John F. Groves, Once Polk Sheriff, Is Dead

DALLAS, Or., Nov. 21.—(Special to The Statesman.)—John F. Groves a former sheriff of Polk county, passed away at his home at East Independence Sunday after an illness of many months caused by cancer.

Mr. Groves was a native of Indiana and was born on September 23, 1846. When about 18 years old he came to Oregon with his parents and settled at The Dalles, afterwards moving to Marion county and then to Polk county. Mr. Groves was one of the first pioneers in the hop industry of this county and was the first farmer who raised hops on an extensive scale, paving the way for an industry that had much to do in later years in making Polk county the "blue ribbon county of the state."

He is survived by a wife, two sons, Clark, of Salem and Emmerson, who is with the army in France, and one daughter, Miss Madge. The funeral services were held Wednesday from the Chapman undertaking parlors under the direction of the Christian Science church. Interment was in the local I. O. O. F. cemetery.

New York Prices React After Strength Shown

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—In its chief essentials today's stock market was largely a duplicate of the previous session, prices reacting very generally after an early manifestation of comparative strength.

Trading was very much broader than the occasional intervals of activity were invariably at the expense of values. Professionals governed the day's operations.

The monetary situation occasioned further restraint, local financial institutions maintaining their attitude of extreme conservatism.

Post-war conditions were again apparent in heaviness of motors, coppers and other shares whose status is likely to undergo radical readjustment in the transition to peace basis.

Metals, secondary motors, utilities and the fertilizers bore the brunt of the liquidation at extreme recessions of two to four points.

Shipments and oils were the sole features of strength, but those issues reacted later with rails and United States Steel, the latter declining one and a half points and making feeble recovery. Sales amounted to 660,000 shares.
