

Fagged Out Women Vinol is What You Need

If all the tired, overworked, run-down women in this community could realize how our delicious Vinol, which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycero-phosphates supplies the vital elements necessary to enrich the blood and create working strength, we wouldn't be able to supply the demand.

Dukeedom, Tenn.
"I live on a farm and keep house for six in my family. I got into a nervous, run-down condition so it seemed as though I would die. A friend advised me to try Vinol. I have been greatly improved by its use and am better and stronger in every way."—Mrs. H. H. Goodwin.

Burdett, N. Y.
"I keep house for my family of three, and raise chickens. I had a nervous breakdown, so I was unable to work. The doctor did not seem to help me, and a cousin asked me to try Vinol. It built me up—I now have a good appetite and am well and strong."—Mrs. Loyal Palmer.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

RAILROAD MEN ASKED TO HELP

Director McAdoo Urges Loyal Support of United War Fund Campaign

William G. McAdoo, director general of railroads of the United States, has issued an appeal to all railroad men in America to support the United war work fund campaign. The appeal was issued from Washington and telegraphed throughout the United States. The text of the telegram is as follows:

"To the American army of railroad men:

"A great united war work campaign will begin on Monday, November 11, to obtain funds which are urgently needed to carry on the beneficial work which is being patriotically performed in behalf of our army and navy by the Young Men's Christian association, National Catholic War Council, Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community service, American Library association, Salvation army and Young Women's Christian association. The workers of these organizations have gone to the front and shared the dangers and hardships of our soldiers and sailors. Through their tireless energy, thoughtfulness and devotion, they have carried cheer and comfort and assistance to our men fighting in the trenches and on the high seas as well as those in training camps here and abroad. The splendid work of these organizations has been officially recognized by the American government, and they are worthy of the support of every loyal American. Every individual who can afford to do so ought to give aid by making the most liberal possible contribution.

"The service that each of these great organizations renders is distinct in that it has reference to the peculiar needs of those who differ in their religious beliefs or preferences but this is a distinction without a difference for all seven organizations are inspired by the same breath of helpfulness and imbued by a common desire to make the gospel of hope and love a reality to the men who are fighting for humanity. This unity of purpose is expressed in the unity of appeal that is now being made to the people of the United States and I urge that every railroad employee shall respond to it generously and even to the point of foregoing the things that he can do without and that those who are away from home and suffering may be cared for and comforted and feel that they are fighting or engaged in that work of reconstruction that must follow the war."

Mother of Revolution in Russia Thought Dead on Her Way to United States

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Mme. Catherine Breshkovskaya, known as the "grandmother of the Russian revolution," who was reported executed by the Bolsheviks on October 27, is alive and on her way to the United States, according to a statement tonight by A. J. Sack, director of the Russian information bureau in this country.

This information was contained in a cable received by the Russian embassy at Washington from the all-Russian provisional government, sitting at Omsk, he said.

Mme. Breshkovskaya, who is 73 years old, has spent 44 years in Russian and Siberian prisons as a political offender. Freed at Irkutsk by the great revolution of March, 1917, her journey westward was like a triumphal procession from city to city reaching its climax at Petrograd. Virtually her first words were an appeal to the people to remain loyal to the allies.

The daughter of a nobleman who had held hundreds of serfs, she passed from a luxurious life to the hardships of prison cells when, at 15, she began to speak and write against the iniquities of czarism.

Adventures in which she participated surpass fiction. Many times she was imprisoned and almost as many she escaped. In 1905 she came to this country and collected $10,000 for the Russian revolution.

Wounded Men of American Unit Take Collections for Orphans

BY JAMES ELVIN

I had the pleasure not long ago of visiting one of our largest hospital units. Hundreds of splendid fellows there, fearfully mutilated, some minus a leg, others arms, others with heads bandaged and one fine looking captain was stone blind. It was pitiful to see him feeling his way about with a stick. But they surely were happy bunch and every one his bit for God and his native land.

Besides the splendidly equipped Red Cross hut in this place there was a fine Y. M. C. A. Catholics, Protestants and Jews made this place their rendezvous and it was crowded from morning till night. The secretary was a real human, a man who thoroughly understood his wounded soldiers. He told me many interesting experiences he had with them and declared they were the salt of the earth. He called my attention to a chat above his entrance counter and informed me that every Sunday evening these wounded boys with hardly a penny to spend, had taken a collection for the poor little French orphans and when I was there they had raised nearly $125.

These are the men the public is invited to help during this week. They give all they have for others. Surely the generous American public will provide liberally for them.

