BOLSHEVİK PROPAGANDA IS NOT FOR SUCH AS THESE.

(Pacific Soldier and Sailor.)

Is the man who has been through Hell for an ideal, a man who has known that greatest love, that of the man who lays down his life for his friend, is that man material for the subtle propaganda of the Bolshevik or I. W. W.?

Has the returned fighter sympathy for the lying hypocrite, whose pretensions of brotherhood cover the yellow garb of a slacker and coward? Has he?

Ask him.

Looks like eternal vigilance against the thrip is to be the price of prunes for the growers of the Salem district. So be it. The thrip must be fought to the last egg. The only good thrip is a dead one.

This is Jersey day in Salem. All hail to the greatest Jersey cow in the world, at Marion, Marion county, Oregon!

Thrift for prune men means death to the thrip.

The package of brass tacks has been opened at Paris. The Kaiser will be tried, and Germany will have to put up an earnest initial payment of five billions, and there will be a damage court to assess the price of international outlawry, for thirty years, and then some.

Appearances are that the Oregon battalion that was in England will be sent to Russia. This brings the Bolshevik outfit to our home firesides.

The English statesman who advocates independence for Ireland under an American mandatory, if there is such a statesman, certainly believes in entangling alliances—for us.

Jersey day in Salem.

You can hear anything in or from Paris.

The hotel men of Paris would no doubt like to prolong the agony.

The allied armies may have to go to Berlin yet—perhaps by invitation.

Ultimatums are flying fast in Paris. Let 'er ult.

Rumored that President Wilson gave fourteen points of an ultimatum to the big four.

If the Anti-Saloon League is at all appreciative it ought to arrange for underwriting the entire issue of the Fifth Liberty Loan.—Exchange.

There were no braver soldiers in the field during the late war than the colored men. One whole regiment was decorated for gallantry. It is said that a colored regiment was the first to reach the banks of the Rhine. They were all good American soldiers and that is the least that can be said about them. They were as white as snow in the performance of their severe duties.

Former Ambassador Bryce says that the English-speaking people are ordained by Providence to serve mankind. It sounds a good deal like that Emperor William stuff so prevalent before the outbreak of the war.

Another thing, what are we going to do for flavoring extract to be used in mince pies after the coming January? Men and brethren, this is no laughing matter! A mince pie without a bit of kick is an abomination.—Los Angeles Times.

(You have either a vitiated taste or a poor cook. Billions of mince pies are being made in the United States, outside of Los Angeles, without alcoholic flavoring extract. And eaten, too, by people who know how to enjoy the highest forms of gustatory delight—and they are yelling for more. There are fifty-seven ways to make good mince pie without a telegraph pole, a stick or a kick in it.)

It is a question whether an occasional copy of Colonel George Harvey's Weekly, sent to President Wilson by some well-intentioned friend, would not cause that busy man more laughter than chagrin. The president, one has always been told, is highly appreciative of humor, and word pictures of himself so cholerically drawn could not, it would seem, fail to furnish him with both amusement and profit, between sessions of the peace conference.—Christian Science Monitor. (Colonel Harvey takes himself so d— seriously that he is a joke. He will go down to his grave never realizing that he is an ass.)

THE WHEELS GO ROUND

It is now stated that the combined capital invested in the automobile industry and its accessories exceeds the total capitalization of the national banks of the United States. The buzz wagon is undoubtedly the greatest thing on wheels and is the growth of but one generation, at that.—Exchange.

(Yes; of only half a generation, according to the latest vital statistics. A generation in the United States runs a little above fifty years for women, and a little below fifty years for men.)

ROME AND DIVORCE

The Italian chamber of deputies recently defeated a measure which would establish the institution of divorce in the kingdom. Over Reno way and even in some other sections of the United States it seems funny to think that a first-class, high-gear nation can get along without its flock of divorce lawyers. People who go to Rome and do as the Romans do, have to worry along without a trip to the divorce court. Of course the authorities are not able to compel incompatibles to live together, but they make it mighty hard to secure a legal separation. It is strange, but the divorce proposition came up as an amendment to a measure which defines and enlarges the legal standing of women. The new woman wants her divorce. Give her a vote and a divorce and she will stand quiet—for a minute.

THRIFT NOTE

If everybody in the United States saved a nickel a day it would only take eight months to put away a billion dollars. Now go ahead and figure what you would do if you had a billion.

TANTALUS

Sweden is sending 200,000 barrels of salted herrings to the Germans. Maybe this is the scaly hand of Nemesis. With most of the breweries not working the Prussians are like to perish of thirst.

SWISS PEACE

Although propagandists of every maddening breed have been given asylum on Swiss soil the people of that nation seem born with a balance wheel. Occupying the most sensitive spot on the map of Europe during the recent unhappiness, Switzerland alone maintained her temper and preserved order. Even at this moment there is less of riot and discord within her borders than possibly any land on earth and yet she is surrounded by bonfires.

LEST WE FORGET!

The tumult and the shouting dies—The captains and the kings depart—Still stands Thine ancient sacrifice, An humble and a contrite heart, Lord God of hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget—lest we forget!

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Unwelcome rain.
It holds back the planting.

Let the Jersey men who will be in Salem today know that you appreciate what they are doing for this valley.

They have by their splendid efforts elected Marion county the capital of all the world of Jerseydom. In fact we are "sitting on the world" of that golden breed, with the best Jersey cow ever known.

