either hand, was hit three times before he would allow himself to be taken to the rear.

Speaking of individual acts of bravery, the writer says Duncan, a company commander, "before he was mowed down, had his pipe in his mouth and was carrying a stick of dynamite. He was picked up by Osborn and carried to a hospital where he died." Duncan was picked up by Osborn and carried to a hospital where he died.

Private Dunlavy, killed later, captured an enemy machine gun in Bourreches, which he turned on the foe with great effect, while at another point "Young Timmerman charged a machine gun at the point of the bayonet and sent in seventeen prisoners at a clip."

When the enemy made a stand at one point in the woods, Sibley's battalion was withdrawn for an hour, 50 American and French batteries hammered the wood. Hughes, with the tenth company, then went in and his first message was that the wood had been cut to mine meat. Overton, head of the 16th company, finally charged Rock plateau, killing or capturing gunners and all the guns with few losses.

The 62d company lost all its offi-
