er, with October $1.52 1/2 to $1.52 1/2, and November $1.51. Oats closed 3/4c off to 1/4c up and provisions down 5 cents to 1/2.

Hears had the advantage at the outset in corn. Favorable weather gave emphasis to reports that a large part of the crop was already out of danger from frost. Then came word of the new American offensive in France. Thereafter the market seemed to have no power to rally except when sellers were taking profits at the day's end.

In the oats market, reports of sales to the seaboard at outside points counterbalanced the bearish effects of corn weakness. Offerings to arrive, however, were light.