The prune men have got to fight their "cooties" and fight them right now, and fight them to a finish. There is no use being mealy-mouthed about it. Forewarned is forearmed. A little delay, and the "cooties" would multiply by billions, and take all the prune buds.

Now they are coming across in the direct American way at Paris. Whatever caused it, the American big stick or something else as powerful, results are being reached, and the crowd around the horseshoe table will soon, at yesterday's rate of progress, get to the end of their history making task.

IN A SOCIAL WAY

By DORRIS LEAH SIKES

MRS. Anna L. Burdick, federal field agent for women and girls in trades and industries, who is making a tour of the United States, spoke yesterday before Portland school teachers. She left the same day for Berkeley, California, where she will confer with other members of the federal vocational board.

"There are over 11,000,000 women and girls in the United States in trades and industries; this, you must remember, is over one-tenth of the entire population," said Mrs. Burdick in her address. A survey of the entire country brings to light the following: of women between the ages of 16 and 20 in every five are in industry; of women between the ages of 20 and 44, one in every four is at work, and of women over 44 one in every seven are in industry.

Mrs. Burdick is urging a study of the needs of these women and girls, followed by the establishment of suitable training for them that will help them to do their work better and thus secure promotion. In the past little or no attention has been given to the training and education of these girls and women and it is a part of the big federal educational program to offer this training. Investigations which she has made have brought to light many facts and figures hitherto unknown to the public.

Miss Margaret J. Cosper is in receipt of a letter from her nephew, Lieutenant Lloyd Cosper, of Pasadena, saying he has gained admission to Sarbonne university at Paris where he will take an intensive course in the study of French.

Tuesday evening the Westminster Guild met at 158 N. 12th street. Mrs. David Hodge and Miss Nell Hollenbeck being hostesses. The home was fragrant and beautiful with cherry blossoms, orchids, yellow violets and lamb tongues.

Miss Alice Judd, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Eakin, sang "The Spring is Here," and responded to an encore with "Waters of Minnetonka." Miss Eakin played a lovely Beethoven selection. Mrs. Hodge showed some beautiful lace made in India and presented to her.

Refreshments were served, and Mrs. Case read a letter from Rev. Carl Elliott written from St. Michael, where he is now stationed. Mrs. Hodge read a letter from a Canadian nephew, who wrote a most interesting recital of his experiences during his four years' active service in France and Belgium.

Miss Leola Belle Taiter extended an invitation to the guild to be her guests at the next meeting to be held in two weeks.

Miss Grace Hammit, of Eugene is visiting with her sister, Mrs. H. R. Pressnell, for an indefinite period.

A sumptuous dinner, to which friends and relatives were invited celebrated the birthday of Mrs. F. A. Wood, of Cloverdale, Sunday afternoon. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hoven, Mrs. Nora Robertson, Mrs. Cora Schweinfurth, Miss Myrtle Ireland, Fred Ireland, Miss Myrtle Ireland, Oren Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. R. SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful. This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Crescent Baking Powder

The very best baking powder is the double acting one. It raises first when moisture is added in the mixing bowl, and then again when heat is applied. Crescent Baking Powder has this double action and it is what is needed to thoroughly permeate the dough mass and make delicious, light and easily digested breads, cakes and biscuits. Try Crescent. You'll be delighted with the results. Your grocer probably has it—if not write us giving his name and address and yours, and we will send you the Crescent Cook Book free on request.

OLCOTT CALLS BOARD MEETING

New Land Settlement Commission Soon Ready for Actual Operation

Governor Olcott announced yesterday that the first meeting of the newly appointed land settlement commission will be held in Salem Tuesday, April 15, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. Without exception the appointees have accepted places in the commission. They are Emory Olmstead, Portland; Whitney L. Boise, Portland; Robert N. Stanfield, Stanfield; C. H. Baker, Bend; and Charles Hall, Marshfield.

After the commission has organized, which it is expected to do at the meeting arranged, it will incorporate under the laws of the state with the capital stock of $50,000 appropriated under the act fully paid up. Initial details relative to incorporation will probably be attended to at the meeting next Tuesday. Under the new enactment now effective, the commission is to hold its first meeting upon call of the governor and at that meeting elect its chairman. It has authority to employ a secretary and manager who is not a member of the commission and any other clerical and technical assistance found necessary.

Alkali in Soap Bad for the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary multifield coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonsful will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing any particle of dust, dirt, dandruff quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get multifield coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

AN ENDLESS CHAIN

Here is the endless chain of recommendations for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There is hardly a town or village in the United States from which women have not written letters telling of health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If you are suffering from some female trouble, ask your neighbor if she has ever used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In many cases you will find that she has regained health by its use and will recommend it to you.

TOLL OF STORM

Kansas and south into the Mexican mountains of Chihuahua.

Wire communication was crippled during the day and tonight. The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company reported its chief difficulty in Wyoming, west of Cheyenne where the wires have been in bad condition since Sunday. Considerable trouble also was experienced in Nebraska and Kansas, though intermittent communication was maintained under poor wire conditions.

The Western Union Telegraph Company's eastern wires were down with the exception of a Kansas City wire. Officials said tonight. Telegraphic communication was maintained with the west. Associated Press dispatches were received in Denver from the outside world under trying conditions. Intermittent communication with the east compelled relaying of many dispatches to the coast and back to Denver via San Francisco.
