In 1916 she graduated from the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago, as a student of Karleton Hacklett. In addition to her musical education Miss Tartar has had several years experience as a high school instructor and has met with splendid success as a director of choirs, glee clubs and other choral organizations, and is thus amply qualified to meet the demands made upon her by the Salem schools.

Miss Tartar will continue her work as director of the First Baptist choir.

Miss Tartar has also been conducting classes in Dallas, Independence work in Salem, and has a number of pupils.

Miss Elizabeth Levy, violinist, is to be presented as soloist at the state fair this week, and has the distinction of being the first violinist to be featured at one of the Oregon state fairs. She will appear as soloist on Thursday and Friday nights, when she will be heard in classic and patriotic numbers. Miss Levy will soon assume her duties as head of the violin department of the Willamette university.

mission was to call on American Red Cross at Washington physicians and nurses to take the places of those who have died or have been exhausted by their arduous work. The committee then sent out a statewide request for the temporary closing of all theaters, motion picture houses and other places of public gathering, except churches. Cancellation of all parades planned for the immediate future was included in the request. It was estimated today that there were between 50,000 and 75,000 cases of influenza and pneumonia in New England. There have been more than 1000 deaths in the New England states in 10 days.

There were 107 deaths from influenza and pneumonia in Boston for the 24 hours ending at 10 o'clock tonight, a decrease of two from yesterday. Deaths from disease here since September 14 total 697. Schools, theaters and other places of public assembly were closed in many New England cities and towns. In some cities public funerals have been forbidden. Telephone exchanges in Greater Boston have lost the services of 700 operators through influenza.

The Boston police today began an anti-smiting crusade in an effort to help stop the spread of the disease. Rear-Admiral Spencer C. Wood, commandant of the first naval district, was among those stricken today.

There were only three deaths and 60 new cases in the first naval district, and 13 deaths and 64 new cases in the second district.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Progress in the battle against the epidemic of Spanish influenza which broke out at the Great Lakes naval training station on September 9 was reported today by Captain William A. Moffett, commandant.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—More than 5000 new cases of Spanish influenza in army camps, with 155 deaths, were reported today to the office of the surgeon-general. The total of the cases in army camps is now nearly 30,000.

Many Telegrams Pay Honor To Memory of Archbishop

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 25.—Hundreds of telegrams and cable messages from many parts of the world, paying honor to the memory and achievements of Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul, were received today at the home of the Roman Catholic prelate, who died early this morning after a long and lingering illness.

It was decided this afternoon that the body will lie in state on Tuesday in the cathedral. The funeral will be held on Wednesday with solemn services at 10 a. m. It is expected that most of the church dignitaries who attended the impressive services for Cardinal Farley in New York will attend the funeral of Archbishop Ireland.

Rev. Thomas Welch, secretary to Archbishop Ireland, announced that the dying prelate had asked to have his body buried in Calvary cemetery.

some of the government training schools, though if they take advantage of that opportunity it will be necessary for them to enlist. Study in the course now organizing here carries with it no obligation for service different from that of any other civilians. Men up to 65 years of age who are physically fit are accepted as students.

The university has appointed Mr. Thomas as state chairman for organization work only. As soon as units are organized they are turned over to Colonel Leader, the famous Irish military instructor at the university who fought in France until he was incapacitated by wounds. From the time they are turned over to Colonel Leader they are under his control.

JUSTICE MOORE IS DEAD

929 Oak street, at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning. His death was not surprising because he had been ill for several months with heart trouble, but was rather unexpected for the reason that of late he had shown improvement and Tuesday was feeling better than he had for some time. Upon arising from bed yesterday morning he started to the bath room when he fell dead.

The funeral is announced to take place Friday at 2 o'clock. The place of the service has not been determined, but interment will be in City View cemetery.

Notwithstanding his advanced age, Justice Moore made a valiant fight against his ailment. His last appearance on the bench of the Oregon supreme court was on June 7. Soon afterward he became too ill for his work and spent some time at the coast in the hope of building up his health. After returning to Salem he made several attempts to go back to his office in the supreme court building, but was unable to continue his official duties. He was 74 years old.

Justice Moore was a native of the state of Maine, where he was born November 5, 1844, at Ellsworth. His parents were Heard L. and Bathsheba A. Moore. His early education was secured in the public schools of Maine, and later he attended a normal institute at Iowa Falls, Iowa. His first public office was that of superintendent of schools for Hardin county, Iowa, from 1871 to 1875. On April 15, 1886, he married Emma Shuntaffer.

Justice Moore was admitted to the bar in Iowa in 1874 after having studied for the legal profession in the office of Lieutenant Governor Enoch W. Eastman, at Eldora. He came to Oregon in 1877, and in 1879 was admitted to the bar in this state. Judge Moore located at St. Helens, Columbia county, and practiced there until 1884, when he was elected as county judge of Columbia county. In 1888 he was elected state senator for that county and served until 1892, when he was elected to the supreme bench and moved to Salem. Had he filled out his present term of office to December 31, 1922, he would have served continuously for 30 years as a member of the Oregon supreme court. After coming to Salem, in addition to his work on the supreme bench, he served Willamette university for several years as a lecturer on medical jurisprudence in the college of medicine.

In 1900 and 1901 Judge Moore was grand commander of the Oregon commandery, Knights Templar, and in 1892 was elected grand master of the grand lodge of Oregon, A. F. and A. M. He was a 33d degree Mason and a member of Portland lodge No. 142, B. P. O. Elks. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Salem and for many years conducted a Bible class in the Salem Presbyterian Sunday school.

