New Suits, Coats, Dolmans Capes and Dresses

THAT TELL THE STORY OF SPRING FASHIONS

The authentic Spring Modes are now assembled here in abundance, showing an unusual ornamentation and novelty of styles. Yet to be well dressed need not mean to be expensively dressed as is shown in the Spring display of Salem's greatest Women's Apparel Store.

Suits for Women and Misses $32.50

Supremacy of fine tailoring and perfection of tailoring is nowhere better illustrated than in these smart models.

The materials are excellent, even to the newly applied buttons and braid trimming, some with jaunty vestees.

Semi-fitting styles, box-coats, Russian blouse effects and plain modes, materials are serges, tricelines, poiret twill, gabardine and mixtures.

Better suits, including belted semi-belted, box, blouse and close-fitted styles, serges, gabardine, tricotine and mixtures, trimmed with braid and buttons.

JUST FOR FUN.

At Last.—The doctor coughed gravely.

"I am sorry to tell you," he said, looking down at the man in the bed, "that there is no doubt you are suffering from small-pox."

The patient turned on his pillow and looked up at his wife.

"Julia," he said, in a faint voice, "if any of my creditors call, tell them that at last I am in a position to give them something."

The Indignant Types.—After the printers has gone home the types in the type cases held an indignation meeting.

"What was it that the proofreader read last?" asked a question mark. Several quotation points spoke up: "It was: 'The types unfortunately made it appear the opposite of what we intended.'"

"What nonsense!" "How unjust!" "Shame!" shouted the exclamation points.

"As if it were our fault," said all the italic in concert.

"The editor always lays HIS blunders on US!" cried the capital letters.

"Let us strike," proposed the blackface font.
"Agreed!" "Agreed!" screamed all the types. And when the printers came back the next morning they found them all in horrid pi on the floor.—Presbyterian Banner.

His Favorite Hymn.—They were discussing hymns in a certain Brooklyn home when the young hopeful of the family expressed as his opinion the fact that the best of all hymns was that one about the little boy stealing the old man's watch. It required some questioning and some search through hymnals before the older folks discovered that the boy's favorite ran something like this:

"The old man meek and mild.
The priest of Israel, sly;
His watch the temple child,
The little Samuel, kept."

The American Expeditionary Forces had less than 50 men blinded as a result of the war, according to Dr. J. E. Hendrickson, who returned to Newport News, Va., from Washington, where he conferred with the surgeon-general of the army relative to the disposition and care of

A Nice Distinction.—It is impossible not to appreciate the resourceful wit of the milliner of whom Tit-Bits tells. A lady selecting a hat, asked cautiously:

"Is there anything about these feathers that might bring me into trouble with the Bird Protection Society?"

"Oh, no, madam," said the milliner.

"But did they not belong to some bird?" persisted the lady.

"Well, madam," replied the milliner pleasantly, "these feathers are the feathers of a howl; and the howl, you know, madam, seen' as 'ow fond 'e is of mice, is more of a cat than a 'bird.'—Youths Companion.

Goodrich Rubber Company
Has Information on Roads

One of the many indications of the widespread interest among the various states for good roads has been shown by West Virginia, where the present state legislature unanimously adopted an amendment to the constitution authorizing a definite system of state roads, according to the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. The amendment authorized the issuance of bonds not to exceed $50,000,000 outstanding at one time for road construction and maintenance. West Virginians realized their biggest problem was one of communication and transportation. They knew the state possessed unlimited resources in iron, coal, gas and oil, but that the progress of their commonwealth was seriously hampered by inadequate highways. The scenery of the state is surpassed by few, if any, of the states and will offer a mecca for automobile tourists.

LACK OF LUBRICATION IS EXPENSIVE.

Watch the lubrication on your automobile and tractor if you would avoid cost of repairs. It is cheaper to buy oil than to buy machinery. Use only lubricants of best quality. The manufacturer will advise you which brand of oil is best for the particular machine. Keep oils and greases protected from grit and dust. See that all oil containers are cleaned before using. Carefully follow oiling chart in lubricating your machine. A small amount of oil at regular intervals rather than an excess of oil occasionally is best for all machinery.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone. Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.
