FROM now on the county club will be the center of the gayest of social events. A full program already awaits members and friends for the next few weeks beginning today with the golf tournament with Eugene. Between 30 and 40 visitors will come down and there is expected to be a large turnout of local players.

At noon members of the club and their visitors will be served a Johnny Jones dinner.

"Ladies Day" last Tuesday was so popular that it is planned to observe each Tuesday similarly during the next few months. On Tuesday apple blossoms were used effectively in the decorations and Mrs. Homer Smith H. Olinger, Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mrs. Gillingham, Mrs. O. C. Locke, and Mrs. John Roberts were the committee.

This Tuesday Mrs. E. L. Baker will head a committee composed of Mrs. G. G. Brown, Mrs. Homer Smith H. Olinger, Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mrs. Gillingham, Mrs. O. C. Locke, and Mrs. John Roberts were the committee.

May 14, however, is the date which looms up most for club members, that being the date of the first dinner dance of the season which will be sponsored by the club. According to plans this will be one of the gayest affairs which the club has ever given.

Among those who will come from Eugene today are:

R. H. Campbell, W. P. Carroll, L. L. Goodrich and wife, G. W. Griffin, Frank Harritt and wife, Lloyd Hauser, James L. Hesse and lady, E. O. Immel, E. W. Merrill and wife, S. M. Moody, J. C. P-tes, J. K. Pratt and wife, A. Rapp, C. D. Rorer, L. B. Sigwart, G. B. Schaefer, F. X. Schaefer, Alf Swensen and lady, A. R. Tiffany, Donald Young, John Bovard and wife, J. M. and wife, Albert Applegate, H. A. Dunbar and wife, and W. B. Martin, E. W. Hope, George McMoran, A. A. Rodgers, G. F. Skipworth, S. L. Steison, A. M. French and L. M. Travis and wife.

Complimentary to Mrs. W. C. Hawley, wife of Representative Hawley, Mrs. Frank A. Elliott and Mrs. George J. Pearce were hostesses Friday afternoon at a charming reception at the Pearce home. Invitations were issued to about 80 of the women more intimately acquainted with Mrs. Hawley during her residence here over 12 years ago, who called during the afternoon to pay their respects.

Masses of dogwood blossoms and sprigs were banked in the hall contrasting with the dainty baskets of fragrant lavender and white lilacs and iris in the music room and library. In the dining room bouquets of pink blossoms were used in pretty arrangement, a bowl of pink tulips making the center of the table at which the ices were cut. In the living room, where the coffee was served, there was a profusion of Scotch broom.

Presiding at the ices were Mrs. John H. Albert and Mrs. Henry Talbot and Mrs. E. C. Small poured the coffee.

The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. Fred Stewart, Mrs. G. G. Brown, Mrs. Ronald Glover, Mrs. W. C. Hawley, Jr., Mrs. A. J. Rahn, Mrs. John H. Scott, Miss Lucy Stoughton and Miss Dorothy Pearce, while Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, Mrs. Russell Catlin and Mrs. B. C. Miles assisted in receiving the guests.

Attorney-General and Mrs. George M. Brown are spending the week in Pealdeton where the attorney-general went to attend a meeting of the supreme court.

Hofer entertained Thursday night with one of the most elaborate events of the week a dancing party at Hotel Marlton. Mrs. George H. Burnett, who has been visiting in California for the past few weeks, is expected to return to Salem Thursday night.

On Monday night the Illlhee Country club house was gayly decorated for the last dance of the season of the Monday Night Dancing club. Orange colored papers were used on the ceiling with shades of the same color for the lights and each one present wore cocky orange colored caps.

Supper was served in "wigwam style," automobile robes and Indian blankets being spread upon the floor in front of the fireplace.

The officers of the dancing club are Dr. W. H. Darby, president, Walter Kirk, secretary, H. V. Compton, treasurer.

How to Keep Age-Lines and Wrinkles Away

Don't forget that the woman who smiles will have a skin more free from wrinkles than the woman who frowns. When wrinkles begin to appear it is a good plan to bathe the face once a day for a while in a harmless solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered sassailla in a half pint of witch hazel.

This is remarkably effective in erasing the hateful lines, not only because the skin and thus irons out the lines, of its astringent action which tightens but also because of a helpful tonic effect which improves capillary circulation and nerve tone. There is nothing better for flabby cheeks or chin. Be sure to ask the druggist for the powdered sassailla.