OFFICIALS SEND WORD

Civilian Relief Abroad Presents Need That Is Almost Unlimited

Necessity of keeping up the work of the Red Cross since the signing of the armistice with the same vigor that characterized it while active fighting was going on in France was emphasized at a meeting of the executive board of Willamette chapter yesterday afternoon.

In addition to setting Wednesday, November 20 at 2:30 in the afternoon at the Commercial club as the time and place for the annual meeting of the heads of the organization discussed steps which must be taken to check neglect on the part of workers and those who have pledged their financial support.

"Some people," Chairman Meyers said, "have the idea that they need no longer pay their pledges. They forget that while it is true that an armistice has been signed, peace has not yet been declared."

"The work of organization," August Huckestein supplemented him, "must be kept on for probably the next 10 or 15 years among the refugees and wounded. People in this country probably will never realize the extent to which the Red Cross will carry their efforts."

But one branch of the Red Cross will be discontinued. All surgical dressings work except work on army dressings should be stopped immediately, but army orders should be completed without delay, a letter from northwest headquarters advised.

Moss dressings are not army orders, consequently that activity also should be stopped. "All dressings now complete should be shipped without delay to the division warehouse," the communication says. "Materials that have been cut, but not worked up, should be held until you receive further information. Please assure your surgical dressing workers that there are in the Red Cross warehouses in France and in the United States ample supplies of surgical dressings to meet any contingency that may arise."

"We are advised from Washington that calls from Red Cross commissions in many parts of the world indicate an almost unlimited need for civilian relief abroad. Your chapter should therefore make every effort to finish at once all the refugee garments that have been allotted to you in order to be prepared to take care of additional orders. The bureau of chapter production is now preparing additional allotments of refugee garments and will issue them as they are needed. We suggest that you indefinitely greater service in saving life than many garments after the winter is past."

"Those who have been making surgical dressings should know of this need for refugee garments and should be urged to enlist in this branch of the work. We suggest that you hold meetings at once in your workrooms for this purpose."

The letter is concluded with a message of praise.

"This closes one page in the history of the work of this division. The realization that the surgical dressings made by the loyal women of the northwest have saved the lives of many boys will be a source of life-long gratification to all who have participated in the work. In rejoicing that this phase of Red Cross activity is no longer necessary, let us not forget the misery and suffering throughout the world that still call us to continue our production activity, along other lines."

With the note C. D. Edmison, director of the division, encloses a message just received from the war council of the Red Cross and George E. Scott, general manager. It is as follows:

"On February 10 last year, nearly six weeks before the United States declared war, national Red Cross headquarters advised the chapters to prepare for war. That which has followed in the record of the Red Cross in helping to win this war and to relieve the suffering growing out of it, constitutes something of which every American citizen has a right to be proud. Every American Red Cross worker must feel a sense of gratification in having had a hand in it. The moment is now come to prepare for peace. Actual peace may come at any moment; it may be deferred for some time. Until peace is actually here, there can be no relaxation in any Red Cross effort incident to active hostilities."

"But with peace, let no one suppose that the work of the Red Cross is finished." Millions of American boys are still under arms. Thousands of them are sick or wounded. Owing to the shortage in shipping, it may take a year or more to bring our boys home from France. But whatever the time, our protecting arms must be about them and their families over the whole period which must elapse before the normal life of peace can be resumed.

"Our soldiers and sailors are enlisted until the commander in chief tells them there is no more work for them to do in the war. Let every Red Cross member and worker show our returning soldiers and sailors that to care for their health, welfare and happiness, we are enlisted for no less a period than they are."

"The cessation of war will reveal a picture of misery such as the world has never seen before, especially in the many countries which cannot

Tonnage for Soldiers in France Greatly Increased

(By The Associated Press)

TOURS, France, Wednesday, Nov. 6.—Tonnage discharged at nine American base ports in France in October by the service of supply with the American expeditionary forces increased nearly 20 per cent as compared with the previous month, more than keeping pace with the demands from the front. The total discharged at all ports during the month was more than 919,000 short tons, as compared with 767,000 in September. The average tonnage unloaded per boat per day also showed a satisfactory increase, so that the freight handlers will be hard pressed to beat their previous records in the "race to Berlin" contest which started on Sunday, November 3.

An average of 7026 soldiers were landed daily in October. Engineers working on railroad equipment assembled and placed in service 150 French and Belgian locomotives, 2056 freight cars and 1262 American locomotives. Nearly 13,000 American freight cars are now being operated by the service of supply. American engineers repaired 308 French locomotives and 1090 cars in October.

IRRITABLE NERVOUS

Was Condition of Indiana Lady Before Beginning to Take Card-u-i, the Woman's Tonic.

Kokomo, Ind.—Mrs. H. Henkemeier, of this town, says: "I look so well, and am so well, that it does not seem as if I ever needed Cardui. But I was not always this way. . . I think I have taken a dozen bottles . . . before my little girl came."

