DR. HARTLEY'S MESSAGE

About three weeks ago a young man interested in a statement I had made in the local papers, to the effect that rheumatism and stomach disorders were caused by mouth infection, came to my office suffering with sciatic rheumatism and stomach trouble. A brief history of his case is as follows:

About two years ago he became ill with stomach trouble, throwing up many meals immediately after eating them. He took treatment from two Portland physicians. One of them endeavored to persuade him to undergo a major operation, contending that the lining of his stomach had been destroyed by disease. Rheumatism followed, causing the patient a great deal of pain and annoyance. Stomach trouble grew worse. The young man later took treatment from two Salem physicians without relief. One of these doctors also tried to persuade him to go to the hospital. He also took treatment at the warm spring without benefit.

Then this young man came to me he had been unable to work for eight months, was throwing up more than one half his meals immediately after swallowing them, with rheumatism so bad that he walked on toes of one foot in order to avoid pain as much as possible. One of his physicians had told him his right leg was one and one-half inches shorter on account of rheumatism, than it should be.

My treatment was as follows: I painlessly removed a number of diseased roots of teeth, thoroughly scraped diseased tissue from the parts of the jaws that these teeth had occupied and restored to health the tissues about the teeth remaining in the mouth. Result: He is now able to eat whatever he desires with no tendency to vomit, can dance a jig and run a foot race with ease. Both legs are now the same length. This man lives in Salem and nothing would please me better than to give his name and address to anyone interested in his or her health, and I am sure he would be pleased to tell you his experience with doctors and about the miserable life he has lived for the past two years.

If you are sick and are not willing to take the time to investigate cases like this, why do you wonder at your doctor withholding the truths about mouth infection from you, when he can make a lot of money by doing so. You certainly ought to be as much interested in your own case as you can reasonably expect your doctor to be. This young man got relief by having the cause of his diseases removed. How can you expect to be free from your rheumatism and stomach trouble as long as the cause is not removed? My specialty is removing the causes of diseases without pain; this bringing about cures, while other methods fail to relieve.

Flag of United States Curiosity to Turkish

ADRIANOPLE, via London, Jan. 15.—For the first time since the United States broke relations with the Ottoman government, the American flag flies on Turkish soil. Over the American Red Cross relief station in this little Moslem city the Stars and Stripes may be seen floating alongside the Red Cross flag. The bright colors have created no little curiosity among the Turks, many of whom have never seen the American flag before.

The Red Cross depot was established here to supply food and clothing to the great numbers of Greek and Serbian refugees who are returning from points in Bulgaria and Turkey.

The relief station is in charge of Israel Marcus of Denver, Col., a member of the American Red Cross mission to Greece.
