

JOSEPH HAINES WAS SUCCESSFUL

Passing of Progressive Young Business Man Is Regretted by Public

Joseph Haines, who died recently in Portland, had been a resident of Salem from the time of his birth with the exception of two years when he lived in Spokane and engaged in business. He was born in the city of Salem on December 16, 1888, and

A CHILD'S TONGUE SHOWS IF LIVER OR BOWELS ARE ACTIVE

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Give Fruit Laxative at Once.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping. When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue. Mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleanser" should always be the first treatment given. Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

died February 22, 1919, being at the time of his death 31 years of age. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Haines, who are old residents if this place.

Joseph Haines, or "Joe," as he was familiarly called by his numerous friends and acquaintances, was an exemplary young man. He was one of the merchants of the city who was respected and honored by all who knew him. His affairs were extraordinarily successful. From small beginnings, through industry and attention to business he had built up a splendid establishment. His ambition was to add to and have a business second to none.

While away from Salem he was never satisfied. His heart was with the place where he was born and spent so many happy days. At the first opportunity he returned here. His success in his work clearly demonstrated that one with diligence and honesty can make a success in the town in which one is born and reared.

His many friends and acquaintances regret exceedingly that he passed from life in his early manhood, before he was able to carry out his worthy ambition. To his loving parents and sister, Mrs. Holzman of Portland, the public extends its sincere sympathy in the great and irreparable loss which they have sustained in the death of their son and brother. Joseph Haines will long be remembered for his lovable traits of character which endeared him to the people of Salem.

One afternoon a traveler was rambling along a country road, when he observed a small boy sitting on a bridge, watching a great red glow in the western sky. "Young man," said he, enthusiastically, "I am glad to see you so interested in beautiful scenery."

"Yes, sir," assented the youngster. "There is nothing more beautiful at times than the setting sun," pursued the traveler. "Do you often come here to watch it?" "That ain't no settin' sun!" exclaimed the boy, turning to the other with a happy expression. "That's our schoolhouse burnin' down."

GINGRICH THIEF IN ELKS' SHOW

And He Fits the Part to Perfection, Says Director James Mott

Oscar B. Gingrich, who plays the part of Alfred Wilson, the "crook," in the 1919 Elks play, "Officer 666" March 12 and 13. Photo by Jenks.

When "Officer 666," the annual Elks show for 1919 is staged at the Grand theater on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week, an actor entirely new to local Elks productions will make his appearance. This actor is Oscar B. Gingrich, Y. M. C. A. director and automobile dealer, who will enact the role of the famous picture "crook" in McHugh's celebrated melodramatic farce.

Although this is Mr. Gingrich's maiden bow in an Elks play, he is nevertheless no stranger to the local stage. As a matter of fact he is about the best known amateur entertainer in Salem. He is a singer of established reputation, and there are very few Salemites who have not heard "Ging" warble from time to time.

When the Elks decided upon "Officer 666" as their big theatrical stunt for this year they were at first up against it for a man who could give a good performance of the "crook," which is one of the leading parts in the play, and by far the most difficult one. The show committee cast out their dramatic dragnet over the town, and while they succeeded in pulling dozens of excellent actors, none of them were entirely suited for this part. Finally they made their big haul and landed Gingrich. James Mott, the director, who can spot a "type" as far as he can see it, threw a mild fit of joy when Cooke Patton towed Gingrich into the rehearsal hall, and fastened the part on Oscar without further ceremony.

The name of the "crook" in "Officer 666" is Alfred Wilson. He is about the smoothest piece of rascality that is a play author ever conceived. He is one of those high-class thieves who can continue to pull the rawest kind of a deal right in the face of his victim, and get away with it.

Mr. Gingrich fits the part of the "crook" to perfection. This doesn't mean, of course, that "Ging" is a crook by nature or anything like that. It simply means that he is so good an actor that he can throw himself into the character and put the part over in an honest-to-goodness professional manner. Oscar Gingrich's acting in the part of Alfred Wilson is going to be one of the biggest hits that was ever registered in an Elks play.

The prices for this year's Elks show will be the same as always—one dollar for the reserved seats and four bits for the gallery. The seat sale for both Wednesday's and Thursday's performances of "Officer 666" will open at the Opera house pharmacy at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning, March 11. As it is a foregone conclusion, the 1919 play will duplicate the records of Elks shows in the past and play to capacity business on both nights, those who want the best seats should make their reservations early.

FOR ACUTE ACHE OF THE FEET
Sprinkling one or two Allen's Foot-Ease powders in the foot bath and soak and rub the feet. It takes the sting out of corns and bunions and smarting, aching feet. Then for lasting comfort, shake Allen's Foot-Ease into your shoes. It takes the friction from the shoe, rests the feet and makes walking a delight. Always use it for dancing parties and to break in new shoes. All dealers sell it.

JOBS AWARDED TO ARCHITECTS

New Buildings Are to Go Up at Feeble-Minded School and Hospital

Architects Lewis Irvine Thompson of Portland and Fred Legg of Salem were yesterday awarded the drawing of plans and specifications for the new buildings to be constructed at the state institution for the feeble-minded and at the state tuberculosis hospital. The awards were made at the regular March meeting of the state board of control.

At the school for the feeble-minded two dormitory cottages are to be built at a cost of $27,000 each. One is awarded to each of the architects. Mr. Thompson will draw the plans for a new pavilion and superintendent's cottage at the tuberculosis hospital which will cost a total of $21,500. Mr. Legg gets the reconstruction of the dairy barn at the school for the feeble-minded, estimated at $2000, and improvements in the heating plant at 10,000. The latter will not be done this year.

The board granted Dr. R. E. L. Steiner, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, leave of absence to appear before a committee of the California legislature at the request of the California board of control to enlighten the committee relative to the Oregon practice of transporting patients to the insane hospital in charge of attendants rather than sheriffs. This is the system in Oregon and is about to be adopted in California.

Ben W. Olcott sat in the board meeting yesterday both as governor and as secretary of state.
