THE RETURNING SOLDIERS ARE ALL NEEDED.

America needs all her returning soldiers. William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, has administered a stinging rebuke to the alarmists who fear that our returning soldiers will glut the labor market or swell the ranks of the Bolsheviks.

"Every returned soldier is an asset. He adds to the wealth of the nation," writes Mr. McAdoo. "It is inconceivable that a strong, healthy man can be a burden to the nation or a drug on the market. He is a producer, and PRODUCING MEN ARE MORE NEEDED TODAY THAN IN ANY PERIOD IN THE COUNTRY'S HISTORY."

[Mr. McAdoo has given voice to a truth as obvious as it is elementary.

The American soldier represents the highest type, physically and mentally, of American citizenship. He is the country's greatest asset in the reconstruction period which has now dawned.

He has been and is a worker, not an agitator; he has looked upon life and death with eyes alert and unafraid; and every man in every rank feels that he has contributed something to the great victory of free peoples over the minions of military despots.

He knows the enemies of his country because he has met them face to face.

They are the disciplined soldiers of despots; the pacifists who were called in the supreme crisis and found wanting; the agents of Socialism, Bolshevism and anarchy. He knows that the lives of two million gallant fighters were sacrificed because of Bolshevik traitors and pacifist time servers. He knows that if the advice of the Socialist and I. W. W. agitators had been followed Germany and not the United States would now be celebrating a great victory.

There is a place in the industrial field for every producer. As Mr. McAdoo so forcibly points out, the demand for men of the type of the returned soldier is greater than ever before.

It is bound to exceed the supply. And the soldier himself is not looking for trouble, not looking for leisure, not looking for loot.

He is looking for work—honest, productive work of head and hand. His aspiration is to be an effective, not a loafer-on-the-job.

One of the first boatloads of returned soldiers celebrated their home-coming in New York by attacking a parade of reds. They tore down every red flag and permitted no detachment to pass that did not carry at its head the Stars and Stripes.

The returning American soldiers will take care of both themselves and the destinies of the country they fought for, as soon as they get home and get their bearings—and no other body of men will be as powerful in keeping the whole world in the uplifting path marked out for it by the ideals of the great struggle on the battle fields against the reactionary forces of autocracy.

In the passing of Henry L. Pittock, chief owner of the Oregonian, Oregon loses one of her foremost men of affairs and the nation loses one of its outstanding newspaper publishers. Mr. Pittock was nearly 84; he had been in the newspaper harness, on the Oregonian, about sixty-five years. He was one of Oregon's wealthiest citizens, though he commenced work on the Oregonian for his board and clothes, in 1853. He carried Oregon's chief newspaper through many times of stress in the earlier years; but lately he has been able to turn over the great task of its management to younger hands. Mr. Pittock will be missed in many ways in the life of Portland and of Oregon.

The reds of Berlin that were yellow are now blue.

The Stars and Stripes is good enough for Oregon.

All the world is bringing its troubles to President Wilson. He is the chief trouble man of all the ages.

Many strikes in England. With the vast reconstruction projects there, no laborer in that country should be idle.

The Turks have promised to protect American citizens and establishments in the empire and, on account of what has recently taken place in the world, they possibly mean it.

Some one suggests that no doubt the ex-kaiser chose Holland as a place to hide in because it is such a flat country—he can see the posse coming a long way off. That is some advantage. In Switzerland it could sneak up on him.

The guardianship of Turkey and the possessions which she lost by the war may come to the United States. The Armenians and Syrians would be easy to manage. They will govern themselves well, if given half a chance. But the task of keeping the Turks in order would be a difficult one.

That is mighty good advice, given to our farmers in a creamery advertisement in The Statesman: Build more silos. And yet more and more. Western Oregon is potentially the best dairying country on earth; but its full development in this direction contemplates tens of thousands more silos. They will come.

It is all right to give victory medals to the men who have returned from the war, but would it not be more to the point if they were assured a job and that the checks to their dependent relatives would be more regular? Medals are not very successful in keeping the wolf from the door.—Exchange. Correct and to the point.

With the expenses of the railroads under government control exceeding the receipts by millions of dollars Uncle Sam will soon find himself in the position of the clothing dealer who offered to sell a coat for $5 that cost $10 and when asked how he did it replied, "Oh, we sell so many of them."—Exchange. No; before Uncle Sam gets much further into this undertaking, there will be a Republican congress at Washington, and this country will get down to business and back to first principles, and out of the railroad business, and every other sort of business that can be conducted more economically and efficiently by companies and individuals.

The gentle Lenin, when his Bolshevik assassins were trimmed in a Russian town, ordered them to return and kill all the bourgeoisie. They took the Cadmean orders, returned and were themselves killed. Who are the bourgeoisie? In Russia, they are all who are not Bolshevik. And who are the Bolsheviks? They are all who have the disposition to kill any one who does not think as they do. And as most of them have nothing to think with, it includes nearly every one in Russia who can read or who ever owned a rouble's worth of property. Bolshevism in Russia is located Socialism; it is anarchy gone mad; it is the atavism of human nature chased back to the prehistoric progenitors of the tiger and the hyena. It is a disgrace to darkest Russia. And that is as low as symbolism can be carried in terms of language.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Flu flu the coop.

