ROAD BOND BILL IS SENT TO GOVERNOR

time they expressed disapproval of the words "having regard to strength durability and resistance to wear," contained in the clause dealing with award of contracts. The move to go into committee of the whole was voted down. Senator Thomas said he knew the motion would be voted down but wished to give all members an opportunity to give expression to their views. After a stormy session in the house Representative Hare succeeded in incorporating into the bonding bill a provision to the effect that if patent payments were laid by the highway commission, the state should pay the royalty. This permits a segregation of the royalty for materials and work and together with other amendments incorporated in the house strike have at the paving trust. Mr. Hare is also the author of the bill directing the attorney general to set aside the paving patent of the Warren brothers and which now has passed both houses. Provision is made in the measure that if the attorney general holds that the patents are of doubtful validity the highway commission shall direct contractors to lay the bitulithic pavement and that the state shall hold them harmless from any litigation that may be instituted on the grounds of patent infringements. It is whispered that the attorney general is certain to hold the patents of the Warren brothers invalid, and lawyers generally agree that his intention will be upheld in the courts should this transpire. It will mean that the state can lay bitulithic pavement without paying a single cent for royalty. Senator Lachmund's bill prohibiting the exaction of 10-year maintenance guarantees in connection with paving contracts is pending in the house, and Representative Sheldon's bill on the same subject is pending in the senate.

One of the measures is certain to be enacted. The bill of Senator Thomas and Lachmund, providing that all contracts must be awarded on specifications prepared by the highway engineer is also pending in the house and it is certain to pass. In addition it is expected that the house road committee will report out a substitute for senate bill 67, over which such a tropical fight was waged in the senate. Its main principles will likely be incorporated in senate bill 68 and the prospects for its passage are said to be bright. Senate bill 67 provides for the pitting of an unpatented pavement against a patented pavement in road specifications, and senate bill 68 provides that paving companies must file with certain designated officers statements saying what they will sell their royalty for to contractors. It is aimed against secret agreements in the paving world.

lem attorney, had provided a detailed statement showing the fallacy of the 1917 law and the necessity of returning to the old law before the 1917 act was passed, and in addition judges, lawyers, and numerous others had written in urging passage of the Martin bill. Some opposition still developed yesterday but not enough to hurt the chances of the measure.

LEWIS HIDES

reading and E. F. Smith of Multnomah insisted that Lewis be brought in and his vote recorded. Joe Singer was sent out after Lewis and failed to find him. Then Smith said he was advised that Lewis was hiding in a committee room upstairs where he had locked himself in. At that Singer and Robertson were sent by Speaker Jones to bring back Lewis bodily if necessary or "dead or alive," as the speaker jestingly put it. Singer located Lewis, being tipped off by one of the stenographers on the engrossed bills committee that she had seen him hide in the room. Singer demanded that Lewis unroll the door and Lewis refused. "I have orders to get you if I have to break the door down," declared Singer. Still Lewis was obdurate. At that Singer hopped on a chair and started to climb through the window. This was too much for Lewis and he gave in and consented to be escorted into the house. On casting his vote he voted no, after explaining that the bill was not drawn in constitutional form and was therefore invalid. The final vote on passage was close, but the proponents of the bill couldn't muster an enough ballots to put it over.

BOND ISSUE

The committee showed the majority also in favor of a bond issue. Among the speakers on the question were Mr. Kay, Mr. Keiser, Mr. Downing, County Judge W. M. Bisbee, Roadmaster James Culver, Mr. Gehlhar and Mr. Moore.

DR. MARSHALL IS IN PORTLAND

Personal Representative of Charles Piez to Attempt Wage Adjustment

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 20.—Dr. L. C. Marshall, personal representative of Charles Piez, and himself a member of the Emergency Fleet corporation, arrived here today to take up with shipyard workers questions of wage adjustment to be settled up on the expiration of the present Macy agreement March 31 next. He was in conference during the day with representatives of both employers and employees in the shipyards, but said no conclusion had been reached. Three delegates from the Pacific coast metal trades district council now in session here, called on Mr. Marshall unofficially to question him in regard to the government's ultimatum that all shipyard strikers must return to work under their existing contracts before negotiations would be opened with them concerning their demands. Mr. Marshall told the metal workers, he said afterwards, that there would be no modification of the government's attitude on this point. Although they had announced previously that the result of their vote on a proposal for a coast-wide strike

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and who have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from their ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows: Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmitol (double-strength). Take this home and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. Parmitol is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tube, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective. Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial. Capital Drug Co.