Brown will leave the latter part of the week for the Brown's summer home at Roseburg, where she will remain during the entire season. The family will join her there later. Miss Byrd was formerly a student at Willamette university but has not yet fully recovered from a severe case of influenza.

Miss Nina McNary will leave the latter part of the week for Washington, D. C., to be with her brother, Senator Charles McNary. She will be accompanied by Mrs. W. T. Stolz and children, Margaret and Richard, who will visit there for a short time. The trip will be made by way of California with stops at numerous scenic places.

Miss Venita Kohlagen and Fredrica Haines, two popular Roseburg high school girls, are spending the day with Miss Marjorie Brown. They are on their way home from Covalis where they spent Junior week-end.

Salem has welcomed back many of its soldiers, sailors and marines but so far it has had small opportunity to pay tribute to the women who went into service during the war. This week it welcomed back two Red Cross nurses who have spent scarcely a year in active overseas service, Miss Rose Claire Williams and Miss Emma Tweed.

The girls left Salem over a year ago as members of Oregon university unit base hospital 46 together with two other Salem women, Miss Anna Berg and Miss Marie Blodgett. Previous to their sailing they spent a short time at Camp Lee, Va.

Upon arriving overseas assignment was made to an evacuation hospital six kilometers from Neufchatel from the front lines. Three Portland medical men well known in Salem also were at this hospital, Lieutenant Colonel Yenny, who had charge of the unit on the voyage home, Major Joyce, and Major W. H. Skeene.

In this hospital lay the work in caring for both the wounded and sick direct from the front lines. From July 19 to January 15 between eight and nine thousand patients received treatment in this hospital and few were lost, none dying from pneumonia, and from wounds.

The Oregon Home is the first touch of home the arrivals from overseas get when arriving on this side. Workers from the Home who are real-Oregonians, meet every transport and welcome those from their home state. In meeting these people they get their names and some interesting information about each one so that inquiring relatives may find from the register at the Home any information about their returned men.

This home is located on 23rd street just across from the Pennsylvania station and is open at all hours for Oregon people who want to rest or sleep. Everything is done to make them feel they are back in Oregon and Miss Williams, in speaking of the Home, emphasized the great work it is doing and that Oregon people might rest assured that every bit of help given the home was put to good service.

All across the continent the Red Cross women met the 29 nurses of the unit and at almost every station there were women waiting for them with flowers and ready to entertain them with dinners and automobile rides.

Miss Tweed is now visiting with relatives in Salem, her brother, John Tweed, living near the city and Miss Williams is at the home of her sister, Mrs. Carey Martin and family. Miss Anna Berg is in Seattle with relatives and Miss Blodgett has been enlisted for overseas service so will be kept in Europe probably as long as American troops remain overseas.

Mrs. J. D. McKinnon was hostess at two charming informal affairs during the week on Wednesday afternoon honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. F. McKinnon, of Portland, and last night entertaining a few couples for both Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon. Mrs. McKinnon has been a visitor throughout the week, her husband joining her over the week-end.

A bulletin received by friends of Miss Winifred Byrd, pianist, acclaims Miss Byrd as the "latest pianistic sensation" and "America's wonder pianist." The same bulletin quotes from such critics as James Gibbons Huneker of the New York Times, Granville Vernon of the New York Tribune, and others equally as well known. The former says "Winifred Byrd is a master of her means!" and again "her playing is rhythmically alert, sparkling, and when the spirit moves her she can be veritably diabolic!" Granville Vernon says "Brilliant technique, keen intelligence, impeccable taste!"

One clipping which appeared in The Evening Post, praises not only Miss Byrd but the state and city from which she comes. The tribute which is headed "A Pianist from Loganberry Land," follows:

"Salem, Or., is the headquarters of loganberry juice, which is sweeter and more flavory than grape juice, and is destined to replace the sweet vintage wines. The same Salem is the home of Winifred Byrd, who gave a piano recital in Aeolian hall yesterday afternoon. There were times when her tone had the real loganberry quality, particularly in 'The Poet Speaks,' the last and best number in Schumann's 'Scenes of Childhood.' Some of the pieces in this suite were rather school girlish in effect, and when Miss Byrd gets older she will find more romance in them. She played Brahms's B minor rhapsody to the complete satisfaction of the Brahmites present, and they are hard to please. Others got more pleasure from her playing of a Chopin prelude and scherzo. She had pieces by MacDowell and Saint-Saens, but it was in Liszt's 'St. Francis Walking on the Waters' that she displayed her pianistic gifts, making herself seem bigger to the ears than to the eyes. It is not a girl's piece, for Liszt's depiction in tones of the surging turbulent waters calls for a man's powerful muscles; yet Miss Byrd gave a surprisingly effective rendering of this water music; and she did not neglect the splendid melodic thoughts underlying it in the effort to pile high the billows of pianistic virtuosity."

