THE YANKEES ON THE MARNE.

According to T. Atkins. By Emerson Hough of the Vigilantes Oh, the English and the Irish, and the 'owlin' Scotties, too, The Canucks and Austr'lyans, and the 'airy French Polle. The only thing that bothered us a year before we knew, Was 'ow in 'ell the Yanks 'ud look, an' 'wot in 'ell they'd do. They 'adn't 'ad no trynein', they didn't know the gyne, They 'adn't never marched it much—their shootin' was the syme; An' the only thing that bothered us that day in lawst July, Was 'ow in 'ell the line 'd 'old if they should run aw'y. Them leggy, nosey new 'uns, just come across the sea— We couldn't 'elp but wonder 'ow in 'ell their guts 'ud be; An' the only thing that bothered us in all our staggerin' ranks Was wot in 'ell 'ud 'appen wen the 'Uns 'ad 'it the Yanks. My word! it 'appened sudden w'en the drive 'ad first begun; We seed the Yanks a-runnin'—Gaw blimy! 'ow they run! But the only thing that bothered us that seed the chase begin Was 'ow in 'ell to stop 'em 'fore they got into Berlin! They didn't 'ave no tactics but the bloody 'manuel, They 'adn't learned no horders but 'Ooray!' an' 'Give 'em 'ell'!

But the only thing that bothered us about them leggy lads Was 'ow in 'ell to get the chow to feed their "Kamerads!"

So we're standin' all together in a stiffish firin' line, If anyone should ask you, you say we're doin' fine, But the only thing that bothers us an' that don't bother much— Is 'ow in 'ell to get the dirt to bury all the Dutch.

Gaw's trewth! it's rotten fightin' that all our troops 'as seen, The 'Un's a dirty p'yer, becous 'e's alwus been; But the only thing that bothers us in 'andin' 'im our thanks Is 'ow in 'ell we'd done it if it weren't fer the Yanks.

Oh, the English and the Irish, an' the 'owlin' Scotties, too, The Canucks and Austr'lyans, an' the 'airy French Polle, The only thing that bothered us don't bother us no more; It's why in 'ell we didn't know the Yankee boys before!

NEW EXEMPTION ON LIBERTY BONDS

taxes contemplated in the pending revenue bill are applied flatly to income from liberty bonds. Mr. McAdoo intimated that it would be necessary to raise the interest rate over 4 1/2 per cent in order to avoid further depression of the market price of the bonds. At the same time, the secretary announced that the treasury and war finance corporation is making a study of the Canadian system for maintaining the market value of war bonds by regulating private dealings in bonds.

Other appeals of the secretary for legislation included the proposal that the maximum amount of war savings certificates which any individual may hold be raised from $1,000 to $2,000; that he be given power to establish credits in foreign countries to aid in stabilizing exchange rates; that the president be authorized to regulate the hoarding and melting of gold and that the pending bill excluding loans secured by liberty bonds from the limitations on national banks' borrowings be enacted.

Outlining his views on taxation of liberty bonds Mr. McAdoo explained that income from liberty bonds is free from taxation imposed by normal rates, but that income from only $500 worth of bonds is exempt from the surtaxes, which is now contemplated to raise materially.

"In order to give the numerous small holders of liberty bonds the advantage of a market upon which they may sell their bonds in case of necessity," wrote Mr. McAdoo, "and also to attract subscriptions for the great number of investors of ample means but not of great wealth, it will be necessary immediately to increase the interest rate, or to neutralize the increased surtaxes by freeing the bonds to a limited extent from such taxes."

"I recommend that a portion of the income of these bonds should be free from surtaxes for the period of war and for a brief interval thereafter. This course would make it possible to meet the exigencies of the present situation and to counterbalance the adverse effect on the market value of liberty bonds of the increased surtax rates and at the same time would not be open to the very grave objection which exists against any unlimited or permanent exemption, which would deprive the government of the United States of the power to meet its necessities in the future by surtaxes on incomes derived from liberty bonds."

CONSUMPTION TAX MAY BE IMPOSED

Representative Mull told the house the nation's tax budget after the war will be $4,000,000,000 annually. He urged consumption levies on sugar, coffee, tea, silk, and rubber.

Declaring that wealthy persons are taxed to "the absolute limit" by the bill, Representative Longworth said that for future increased revenue, taxes on necessary articles of daily consumption, must be resorted to. He predicted that these taxes may have to be imposed sooner than congress expected because of pending war time prohibition legislation, which, he estimated, would reduce federal revenue by $1,500,000,000.

Mr. Longworth also said that the president's order stopping the manufacture of beer after December 1, would cause a loss of $500,000,000 in revenue.

American Soldier Helps Wounded Britisher

The American soldier at the front is seldom too busy to stop to help a wounded soldier of another nation to a place of safety, and this soldier has found a wounded Britisher, whom he is sending along to the first hospital.

submarine, using after guns. Our shots were very close to the submarine and the submarine shrapnel were bursting very near to us, some of the pieces falling upon our deck amidships. We changed the course frequently which seemed to upset the submarines aim and range. As soon as the submarine saw our range was equal to hers, she hauled away from us. Up to that time she had been closing in on us. "Before the submarine got out of range, our twenty-eighth shot from the after guns apparently hit her stern. The twenty-ninth hit just forward of the conning tower, near and under the water line. The bow suddenly shot into the air, then settled and went down out of sight, the stern making a half turn toward us and then it disappeared.

"Upon shots striking the submarine we saw a terrific explosion and black smoke, which enveloped the submarine. I am positive that we destroyed her as she sank almost immediately after the shot struck her.

"The engagement lasted 29 minutes. Some of the fragments of the submarine fell on our decks and were picked up by the quartermaster and chief gunner's mate.

"The submarine was about 300 feet long, of the early type of German submarines, with high bow, and had two six inch guns close to the conning tower, fore and aft. She fired in salvos, using about sixty shots altogether. She was camouflaged and flew no flags."

The navy department announced that the captain of the Buck highly commended the efficiency and conduct of the chief punner's mate, Joseph Steffens and the entire armed guard.

military establishment or of the national interest during the emergency may not be interfered with. General Crowder has said the war department could expect to draw from the classes above 31 only 601,000 men physically fit for service and not entitled to deferred classification. He also said men of 19 and 20 called were entitled to admission to the students' training corps at the 400 secondary schools with which the war department has contracts, but added that this corps would number 150,000 men, while over 3,000,000 youths below 21 will register Thursday.

Methods of selecting those to be inducted into military service and educational training corps he said were the concern of the other branches of the administration.

"Someone must indicate that the individual case is one which should arrest the special attention of the boards in respect to the registrant's occupational status," said General Crowder in his statement. "The boards do not possess a superhuman omniscience. Nor are they permitted by circumstances to devote an unlimited time to the search of questionnaires for possible grounds of claim. In 1917, out of more than 3,000,000 registrants called, only 140,000 filed occupational claims, 4.7 per cent; thus, 95 per cent of all registrants raised no question of such deferment."
