

TO the MEN who counted death better than life upon an earth enslaved by the Hun; to the WOMEN who sent forth their men to battle with a smile and were strong; to the Workers both men and women, who filled the broken ranks of industry and spent themselves and spared not in the battle behind the battle lines; to the Heroes who felt that the world might be made again a decent place to live in; to the Victors who return with the proud consciousness that by their valor free nations have been saved and oppressed peoples delivered;—this too brief and imperfect memorial and record of their daring, their suffering and their faithfulness, is devoted and dedicated.

Souvenir Edition of the Great War. Soon to be Published by The Oregon Statesman

The above is a reproduction of the front page of the Peace Edition soon to be issued by the Oregon Statesman. It will, without a doubt, be one of the greatest editions ever published by any newspaper in the state of Oregon. From a typographical standpoint it will be unusually attractive as it will be printed on a quality of white paper much superior to that used in our regular daily and the press-work will be done on a special press in order that the photo-engravings and other illustrations may show to advantage.

The Edition will contain exhaustive writeups of the Great War—profusely illuminated—including a brief history of the war by Rawson Bennett.

The writeups of national interest will cover such subjects as: "The Selective Draft," "Woman's Part in the War," "Our Navy," "The Boy Scouts," "Food Control," "Financing the War," etc.

LOCAL WAR WORK DESCRIBED

The Peace Edition will cover both Polk and Marion counties with detailed descriptions of war activities in the several communities—Dallas, Falls City, Independence, Monmouth, Salem, Woodburn, etc., telling what was accomplished and giving the pictures of many of the prominent war workers.

PICTURES OF THE BOYS.

The edition will contain hundreds upon hundreds of the pictures of the Boys in the Service with a brief writeup accompanying each picture, telling who the boy is, where he resides, what branch of the service he was assigned to and brief facts about his experience in the service. Boys from every nook and corner of both Polk and Marion counties, will be represented—including nearly all of Co. L of Dallas, Co. I of Woodburn and Co. M of Salem.

THE ROLL OF HONOR.

A full page art engraving will contain the names of all those from these two counties who have made the supreme sacrifice. It will be a record which the beloved may treasure as a lasting record of those who gave their lives that freedom and democracy might live.

SIZE OF THE EDITION.

The edition will contain many, many pages and will be a record of Polk and Marion's part in the war of which The Statesman will be justly proud and which will undoubtedly be treasured by all patriotic residents of the two counties.

PRICE OF THE EDITION.

Copies of the edition will be 25c each and those who desire copies should order in advance in order to be sure of getting them. The edition will have a very large circulation as every regular subscriber of the Daily Statesman will receive a copy gratis, and thousands of extra copies have already been ordered.

Copies may be ordered by filling in the Subscription Coupons, which may be clipped from The Statesman, and mailing same to The Statesman Office, Salem, Ore.

IS YOUR BOY'S PICTURE IN?

Our solicitors have attempted to call at the home of every boy in the service to give them an opportunity to help complete this remarkable illustrated record of our part in the war. It has been impossible to see everyone, so if you have been overlooked, a letter, or a phone call, will bring our solicitor to your door. This, however, must be done at once as the edition must be issued very soon. A small charge is made for the making of these pictures and their insertion in the edition. This charge will be explained by our solicitor.
