

Sculptor, Who Moulded Roosevelt's Features at White House, Making Bust from Death Mask

This photograph shows James E. Fraser, the sculptor, at work in his New York studio on a bust of Theodore Roosevelt. It is being made for the Roosevelt family from a death mask made by Mr. Fraser, who was a close personal friend of the former president. Mr. Fraser made the only bust of Colonel Roosevelt from life while he was in the White House. The sculptor's best-known work is "The End of the Trail," depicting the end of the Indian. He designed the buffalo nickel.

mitted by Chairman Fred W. Mulkey to Governor Olcott.

Because of the failure of congress to appropriate money for federal employment service, the commission on March 17 decided to take over the soldier placement work at Liberty temple for a period of two months, beginning March 23, expenditures not to be in excess of $500 a month. Captain Conville was continued in charge and his report for the first week under the commission shows 417 soldiers, sailors and marines registered for employment, 402 of this number referred to positions with a live list of 400 for whom no suitable employment could be found. During the same week employers called upon the commission to fill 637 vacancies. Captain Conville is quoted as saying: "This would make it appear that there are many more vacancies than returning soldiers, but this is true only in respect to those ordinarily classified as common labor."

In making a study of cities of the state outside of Portland where federal employment offices are located the commission found that in most of them there was no especial soldier placement problem. "The commission would not have been justified in paying the salary of even one clerk in any of these places," says the commission's report. The commission decided to assist these offices by a division of expense agreed according to the ratio that soldier employment was to total employment for January and February. This was on condition that the balance necessary for maintenance be furnished locally. This arrangement is for two months, from March 23 to May 23. By this rule the apportionment is as follows, for the towns where offices are located:

Astoria, $78; Baker, $19.40; Eugene, $100; La Grande, $11.30; Marshfield, $28.75; Medford, $82; Pendleton, $18.30; Roseburg, $22.20; Salem, $39.

Chairman Mulkey's report covers the work of the commission since its organization. It shows that from the $100,000 appropriation of the legislature $5000 was drawn and on March 9 forwarded to O. C. Leiter, chairman of the Oregon overseas welcome committee in New York.

In February the commission adopted a resolution to advance to the proper officials in charge of student loan funds at the state educational institutions sums necessary to be loaned to students returning from military service to enable them to complete their courses, the advances to be evidenced by non-interest bearing notes payable on demand, and to be approved by the proper persons of the faculties or student bodies.

In lieu of the $5000 forwarded to Mr. Leiter the commission drew $10,000 from the fund. "Under an opinion of the attorney-general," says the report, "it is a felony to deposit the funds of the commission as a general deposit in a bank. A special deposit, requiring as it does that identical funds be retained by the bank, makes it impractical to draw checks against such a deposit. The banks could have and are willing to furnish adequate security as a safeguard for the commission's funds, but inasmuch as a general deposit of the title of funds deposited passes to the bank the relation is that of debtor and creditor and the deposit would amount to a loan to the bank. In state vs. Howe, 27 Ore 138, our supreme court held that the act of loaning aside from neglecting or refusing to pay over as by law directed or when lawfully demanded constitutes a crime in itself."

Because of the difficulty in getting the funds into bankable form applications of two student soldiers for loans have not yet been granted. Relative to relief work the report says that the American Red Cross is willing to take care of soldier relief work in Oregon and has requested the commission that it do not enter this field until notified by F. P. Foisie, director of civilian relief, northwest division, American Red Cross, that the Red Cross is no longer financially able to handle the work. Relative to an application of the Marshfield chapter of the Red Cross for assistance from the commission it developed that the Marshfield chapter had sufficient funds on hand.

Touching upon some points of criticism the report has the following to say:

"The deliberations of this commission have been harmonious. Its policies have been unanimous, but have not pleased some outsiders. Some people seem unable to understand how this commission can be of assistance to the soldier and sailor unless every demand of the discharged man for money be granted. They proceed upon the theory that nothing is too good for the soldiers and sailors of our country. This, of course, is true, but the great problem is what is best to do for the well being of the discharged man as real relief. This is often not in accordance with the ideas of the discharged man."

when the opening day of the campaign arrives everything will be in readiness for the entire organization to start with a rush.

The executive committee has found a better feeling than was anticipated and the loan is expected to go over big with Salem and Marion county making its quota as they have in past loans.

nor program could not trespass on the state's right to deal with labor legislation. Provisions were made to overcome this difficulty.

"The maritime nations objected to our seaman's laws, but a protocol was drawn up so that no state shall be asked or be required to enforce any agreement in the covenant of the inter-allied labor committee which involves a lowering of standards for seamen or any other of the laws which might make standards lower than existing ones."

WHEAT CROP IS STILL PUZZLING

Millers Leave Method of Handling U to Special Committee

CHICAGO, April 11.—One of the largest meetings of the Millers' National Federation was held today, but resulted in failure to agree on a plan for handling the 1919 wheat crop which it was estimated would be between 1,250,000,000 and 1,500,000,000 bushels. The question of handling the crop was left to a special committee of fifteen members.

Representatives of 1,400 mills attended the seventeenth annual convention and not fewer than six plans for the 1919 crop were submitted, but agreement could be obtained on none.

One of the plans contemplated taking the new crop on the government guaranteed price, another would have fixed a minimum price of $1.50 a bushel, the government to stand

Ending of War Kept Her from France, So Millionaire's Daughter Turns to Politics

MISS FLORENCE PAYNE WHITNEY

In the hope of doing war work in France for the Red Cross or the Y. M. C. A., Miss Flora Payne Whitney, daughter of Harry Payne Whitney, New York millionaire sportsman, learned typewriting. Before she had a chance to get to the other side the war ended so she has gone to work at the headquarters of the Republican Women's National Executive committee as volunteer secretary and assistant to Mrs. Medill McCormick.

Salem High Will Meet Chemawa Indians Today

The Chemawa baseball grounds will be the scene of the first encounter between the teams of the Indian school and Salem high school this afternoon. A good rooting organization will accompany the Salem nine on the trip.

Six of the Salem players have played on the team in previous years. The lineup has not been decided upon definitely by Captain Gregg; but Fisher, Ashby or E. Gill will pitch and the captain will be at the receiving terminus of the battery. The infield will probably have A. Gill at shortstop, Latham at first, Lynch at second and either E. Gill or Ashby at third. Grice Albright and Nutting probably will be in the outfield while Hicks Kriessell, Sociolofsky and Baggett will stand by to help out if needed. The umpire will be furnished by Chemawa.

Widow Falls Lifeless Beside Grave of Husband

PORTLAND, Ore., April 11.—At the funeral of Mathias Beck near Oregon City yesterday, his widow fell unconscious beside the open grave and died within a few minutes, according to word received here today. Beck was a pioneer resident, aged 75, and his widow also was aged. Her collapse occurred just as the minister was saying the final words preparatory to the closing of her husband's grave. She will be buried beside him tomorrow.
