Mr. Terwilliger Tells What He Does Not Do-

"Recently when returning from one of our cemeteries, this question was asked me by one of our local ministers. 'Terwilliger, if it is a fair question how much did you charge for such a funeral (it being one of a little child whose parents were in poor circumstances).' As I did not reply to his question, he said: 'You should let the public know such things.' I replied that I would rather they know the things I did not do, than those that I did do.

"I will try to tell you of a few of the things I have not done. I have never refused any one a funeral outfit or asked for security, and during my ten years in this city I have trusted scores of people unknown to me at the time of getting their needs supplied. I am safe in saying few funeral diverctors in Oregon have lost less in business than I have. True. I have not been paid for some funerals. I have attended a few funerals that I did not ask pay, but gave them freely without price. I have never sued a man or woman for a funeral. I have never tried to get people to take expensive funerals by appealing to their feelings when their hearts are rent with sorrow and grief. I might have done so and afterwards they would have found the payment burdensome. I have many times appealed to those sad stricken ones to be moderate even in funerals for their own good. I am minus the extra paltry dollars, but, believe me, I sleep well at nights, and can look straight into the eyes of those I so advised. I have never used creed, politics, secret societies or society influences to gain patronage in my profession. I have left party and sect which causes heart burns among men, out of of my professional life. I have never overcharged or oppressed any one. I have never, nor will I ever hover around sick chambers or homes to look for professional patronage, for I firmly believe an unseen eye is looking over our professional lives as well as our actions as professing Christians."

-G. E. Terwilliger,

Mrs. Terwilliger, the only graduate and licensed lady embalmer practicing in Salem, will be pleased to take full charge of preparation for the funerals of women and children.

Another Commissioner Quits

James A. Cranston has resigned as a member of the soldiers and sailors commission created by the last legislature and Governor Olcott announces the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel George H. Kelly to succeed Mr. Cranston. The reason given by Mr. Cranston for resigning is lack of time. Lieutenant Colonel Kelly is the first soldier to be appointed on the commission. He was on military duty in France and was promoted while there,