Miss Byrd is at present in New York but expects soon to take a cottage at some secluded place where she can rest and at the same time work hard on her next season's program. Her first plans were to spend the summer in "loganberryland" but, according to her messages to her friends, she has given that up and will continue her work during the summer.

Miss Amanda Matthews of Shaw left yesterday for an extended trip to the Atlantic coast, stopping at intermediate points both enroute and return, to visit relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. E. Hucklestein visited Wednesday night at the home of August Hucklestein and family. Friends of the A. E. Hucklesteins will be sorry to hear of their departure from Independence where Mr. Hucklestein has been manager of the Standard Oil company's office. They will make their home in Vancouver where he has a similar position.

Miss Mina M. Cook spent the week in Portland specializing in X-Ray work.

Dr. and Mrs. G. T. White and children, who have spent the winter in California, returned this week by motor from Los Angeles.

Mrs. William Burghart was a Portland visitor on Friday.

Mrs. H. B. Thielson, of Portland, visited with her son, Fred D. Thielson, and family, Thursday, going on to Rickreall Friday to spend the day with Mrs. Russell Catlin.

The senior pupils of Mrs. Ralph White's dancing classes will be entertained tomorrow night at Cotillion hall at the last dance of the season. The date was first set for Tuesday night but was changed on account of the Elks dance for the same night. A pretty decorative note will be achieved in the use of hundreds of handpainted butterflies which will be suspended from the ceiling and baskets of spring flowers will adorn the posts.

Miss Frances Ward will delight the guests with a number of vocal solos. A four-piece orchestra will furnish the music for the dancers, numbering about 35 couples.

Misses Emma Snook, Marie Briggs, Margaret White, Ella Anderson, and Clara Breitenstein went to Carralls yesterday to attend the O. A. C. junior prom last night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maurer have moved from Liberty street to 291 North Commercial street.

Honoring her niece, Mrs. W. S. Poorman, Mrs. J. M. Poorman, of Woodburn, Mrs. Al Steiner entertained a few friends at her home on the Wallace road last night. The husband of the former is in France as a guard at the peace conference. Guests of Mrs. Steiner were Mrs. W. S. Poorman, Mrs. J. M. Poorman, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chafee, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. M.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for women's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

Mrs. Ernest H. Hunt, the popular house guest of Mrs. Ralph Glover over last week-end, returned Tuesday morning to her home in Portland from where she will start in about three weeks on a three months visit in England. She will spend most of her time with her parents at their country home at Eastbourne. On the trip to New York she will visit in Canada with relatives of her husband and in New York will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Al Hurst, (Bertha Holman) former residents of Salem. She will sail on the U. S. S. Adriatic.

Ward De Beck, who has just returned from three years' service with the Canadian forces, is a guest at the home of his sister, Mrs. T. A. Livesley, and family.

The Luachon Bridge club was entertained on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry W. Meyers, four guests enjoying the affair beside the members of the club. Tulips, daisies, and lilies of the valley were used in a pretty decorative combination. Mrs. William H. Bott will be the next hostess.

Miss Florence Cartwright is spending the week-end at Forest Grove visiting her sister, Miss Constance Cartwright, an instructor in Pacific university and attending the May Day festivities.

Misses Grace and Virginia Holt are spending the week-end in Portland.

Salem musicians are grieved to learn of the serious condition of Francis Richter, the distinguished Oregon composer and piano virtuoso. Since last fall Mr. Richter has made his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Richter, 322 Fair-ing street, Portland, where he is at present confined to his sick bed.

In the interval, of course, Francis Richter's earning capacity as a musician has been stopped. His father, who is a professional violinist, is again the breadwinner for his little family, and engagements for any violinist just now are scarce, for many theatres are equipped with pipe organs instead of employing violinists. The Richters are being advised to try to get to California or Arizona in the hope that Francis Richter's health may be improved.