"I do not command language to express my admiration of Judge Moore," said Governor Withycombe yesterday. "He was one of the state's most accomplished jurists and a hard and conscientious worker. If it is for me to appoint his successor I shall take much time, for a man to fill his place as he filled it must be a man of high legal attainments."

If the vacancy is filled prior to the November election it will be necessary for the governor to appoint, and in that event the appointee under the law will serve until his successor is elected and qualified. Presumably provision could be made on the November ballot for writing in the names of the people's choice for the office. Should that not be done the appointee would serve until the next election of supreme court justices. The date for filling nominees by independent electors or by convention expired yesterday.

Red Cross Song Written by Girl at Grants Pass

A Red Cross song written by a girl belonging to a branch of the Junior Red Cross at Grants Pass is among the exhibits of the University of Oregon extension department of the state fair. This was recently sent to Northwest headquarters in Seattle and highly praised there and the original was sent back for the university to have in its display. Much of the work shown in this section of the education pavilion represents particularly noteworthy articles in the sample reading card also from Josephine county through which each member of the Junior Red Cross pledges his services, backed by the signature of the parent.

Miss Dorothy Collier and John Altrack of the extension division of the school are in the building to give information. Attention has been attracted to the booth by means of some particularly realistic war pictures in the trenches on "Camp Wood" in Eugene, where the "war" training camps have been action.

It is proposed to tax women's hats costing $10 or more. Tax receipts therefore will be a part of the decoration. They can be hung with a dramatic effect on either side, to fit the beauty of the wearer.

CITY OF SALEM THROWN OPEN TO ELKS TODAY

carded for the afternoon the high jinks committee of the Salem lodge has worked up a lot of things that will be the scream of the 1918 state fair. One of these will be the governor's race about which a lot has been said, but, through diplomacy, little has been revealed. If any one doubts that this will be worth going across the state to see let him scan the names of the lads who have worked it up, namely, Knowland-Pattison, Lerchen, Rahn, Quackenbush-McMechan, Spears, Stege, Wallace-Macy and Wilson. Some bunch of pirates!

Patriotism will be the pervading theme in everything the Elks do today, for no organization is better represented in the American army on the gory fields of France than the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. Particularly will this be true at the evening performance slated for the grandstand at 8 o'clock, when L. J. Simpson of Coos Bay will give the main address of the day. Louis Simpson is one of the golden-tongued orators of Oregon and has a flow of wit suitable for an Elks celebration and a torrent of wisdom well fitted for any patriotic function. The best vocalists in Salem are to appear in song numbers and there will be a male chorus of Elks who will assist Mrs. Hallie Parrish Durdall in the rendition of "Old Glory Marching By."

At a community sing, also a part of the evening program, John W. Todd will do the directing and will be assisted by the McMinnville Liberty girls. Now the Liberty girls are an organization that has regulars all over western Oregon. The girls are not only the prettiest that McMinnville has, but every one of them is a musician of ability above the ordinary.

Walter L. Tonzee, who is chairman of the committee on arrangements, will be president of the day. Among guests of honor will be Governor Withycombe, State Treasurer Kay, Secretary of State Olcott, Attorney General Brown, the members of the supreme court, President Gus Mosser of the state senate, Speaker of the House Robert N. Stanfield, President William S. Kennedy of the State Elks' association, Mayor Keyes of Salem, and all officers of any Elks lodge in Oregon or any other state and leading figures in the parade. Harry J. Wenderoth, exalted ruler, and Harry Wiedmer, secretary, will have prominent places in the line of march.

The committee urges every Elk who is in the parade to secure tickets at the Elks temple before 11 o'clock to avoid confusion and delay.

Soldier Vote May Decide Race on in New Jersey

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 25.—Indications tonight were that the soldier vote may decide who is to be the Democratic candidate for the long term as United States senator from this state. It is estimated there are about

HAWLEY AGAIN MADE PRESIDENT

Polk County Man Is Re-Elected President of Livestock Association

C. L. Hawley of McCoy and N. C. Maris of Portland were re-elected, respectively, president and secretary of the Oregon Purebred Livestock association at its meeting last night in the education building auditorium at the fair grounds. The members were addressed by W. A. McKerron of the Minnesota Agricultural college and C. C. Chapman, editor of The Oregon Voter of Portland.

Mr. McKerron pointed out the importance of the American farmer in carrying on the war and the aid being given by this country through speedy provision of food, which would take more time to carry to the fighting zone from Australia and other colonies. He also called attention to the value of co-operative creameries, saying that they are the best thing that ever happened to the farmer. Co-operative shipment of livestock, too, he said, had many advantages. County breeders associations, he declared, are a matter which ought to be more thoroughly promoted.

Figures showing the patriotism of Oregon stock men were given by the second speaker, who claims that more of their number per capita in Oregon have subscribed to the Red Cross than in any other state. "Oregon has given 125 per cent of all the money asked of her," he added. "It is the only state in the Union with more volunteers than drafted men in the service."

Games of Chance Are Put Down at State Fair Grounds

After District Attorney Max Gellbar had called the attention of the state military police to the fact that some of the concessionaires at the state fair grounds were operating games of chance unlawfully, four or five of the places were closed down yesterday. A general suppression of the games took place at the fair a year ago and the district attorney says many of the same operators are back on the fair grounds this year.

MANY PLANES DOWNED

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Fifty-three hostile airplanes were accounted for by British aviators on Tuesday, according to the official announcement tonight. Thirty-one of these were destroyed and 22 were driven down. Ten British machines failed to return. More than 2000 photographs were dropped in 24 hours.