"I was feeling dreadfully bad, had headache, backache, sick at my stomach, and nervous. . . I was very irritable, too, and nervous."

"I began taking Cardui about 6 months before my baby came. As a result all those bad feelings left me, and I just felt grand, just as if nothing at all was the matter, and when the end came I was hardly sick at all."

"Since that I have never taken Cardui at all. . . It has done me good, and I know it will help others, if they will only try it."

Many women have written grateful letters like the above, telling of the good that Cardui has done them. Why should it not help you, too? If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, and feel the need of a safe, reliable, strengthening tonic, we urge you to begin today and give Cardui a fair trial. Your dealer sells Card-u-i.

ALLIES READY TO FIGHT THE GERMAN NAVY

If Revolutionaries Persist in Defying Terms, Ships to Be Seized

WOULD BE EASY TASK

Possible Little Additional Time May Be Given for Dismantling

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Control of the German fleet by revolutionists, factions of whom are reported to have urged resistance to the allies and the United States, may interfere with the carrying out of the amended armistice provision that vessels designated to be interned be ready to leave German ports seven days after cessation of hostilities.

At the end of the seven-day period, which will expire at midnight next Sunday, the designated units of the fleet, the armistice provides, must be completely disarmed. Prompt action, even under normal conditions, would be required of the German naval forces here said. In some quarters tonight fear was expressed that with the German navy in a disorganized condition owing to the revolution, the necessary preparations for turning over the vessels might not be completed in the period specified.

Action to be taken by the allies and the United States in event the vessels were not prepared for surrender at the expiration of the allowed period was particularly indicated tonight by officials. In such an event only two courses were regarded as open—either extension by agreement of the associated governments of the time period or forcible seizure. Should forcible seizure be necessary it was thought resistance by the disorganized crews would be a hopeless enterprise.

In discussing today the naval terms of the armistice, Secretary Daniels said the allied and American navies were prepared fully to deal with any situation that might arise. He said that no intimation of the reported defiance from the revolutionists had come through any naval channel.

Pending completion of the surrender of the ships demanded and disarming of others particularly while any submarines remain in German hands, Secretary Daniels said there will be no relaxation in the protection of troop ships and other vessels.

Eventual disposition to be made of the Austrian and German ships acquired by surrender has not been indicated by officials. It is regarded as certain that the supreme war council at Versailles worked out a definite project in this respect which will soon be disclosed.

GERMANY; A NEW EMPEROR WILL SUCCEED

An uproar immediately arose. The speaker was drowned out by protesting voices. Then the Germans began offering the Americans such news and gossip as they knew. The approach of an officer broke up the conversations.

Tonight the Germans are celebrating peace along the lines by firing flares, rockets and signal lights. The night is uproarious with cheering. The victorious Americans are taking it more calmly. Along the front the majority of them are getting a good night's sleep.

Behind the lines in towns brilliantly lighted for the first time in four years, French and Americans are parading the streets arm in arm, singing the Marseillaise, the Star Spangled Banner and French and American war songs.

ORDERS DON'T STOP YANKS SEEING FRITZY

Germans were bewildered by the number of Americans speaking German.

"Sure, my old man was born in Germany," laughingly remarked one stalwart private.

"That's nothing," said another, "my mother and father were both born there."

A middle-aged landsturmner exclaimed: "Yes, the war is finished, thank the good God. My only wish is to get back to Germany."

A slender pink-cheeked machine gunner said: "Yes, I know the Kaiser has abdicated."

Instantly a young aristocrat raised his voice: "There will be no revolution in

NUXATED IRON USED BY OVER 3,000,000 PEOPLE ANNUALLY IN THIS COUNTRY ALONE TO HELP BUILD UP THEIR HEALTH STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE

You can tell the people who have plenty of iron in their blood—they are the strong, vigorous, healthy folks.

Seek around at the men and women you meet in a single day. One glance is enough to tell the ones with plenty of iron, red blood, strength and physical energy to back up their mental power and make them a success in whatever they undertake.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Director of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York and the Westchester County Hospital, says that to help make iron, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in his experience which has been found so valuable as organic Nuxated Iron. It often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time. It is conservatively estimated that Nuxated Iron is now being used by over three million people annually, and it has been used and endorsed by such men as Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury and ex-Governor of Iowa; General John L. Chen (retired), the drum-major of the 1st Cavalry, who was Sergeant in the U. S. Army when only 12 years of age; U. S. Justice Scales; Judge G. W. Atkinson, ex-Judge of the Court of Claims of Washington, and others. Nuxated Iron is discussed by all good druggists everywhere.