May it stay away forever.

Bob Paulus will make a splendid president of the Salem Commercial club.

And there will be a lot of important things for the commercial organization, in the reorganization period ahead of us.

President Wilson laid down a set of general principles that sounded good. And they were good. But when it comes to applying them to particular cases—well, that is another matter; in fact, a long list of other matters. But it will all come out in the wash, and the world will enter on a new era.

Looks like both sides of the strike situation at Seattle wait to fight. This is part of the war after the war.

New York Forty-fourth Voting for Prohibition

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—New York became the fortieth state to ratify the federal prohibition amendment when the senate tonight by a vote of 71 to 24, concurred in the McNab Ratifying resolution adopted by the assembly last week.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

WAR TRAINING BILL'S OBJECT

Central Camp Would Be Established at Eugene by Hurley's Measure

To establish a central officers' training camp at the University of Oregon, a military training commission and military training in the high schools of Oregon is the purpose of a preparatory bill introduced yesterday by Senator Hurley.

The measure proposes that the state superintendent of schools, an appointee of the board of regents of the state university and another member appointed by the regents of Oregon Agricultural college. The commission would be given power to prescribe and regulate military training in the high schools and training would begin in September of this year. The member appointed by the regents of the University of Oregon would be designated to go about the state as an inspector of training in the several schools.

Senator Hurley's bill providing a refunding to irrigation districts of money paid for certification of bonds and fixing fees to be charged for the purpose by the secretary of state was passed by the senate yesterday. The following bills were introduced at the afternoon session:

Lieutenant F. W. Mason Awarded Service Medal

Lieutenant Francis W. Mason is among the Salem men who have been awarded medals for heroic service in France, the one awarded to him being the distinguished service cross. Lieutenant Mason was with the Portland Railway Light & Power company while in Salem. When Company M went to the Mexican border he was with it and later went to France with it. A French paper says:

"The commander-in-chief, in the name of the president, has awarded the distinguished service cross to Lieutenant Francis W. Mason, 328th infantry for extraordinary heroism in action near St. Georges, France, on October 22, 1918. Lieutenant Mason led a patrol of 40 men through the wood in order to envelope the enemy's position. Advancing under heavy shell fire, this officer was severely wounded, but displayed excellent leadership and unusual bravery. He continued the advance after being wounded and succeeded in occupying the wood."

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns grey or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

IN A SOCIAL WAY

By DORRIS LEAH SIKES

JONQUILS formed a pretty centerpiece for a pleasant dinner party for which Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Myers and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Webb were joint hosts at the Myers home Monday night. Those for whom covers were laid were Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Bellinger, Dr. and Mrs. John C. Evans, Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Mills and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Myers had as their guest at dinner James Chinook of Grants Pass.

Mrs. C. Leroy Brown and two daughters who have been enjoying a visit with Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Ida L. Niles, returned to their home in Portland yesterday.

H. W. Scott, of the firm of Scott & Piper, is back in Salem again greeting old friends and laying plans for the future. He was a member of the motor transport corps until mustered out a little over a week ago and may reenter the bicycle and motorcycle business again in Salem. His former partner, C. S. Piper, is still in the service, stationed in Portland.

Miss Amanda Matthews was a week-end guest of Salem friends.

Mrs. Milton Seymour, of Seattle accompanied by her brother-in-law R. B. Faulds, of Portland, have been guests of the latter's niece, Edna Garfield and Mrs. Roy Anderson, at 205 Lincoln street.

Sergeant Jeffrey Tavener of the coast artillery, recently discharged from service at Camp Eustis, Virginia, has been visiting Sergeant Horace M. Bibby, at 205 Lincoln street. Sergeant Tavener, whose home was formerly in Ashland, expects to locate in this vicinity.

Miss Leona Graber, who but recently came from Alaska, was a guest over the week-end, of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Graber. She went on to Ashland Monday for a visit with her sister.

One of the first letters received from Salem men with the army of occupation was one received Tuesday from Clay Toothacre, 10th company, 6th regiment, U. S. marines, by his parents Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Toothacre. It was mailed at Lautersdorf, Germany and is dated December 23.

Prior to his enlistment over a year ago, young Toothacre was employed in the state printing office. In October he was wounded and confined to a hospital in Paris but at the time of the signing of the armistice had returned to the scene of activity.

Will H. Bennett, state bank superintendent, and family have leased the Jackson residence, 507 Center street and are moving from 155 North Fourteenth street. Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Sargent lived in the house until recently and during Governor West's administration, the Wests had the place.

Mrs. J. B. Littler has returned from Eugene where she was the guest of Miss May Rowland.

Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Cherrington had Miss Elizabeth Briggs as their guest at dinner last evening.

Mrs. W. W. Banks came down from Portland yesterday to spend a few days with her husband, Senator Banks.

Friends of Miss Carrie Cooksey have received cards announcing her marriage to Richard Lacey, which was an event of last month in Indianapolis, Ind.

The bride was a student of Willamette university with the class of 1917. While in college she was society editor of the collegian and

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.
